DIRIGIBLE ON DAWN HUNT

Los Angeles Will Search Coast

Two Destroyers Also Speed Toward Supposed Scene of Plane Descent

Heavy Seas, Extreme Cold Chief Dangers Facing Lost Craft's Crew

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Reserve craft mobilizing by sea and air were headed tonight toward Newfoundland in search of Mrs. Frances Grayson and her three men companions aboard the missing amphibian plane Dawn.

The Navy dirigible Los Angeles, at Lakehurst at 5 o'clock, heading toward Cape Cod, to search for the missing Dawn. Two destroyers also were ordered to sea to aid in the search.

The Los Angeles will start its search for the missing plane early tomorrow morning at a point twenty miles off Cape Cod, Lieutenant-Commander Rosendahl, the airship's commander, advised the Navy Department in a wireless message tonight.

MESSAGE FROM AIR

The message which was sent from the Los Angeles while in flight stated intentions to be at a point twenty miles east of Cape Cod at daybreak Tuesday morning. Then will head along a line to a point twenty miles east of Sable Island. Return will search twenty miles to the west of this line from Sable Island to Cape Cod.

It will be probably necessary to refuel at Lakehurst at dark Tuesday. Navy officers and men aboard the ship, including Commander Pierce and Lieutenant-Commander Muller of the Marine Corps who volunteered for the flight.

A message also was received by the Navy Department from Rear-Admiral Wilson at Boston, who said that Assistant Secretary Warner in charge of aeronautics, was keeping in close touch with the Boston navy yard on the search.

The Navy Department was relieved by the Grayson rescue committee in New York to "extend its search for a 500-mile radius off the coast last night, when sputtering sounds were picked up at Sable Island. The plane's radio had been silent and it was feared that the Dawn, which went down in the water, may have splintered to pieces by the winds.

POSITION NOT GIVEN

The brief message, which said "nothing has gone wrong" and the plane was down, did not give the exact position and rescue craft today are searching only an unguided area in the area between Cape Cod, Nantucket and Newfoundland, the flyers' objective.

The plane was equipped with pontoons and wheels and could come down on either water or land. Experts believed the ship could be kept afloat for hours if landed in the comparatively quiet waters to leeward of the islands along the Nova Scotian coast. There was some danger, however, that even in case of a safe landing the occupants of the ship might freeze to death before rescue came quickly.

The Canadian government radio service announced radio and telegraph watch in the vicinity of Sable Island after last night's message, but had not picked up any signal from the plane. The Canadian Bureau of Marine and Fisheries was standing

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 26.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Lindbergh is leaving tomorrow to go to Guatemala and from there on down to Nicaragua. He was talking before I left down there about how he could tell which side of the battle line to land on when he got there. The American marines are on one side and the rebels on the other. He said he guessed he would have to come down in "no man's land" to remain absolutely neutral.

Mexican stocks have gone up since Lindbergh flew into Mexico. Why don't the farmers get him to fly over their place?

ROME ROCKS IN QUAKE

Walls Crack and Streets Open

Pope Sees Study Furniture Wobble and Papers Move During Tremors

Disturbance Causes Near-Panic in Crowds at Football Game

ROME, Dec. 26. (AP)—Rome was shaken today by an earthquake of unusual violence, lasting about four minutes. The first shock was at 4:07 p.m.

A fissure was opened up in the populous quarter of the city, ceilings in several houses fell and the cornice of a church broke away, injuring a priest who was passing by. The priest, Ilde Brando Fortuno of Rio Janeiro, Brazil, 27-year-old student at Gregoriana University, was taken to a hospital, where he was treated for minor injuries.

The tremors were distinctly felt at the Vatican. The Pope, in his private study, was surprised to see books and papers moving perceptibly and the furniture wobble in the room. Servants ran in to ascertain if any objects had fallen near the pontiff.

The shock varied from 5 to 6 deg., according to different localities in Rome itself, increasing to 7 or 8 deg. at the towns of Rocca di Papa and Velletri.

Spectators at a football game in the Appian Velodrome felt the shock distinctly. A stampede was threatened in the stands, but officials quieted the nearly panic-stricken fans.

Reports from Naples, Avezzano, Florence and Milan indicate no shock was felt at those centers.

The central point of the disturbance seems to have been in the Rocca di Papa district, about twenty miles from Rome. At that place and Velletri, as well as several other small towns, fissures were opened both in the streets and in a number of houses and the inhabitants were for a time in a panic. A few walls fell.

In Rome firemen were quickly summoned and took measures to prevent accidents through the cracks caused by the quake and they also cleared away much of the debris.

Rome was visited by a slight earthquake on October 11, last. The center of the quake at that time was Avezzano. No damage was done in the Eternal City, although houses were rocked and the streets quivered underfoot.

DISMISSED EDUCATOR GETS HONOR

Carnegie Endowment Post Awarded to Dr. Suzzallo; Will Study in Europe

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—The appointment of Dr. Henry Suzzallo, former president of the University of Washington, as visiting Carnegie professor of international relations in Europe, was announced today by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

The dismissal of Dr. Suzzallo as president of the University of Washington, in October, 1926, after a controversy with the trustees of the institution, caused nation-wide comment.

Dr. Suzzallo's mission in Europe will be the interpretation of American systems of education in the interest of intellectual understanding, the Carnegie Foundation said. Through the governments and universities concerned he has been accredited to the universities of Vienna, Budapest, Bucharest, Sofia, Belgrade, Zagreb, Padua, Bologna and Florence. He will leave for Europe early in January.

He is chairman of the board of trustees of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching.

Serious Floods Menace France, Belgium, Spain

PARIS, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Heavy rains last week precipitated serious flood danger in France, Belgium and Spain tonight.

Northern France reports the river Lys is overflowing, while water from the Sambre has flooded scores of fields near Maubeuge.

A terrific storm off Cherbourg last night held up shipping.

Spain was hit by a cyclone and rain last night, the wind doing heavy damage in the Province of Burgos, and the rise of the Guadalquivir obliged the port of Seville to close as hundreds of homes and shops are flooded.

GUARD PATROLS FEUD TOWN

Virtually Entire Law Force Dead or Disabled; Sixth Victim of Police Fight Dies

SOUTH PITTSBURGH (Tenn.) Dec. 26. (AP)—With virtually all local law enforcement officers of Marian county, Tennessee, dead or disabled, National Guardsmen tonight policed this section to prevent further disorders growing out of a gunfight last night between city and county authorities in which five were killed and four were wounded, one fatally.

Although military officers said the situation was well in hand, twenty-seven more militiamen were ordered here from Chattanooga late today to reinforce the thirty-five men called out last night after the two factions had "shot it out" on the downtown streets. Adjt.-Gen. Boyd left Knoxville to take command.

The guardsmen were ordered here by Gov. Horton responding to appeals from local business men under a State law which prohibits their use in quelling disturbances but permits them to act as peace officers.

SIXTH VICTIM DIES

The death in a Chattanooga hospital today of Chief of Police James Connor brought to six the number of fatalities in the street battle which was said to have climaxed a feud between police and Sheriff's officers growing out of a recent strike at a local manufacturing plant in which the respective law enforcement agencies supported opposing sides.

Details were meager of the shooting, which shattered the Christmas quiet of virtually deserted streets and then subsided as suddenly as it started after a momentary exchange of shotgun and pistol fire. A statement from one of the principals, however, developed that brother was arrayed against brother in the fatal feud.

Thomas Connor, a deputy sheriff and brother of Police Chief Connor, whose account furnished the only known coherent story of events leading to the shooting, said that city officers had drawn pistols on him in an encounter earlier in the evening, and that the fight began when Sheriff Wash Coppinger and several deputies later sought to arrest members of the opposing group for displaying their weapons threateningly.

INVESTIGATION STARTED

In the ensuing exchange of shots, the Sheriff, Deputy Sheriff Hennessey, City Marshal Smith, Night Marshal Parker and O. H. Larowee, special policeman, were killed and Chief of Police Connor, Deputy Fayette Nelson and Charles Pittman and John Bates, special policemen, fell wounded.

W. H. Cameron, president of the South Pittsburgh Savings Bank, one of those who requested State policemen for the city and county said he had been informed that about twenty men, several of whom were civilians and presumably members of the opposing strike factions, participated in the shooting.

An investigation has been started by Atty.-Gen. Tom Stewart who said that a hearing probably would be called soon to fix responsibility.

INVENTOR INJURED BY NEW MOTOR

Explosion Halts Plan for First Flight of Plane With Take-off Device

SPRINGFIELD (Mo.) Dec. 26. (AP)—While warming up the motor of a self-energizing plane for its its first attempted flight J. E. Nordin of Monett, Mo., the inventor, was injured when the motor exploded. A large crowd viewed the accident yesterday at a field near Monett. Nordin suffered lacerations on the leg and arm when struck by flying fragments.

The motor does not keep the plane in the air, Nordin said, but is intended only to propel the machine across the field for the take-off. Another motor will be installed and the inventor will make another attempt to fly it, he declared today.

A motorcycle engine is used in the plane, with standard controls. Nordin explained that vacuum energy from the plane turns into rotary power to propel the plane's propeller when it is in the air. He said it will revolutionize aviation if it is successful.

MARION PARKER'S MURDER CONFESSED BY HICKMAN

Girl Strangled and Body Cut Up in His Apartment, Killer Admits as Train Nears Los Angeles

ON BOARD HICKMAN TRAIN, SAN JOSE, Dec. 26. (AP)—William Edward Hickman today made a detailed confession of the killing of Marion Parker. He gave it to Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Chief of Detectives Cline and Chief of Police Davis of Los Angeles on a train taking him to Los Angeles from Pendleton, Or., near where he was arrested.

His motive in the kidnaping was to get $1500 to go to college. He said he had no accomplice.

Hickman killed Marion by strangling her with a towel. He knotted it about her throat and pulled tightly for two minutes before she was unconscious.

Then he took a pocket knife and cut a hole in her throat to draw the blood. He drained the blood in the bath tub.

BODY CUT UP IN ROOM

Then he cut off each arm at the elbow. Then he cut her legs off at the knees. He put the limbs in a cabinet.

He cut up the body in his room at the Bellevue Apartments.

Then he removed the clothing and cut the body through at the waist.

He put it on a shelf in the dressing-room. He placed a towel in the body to drain the blood.

He wrapped up the exposed ends of the arms and waist with paper. He combed back her hair, powdered her face and then with a needle fixed her eyelids. He did this because he realized that he would lose the ransom if he did not have the body to produce to her father.

Hickman said he wrote the "last chance" note to Parker. He went to Loew's State Theater in the afternoon after slaying the girl.

Hickman returned about 5:30 p.m., took all parts of the body down to the car, which was parked by a side entrance, hurried out Sunset Boulevard and turned into Elysian Park, where he disposed of the limbs.

Then he took the torso in a suit case and drove around to see that there were no police in sight.

He stopped between Fourth and Fifth streets on Manhattan Place and took the suit case out. Next he turned the ends of his license plates, so that the numbers would not be easily distinguished.

WAITS FOR HER FATHER

He put a handkerchief over his face and waited for Perry M. Parker, whom he had telephoned to meet him with $1500.

When he saw Parker he showed his sawed off shotgun and told Parker to keep quiet. He raised the head of the girl and asked for the money. Hickman said he drove ahead and left the body. He then drove to an auto park on Grand avenue, where he parked the car.

He then went to Leighton's Cafe and had a meal and cashed the first of the $20 notes he received from Parker.

He went home to the Bellevue Apartments, went to bed and slept. In the morning the detectives visited the apartments looking for towels, like those bearing the mark on the towels found on the body.

In the afternoon he went to the Tower Theater. Later he went out on Hollywood Boulevard, stopped an inclosed car and forced the driver to take him several blocks. He took the car and $15 from the man. This was on Sunday evening. He immediately afterward drove out of Los Angeles, driving all night, to San Francisco.

Hickman repeated the story of the abduction of Marion Parker substantially as he had detailed it after he was arrested on the road near Pendleton, Or.

BY JACKSON BERGER
"Times" Staff Representative

ABOARD THE HICKMAN PRISON CAR EN ROUTE TO LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—William Edward Hickman, self-styled "The Fox," tonight made a full and complete confession of California's most atrocious crime.

He admitted to Dist.-Atty. Keyes that he kidnaped 12-year-old Marion Parker, Los Angeles schoolgirl, strangled her to death and dismembered her body.

The torso of the child was bartered to her father for $1500 by Hickman.

Hickman confessed that he alone kidnaped the child, strangled her with a towel and dismembered her body in the bathtub of his apartment.

EVCLVES FIENDISH SCHEME

After the strangling, Hickman said he realized that he must have the body of the schoolgirl to produce to the father, Perry M. Parker, or he could not collect the ransom. So he devised the scheme of rigging her eyelids with wire and propping her head to make it appear that she was alive on Friday night when he made the appointment to meet the father and collect the ransom.

He left the body so arranged on Saturday night when he received the $1500 package of gold certificates after he had raised the lifeless head to the father's gaze.

No anesthetic was used. The officials say the girl suffered untold tortures before death relieved her from terrible agony.

The strangulation, death and butchery took place in the Bellevue Apartments, where Hickman lived, the day after she was kidnaped.

Hickman confessed he was the "dark stranger" who went to the Mount Vernon High School, on the 15th inst., obtained her release from the principal by a ruse and the brutal tragedy occurred the next day.

The special prison car, carrying the self-confessed child strangler and butcher, left Oakland tonight on the final 300 miles of the 1650-mile journey that will place Hickman behind steel bars early tomorrow in the city in which the crime was committed.

HORRIFYING ACCOUNT

A complete and detailed confession of the murder and mutilation was described by the officers as a most horrifying document. The elements are so revolting that the average mind cannot conceive the fiendish torture and brutal murder of Marion Parker, officials say.

The confession of Hickman eliminates the phantom, Andrew Cramer, first named by Hickman as an accomplice. That he lied consistently on this particular point was admitted in the confession when he said that he worked alone.

The officers say Hickman sat calmly with narrowed and piercing gray eyes as he related the kidnaping, butchery, and the scenes in the death chamber, which pale the tortures of the Middle Ages into insignificance.

Apparently the man who confessed was the same fiendish inhuman character he was when he wielded the knife over the white still form of the girl.

Even at times, they said, he reverted to fiendish glee in telling of the kidnaping, murder and dismemberment.

When the train stopped for ferrying at Benicia, Hickman was taken from his mobile prison for a moment to an empty baggage car while newspaper photographers took pictures of "The Fox" and the official party.

Speaking in a low and broken voice Hickman piled detail upon detail for almost two hours while every one in the special prison car knew that the story was being unfolded. Dist.-Atty. Keyes with Chief of Police Davis both were present throughout the entire confession.

NO QUESTIONS NEEDED

"I am ready to talk. I want to tell the whole story," this statement after hours of questioning is how Hickman's story began. Once the confession was under way no questions were needed although from time to time various of the authorities broke into his story with a question meant to clear up some disputed point.

The youthful murderer went into complete details and related all of his movements up to his capture. He told of taking Marion away from her school and of penning the ransom notes. He told of the first meeting planned and then of the second and of how he tricked the dead child's father into believing that she was alive and well.

Although freely confessing to a brutal outrage against organized society "The Fox" interrupted the taking of the statement long enough to eat a hearty dinner.

Although the party accompanying Hickman is comprised of a score or more of men whose very occupation of law enforcement and news gathering inure them to tragedy of life, the horrible story of the Parker murder left them utterly confounded.

The party in charge of Hickman is Dist.-Atty. Keyes, Chief of Police Davis, Chief of Detectives Cline, former Chief of Police Home, Detective Lieutenants Lucas and Raymond, Police Inspector Longuevan and Detective Lieutenant Berenzweig.

A score of uniformed and plain clothes officers of the Southern Pacific have boarded the train and it is under the closest guard.

There are almost a score of others on the train who carry various deputations. They are heavily armed and have been pressed into service guarding the prison car.

News that Hickman had broken down came from Los Angeles officials late today as the train carrying the killer neared Woodland. The prisoner had been closeted the entire day in a compartment with the officials.

The confession removes from Hickman the last shield on which he relied to save himself from the gallows, as his refuting of the accomplice story places him squarely before the court as a kidnaper and murderer. When he enters the Superior Court here today he will go through the formality of entering a plea to murder and kidnaping based on his signed confession to both.

Behind locked and closely guarded doors of the compartment, where Hickman has been held since Sunday morning, the officers laid before the prisoner all phases of the grewsome evidence which had been gathered at the Bellevue Arms Apartments, but he steadily maintained until the shades of evening that he was the kidnaper, but had not committed the actual killing.

The fast southern-bound Southern Pacific train to Los Angeles was held at the Oakland pier last night for several minutes awaiting the Cascade Limited from Portland carrying the special car in which Hickman and his guard and questioners are traveling. The Oregon train raced into the station, and quickly the special car was detached and rushed to another track where the southern limited was under orders to proceed immediately the transfer was made.

The delay in arrival and transfer sent the southern-bound limited out of the station twenty-two minutes behind schedule.

FEAR GROWS ON KILLER AFTER JAUNTY GESTURE

ABOARD THE CASCADE LIMITED PRISON CAR, NEARING OAKLAND, Dec. 26. (Exclusive) — Authorities aboard this train tonight in charge of W. E. Hickman, erstwhile underworld "fox," kidnaper and confessed child slayer, took extreme precautions to protect their chained and manacled prisoner when the limited pulls into the Oakland mole.

Disquieting rumors finding their way into the official prison car hinting at possible injury to "The Fox" have caused the Southern Pacific officials to recruit their private guards and detectives to full strength at the mole. Oakland police also have been asked to place well-armed details at the terminal.

Southern Pacific guards aboard the train stationed at either end of the prison car constantly are being augmented by district men boarding the train at each station.

GUARDS ON ALERT

Dist.-Atty. Keyes has ordered one end of the prison car bolted and barred before the train reaches the mole. A detail of officers will be stationed there while at the other end a stronger detail of officers will permit absolutely no one except members of the official party to board the car. Identification must be positive, Dist.-Atty. Keyes ordered. Some of the Oakland guards have been instructed by wire to guard the train at the train ferry between Benecia and Port Costa. Should any demonstration start the heavy detail of armed men is under strict orders to protect the prisoner at all costs.

Keyes said he probably will keep the large detail of men with the train till it arrives "somewhere near Los Angeles" Tuesday morning, and Hickman is safely imprisoned in the County Jail atop the Hall of Justice.

Hickman, aware of the ominous rumors against his life, lost some of the cheerfulness he simulated early in the day. As night hovered over the mountain districts and enveloped the speeding southbound train, a nameless fear gripped his heart. The fear is growing within him hour by hour as he nears the city where Marion Parker met her brutal death after he kidnaped her. He is trying to present a bold front to win some sympathy from his captors and guards, but it is a vain effort. He is without manly fiber to support that thinly veiled bravado inspired by terror.

HAUNTED BY FEAR

Beside the ill-boding rumors from the south Hickman dreads a concentrated questioning he may face again when the veterans of examination and cross-examination—Keyes, Chief of Police Davis, Chief of Detectives Cline and former Chief of Police Home—face him with new discoveries intended to shatter his story.

"If Hickman is in condition physically and mentally for questioning we will start questioning him tonight to ascertain the facts of the kidnaping and the killing of the Parker girl," Dist.-Atty. Keyes said.

All through the day as the train rolled over the mountain country of Northern California the officers permitted Hickman to remain with his thoughts undisturbed by examination, which he knows is inevitable, but which he dreads as a pestilence. As he gazes through the window which opens from his temporary mobile prison to the snow-clad heights of the mountains' silvery waterfalls and rushing Shasta torrents, he blinks and shudders continually as if the specter of death runs rampant through his mind.

When the train stops at towns and hamlets, crowds gather and as the Southland nears they grow larger and the comments from the people are more menacing.

REGAINS HIS AIRS

Hickman is on the right side of the train and the window shade of the compartment is left up. The crowds gather under the window and gaze in awe at the man who is charged with the fiendish and revolting crime at Los Angeles. Although fears grip his heart, "the Fox" still has some of the braggart left in him which deserted him so suddenly when the Los Angeles officers told him in the Pendleton jail that he was wanted for murder.

He seems to get an abnormal delight in being an object for curiosity. Today he has recovered some of his boastful manner and the smile once described as winning is now a loose-lipped sneer. At one of the mountain stations he gazed through the window at an assembled crowd. He waved at a little tow-headed girl on the platform. The wave and sneering smile affected the child and she ran hastily to her mother a few steps away.

Truly a strange being is this person at whose door is laid a fiendish murder. His emotions, which he ill conceals, are varied, although fear, a fear of a type unknown to one except, perhaps, in Hickman's position, is predominant. With the consuming emotion of fear uppermost, he at times is able to simulate a bold appearance that might be mistaken on a moment's observation as an inherent quality of the person, but his boldness is without foundation when, for instance, an officer steps into his prison chamber or a chain or handcuff clanks.

KIDNAP DETAILS STUN HEARER

Man on Train Faints as He Listens to Detectives Discussing Case

ABOARD THE CASCADE LIMITED, Dec. 26. (Exclusive) A business man of Seattle en route to San Francisco aboard this train, today fell in a dead faint when he overheard officers discussing the intimate details of the kidnaping and murder of little Marion Parker.

A few car lengths away sat W. E. Hickman, kidnaper and asserted slayer of the girl, bound in chains and handcuffs. As the officers talked the Seattle man suddenly paled, groaned and collapsed in his his seat. He was revived by fellow-passengers.

Despite the grewsomeness of the crime, the several hundred passengers aboard the limited are eager to get first-hand details of the affair and newspaper men and officers are constantly besieged to tell the story.

AID SENT TO HICKMAN BY HIS MOTHER

Chief Davis Notified by Wire That Attorney Has Started to Los Angeles

Mrs. Eva Hickman, mother of William Edward Hickman, charged with kidnaping and murdering little Marion Parker, sent a telegram to Police Chief Davis last night, advising him that she has retained counsel for her son and requesting him to see that the boy's legal rights are taken care of until the attorney arrives here. He is leaving Kansas City this morning and is due in Los Angeles Thursday.

Mrs. Hickman's message follows:

"Chief of Police, Los Angeles: I have just sent the following telegram to Dist.-Atty. Keyes—'I am the mother of William Edward Hickman. He is a minor and has no one in the world, to take care of him except me. With the assistance and advice of Capt. Edwards and other friends who have known us all our lives, I am sending Attorney Jerome Walsh to represent him, with authority to get other legal assistance on his arrival. Mr. Walsh is leaving on the Chief at 9:30 tomorrow, Tuesday morning, which is the earliest train he can get. He will arrive in Los Angeles Thursday morning. Meanwhile I must rely on you to see that all of my son's legal rights are preserved, which I feel sure you will do. I can be reached at the residence of Capt. Edwards at 3418 Bellefontaine avenue, Kansas City, Mo.' Will you please give this message to my son at once?

"EVA HICKMAN."

Jerome Walsh, the Kansas City attorney who will defend Hickman, is widely known throughout the nation as the attorney who headed the defense staff of Dr. B. Clark Hyde, who was charged with the murder of Thomas H. Swope in Kansas City early in 1910. Walsh, who is one of the leading criminal attorneys of the Middle West, is the son of Frank P. Walsh of Kansas City.

DIRIGIBLE JOINS HUNT FOR DAWN

by to order out searching and rescue craft at a moment's notice if the plane was located.

Mrs. Grayson took off from Roosevelt Field Friday. With her were Brice Goldsborough, navigator and radio operator; Oskar Omdal, pilot, and Fred Koehler, motor expert. They had expected to reach Harbor Grace, N. F., at 7 a.m. Saturday, the first stop on a proposed trans-Atlantic flight to Croydon, Eng.

TWO DESTROYERS JOIN IN COAST SEARCH

BOSTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Search by naval vessels for Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson's trans-Atlantic plane, the Dawn, was started today.

The navy destroyers Surtevant and Mahan, left Boston and Provincetown, respectively, late today under orders to search the seas from Cape Cod, where the Dawn was last spoken officially, to Sable Island, off Nova Scotia, where the Canadian government wireless station picked up what were believed to be radio signals from the Dawn's emergency-sending apparatus.

Inasmuch as the Dawn's emergency wireless set had a maximum sending radius of fifty miles, naval officials in charge of the search planned to concentrate most of their efforts within that radius of the Sable Island station which heard the calls. They planned to keep a close watch, however, for any traces of the plane which might be found between here and the island.

The Mahan, in command of Lieutenant-Commander George N. Baker, left Provincetown, where she had been on S-4 salvage duty, this afternoon. The Sturtevant, carrying Commander I. I. Stewart, the officer placed in charge of the search, also cleared from the navy yard at Charlestown, here.

The Mahan was under orders to steam slowly across Machias Bay and watch for any trace of the Dawn until she was joined by the Sturtevant. Both destroyers were then to steam north at a twenty to twenty-six-knot clip, keeping in close radio touch with each other and reporting any discoveries to the navy yard here.

On reaching the island they will separate and circle the entire shore line during the daylight hours. At night the search must be restricted, while fog will force the vessels to heave to until visibility becomes high enough to continue the hunt.

MAY BE IN SHELTER OF OUTLYING ISLAND

HALIFAX (N. S.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Hope that the missing American amphibian plane Dawn, with Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson and three male companions aboard, may have landed in the lee of one of the outlying islands along the Nova Scotia coast was held out here today.

Although this possibility was regarded as a slim one, a check-up of these islands was begun and C. H. Harvey, agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department here, said his department would undoubtedly dispatch a steamer to the rescue, if necessary, upon receipt of definite information as to the plane's position.

Intensive efforts were initiated by government wireless stations to locate the plane when the officer in charge of the Sable Island station reported shortly after midnight that he had heard the Dawn's radio at 9:45 p.m., eastern standard time, last night.

The plane reported that something had gone wrong. The message, however, did not state the plane's position.

One theory was that the Dawn may have come down early Saturday morning, but had not succeeded in making her wireless heard before last night.

SCIENCE FORGES FATAL EVIDENCE

Hickman's Bathroom Stains Prove Human Blood

Further Tests Under Way to Make it Conclusive

Scientific data will be used by police to forge more securely the links of evidence being accumulated against William Edward Hickman despite his confession made last night to Los Angeles authorities that he murdered and mutilated 12-year-old Marion Parker.

Analysis of blood spots found on the wall and in cracks between tiling of the bathroom floor of Hickman's apartment, and of substances found in plumbing of the apartment, will be completed today, Research Chemist Rex Welsh announced yesterday. By these spots police expect to produce definite evidence supplementing Hickman's confession that his apartment was the torture and death chamber of the fiendishly slain child.

Completing his preliminary analysis yesterday, Welsh announced that examination of deposits found in the gooseneck pipe joint in the bathroom of Hickman's apartment in the Bellevue Arms has proved them to be blood.

SPECIAL TESTS

At the same time Welsh will collaborate with County Chemist Abernathy to determine by special tests if the blood found in the purported death-room is that of the murdered girl whose dismembered body was returned to her father, Perry M. Parker, the 17th inst., in exchange for $1500 blood money. Abernathy, who as yet has not made a final report on his analysis of the girl's vital organs, has samples of the victim's blood and these will be compared with those found in the bathroom of Hickman's apartment.

Welsh yesterday completed comparison of the blood samples from the plumbing with blood splotches taken from the bathroom and he announced that they have proved identical.

As to the chemical analysis of the vital organs of the murdered child, this report is expected to reach Coroner Nance and Autopsy Surgeon Wagner some time today. With this information in his hands, Dr. Wagner then will be able to announce definitely the cause of death.

SHOES STILL HUNTED

While Hickman is being rushed to Los Angeles under heavy guard aboard a private car, detectives here seeking to clear up every loose angle of the case, yesterday continued their intensive search for the shoes and stockings of the Parker girl. These articles are the only portions of the girl's wearing apparel at the time she was taken from her classroom by Hickman, that have not been discovered. Police advance the theory that the articles, overlooked by the slayer following the crime, have been wrapped in a small bundle and either checked or mailed, or thrown away in some secluded spot.

Police also are endeavoring to locate the cans of ether and chloroform Hickman is said to have stolen in a series of drug-store hold-ups shortly before the kidnaping and murder. No trace of the cans has been discovered and police believe these may have been included in the bundle of shoes and stockings.

No direct advice has been received at the detective bureau from the party headed by Chief of Police Davis and Chief of Detectives Cline, which is returning the "Fox" to this city to stand trial. It is generally conceded, however, that the party will not arrive here by train but that Hickman and his guards will be detrained at some outlying town and rushed directly to jail.

QUICK ARRAIGNMENT

The train carrying the party is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles this morning. If the prisoner is brought into the city by automobile it is expected he will be arraigned immediately and confined at once in the County Jail.

County Jailer Dewar has completed arrangements for special guards over the prisoner day and night as has Deputy Chief Shand, in charge of the City Jail, in case Hickman is booked there first. The guards have been provided to prevent any successful attempt at suicide by Hickman or his death at the hands of fellow-prisoners.

Every possible means of guarding the prisoner have been taken by police and county authorities, just as the wheels of justice have been prepared for speedy action.

Hickman, captured but a few days ago in the near-wilds of Eastern Oregon, probably will face Superior Judge Hardy today for arraignment on the charges of kidnaping and murder on which he was indicted by the grand jury in record time.

CALLED MERE RUSE

Only two days more than a week will have elapsed between Hickman's delivery to Mr. Parker of his daughter's mutilated body and the first legal step toward his punishment.

While police are guarding against the possibility of mob violence when Hickman reaches this city, they regard such an event as highly improbable. Feeling against the "Fox," while still intense, has been somewhat dulled by the holiday season and the complete breakdown of the youth.

FILM OF HICKMAN SHOWN DOWNTOWN

Motion pictures of William E. Hickman, self-confessed kidnaper and suspected murderer of little Marion Parker, in his cell at Pendleton, with scenes showing crowds trying to catch a glimpse of the prisoner and poses of the kidnaper and his captors were exhibited for the first time in Los Angeles at the Million Dollar Theater yesterday afternoon.

THRONGS ELATE KIDNAPER

Hickman Enjoys Being in Spotlight at Way Station; His Confidence and Conceit Reasserted

BY CARLTON B. WILLIAMS
"Times" Staff Representative

ABOARD THE TRAIN BEARING HICKMAN TO LOS ANGELES, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—And still they come these hordes of curious, to catch a glimpse of the young man called fiend. Out of the rugged mountains of Southern Oregon and Northern California, 300 miles of sparsely populated country—and yet each station had its crowd that rushed for a glimpse of the asserted killer and kidnaper.

And Hickman apparently is beginning to enjoy it. He smiles at the eager throng that gathers out of his window and seems to enjoy being the center of interest.

In fact, Chief of Detectives Cline had to caution him to restrain his apparent pleasure when a crowd appeared as the train stopped at Dunsmuir fifteen miles south of Mt. Shasta, fearing that the observers would become enraged at the sight of laughter on the lips of little Marion Parker's accused slayer. There is no doubt about the super conceit of this young criminal. From the depths of despair it has revived him again and returned a good deal of that confidence that once caused him to write, "if you want aid against me ask God, not man."

CONCEIT EXEMPLIFIED

An idea of this conceit may be imagined from an incident that happened this morning. The train—the Southern Pacific Cascade Limited—stopped briefly at a station and the usual crowd gathered. Looking out, Hickman saw a dark-haired woman among the watchers.

"I think I saw that woman in Portland," he remarked in an enthusiastic voice, "I bet she has followed me all the way down."

As one mingles with these gatherings outside Hickman's window the conclusion is that they mainly are made up of the curious. The spirit of the mob is lacking. They just want to get a look at this youth accused of what to them is an inconceivably horrible crime.

"How could he do it, he looks so young?" That is the remark most often heard from those who observe him.

It may seem odd that these crowds are allowed to see Hickman, but this curiosity is so great it was found that failure to satisfy it by keeping the youth out of sight provoked hostile demonstrations. On one occasion a brick broke a window, on another there was a rush for the car doors by the populace of a small town. So it was decided to give the folks a free look. Given an eyeful, the crowds seem satisfied and peace reigns.

SPIRITS REVIVED

Although his spirits were at a low ebb yesterday Hickman was recovering today. He ate a hearty breakfast of prunes, mush, bread and milk, and his haggard look of the day before was almost entirely gone. His beard doesn't grow fast so the lack of a shave hasn't affected his appearance. He had a good night's sleep on the train last night.

"Slept like a child," reported his guards, Detectives Lucas and Raymond.

Our colored porter, the one who thought he had been deputized by the Los Angeles officers to guard Hickman and had a great load taken off his mind when he found it was only a joke, still is on the job and comes in more personal touch with the prisoner than anyone except the officers on guard in the private compartment in the rear of the car.

"Ah just cain't dope that boy out," is this colored lad's answer to questions as to how he "figures" the prisoner. "He acts just like common folks, but he ain't."

PLANES "FELL DOWN"

The newspaper men on this car pass away the spare moments telling of their trials and tribulations on the wild dash for Pendleton that began last Thursday afternoon. Those who started by airplane have some recollections they will not soon forget. It is a fact that not one Los Angeles newspaper man was able to complete the trip by plane. One man used four planes in the dash and then had to finish in an auto.

As the train passed through the region of the Siskiyou Mountains vivid memories of flying over the tops of some of these peaks were brought back.

The writer was a member of the Los Angeles Times party that started the dash for Pendleton in a plane. We had a good machine, a five-passenger cabin plane powered with a Wright Whirlwind motor, and we made excellent time till we left Corning and began to negotiate Grant's Pass through the mountains. Here the clouds closed in, forcing our pi-

So strong was this gale that ... times the plane was unable to forge ahead. Air pockets were often and some of the drops were so violent that we left our seats and bumped our heads on the top of the cabin. The writer admits that after half an hour of this he began to feel some of the symptoms of seasickness and decided desire to be somewhere than where he was.

After leaving Mt. Shasta the clouds lifted considerably and it was lucky that they did because we had to climb more than 8000 feet to cross a mountain flying into Yreka. Here the plane trip ended because the landing-gear cracked as we came down on the half-frozen gound.

The plane skidded around and buried a wing in the ground, but no one was hurt. There were no other planes we could see at the Yreka field and we were forced to take a train to Portland, which, luckily, came along an hour after we had crashed.

LEGION TALES FIRE BLOOD

Bennett J. Doty Joins Fighting Band on Impulse, Stirred by Romantic Story of Life

[This is the second of a series of articles by Bennett J. Doty, American boy, whose service in the French Foreign Legion and his subsequent desertion, imprisonment and release have made him a figure of world interest. Doty will relate his remarkable experiences and describe life in the famous Legion from the inside, as it is lived by the private.]

BY BENNETT J. DOTY

[Copyright, 1927, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance]

I have been asked many times why I joined the French Foreign Legion. I don't know. I simply made up my mind suddenly to join that famous fighting force. In April, 1925, I decided to go to France. I was then in New York. I shipped as a mess steward on a boat for Bordeaux.

Then the idea of joining the Legion hit me. We were receiving daily wireless news and the steady advance of Abd-El-Krim was recorded. The sailors kept talking about the part played in the fighting and spoke of friends who had served in that grim band.

BENNETT J. DOTY

"Of course," said one sailor, "it's the Legion ... gets the toughest jobs and it always makes good on them." This made me think of Service's poem:

"He had learn somebody say
That when France goes forth to battle
'Tis the Legion leads the way.
The men from all the nation
From every rank and station.
"But, yes, monsieur, be seated."
The Legion leads the way."

TAKES FIRST STEP

"We arrived at Bordeaux June 11. Soon after I looked up the Bureau Des Engagements Volontaires. This is a tiny office tucked away in a corner of the military headquarters building. It was presided over by a middle-aged officer, crippled, presumably in the war. He walked with a stick. He received me courteously and asked what I wanted.

"Can I engage here for the Legion Etranger?" I asked.

"But, yes, Monsieur, be seated."

He asked particulars, name, nationality, parentage. I said I was Gilbert Clare. The Clares are an old Norman family that settled in Ireland in the time of William the Conqueror and were hardy soldiers. The name had caught my fancy. Very few men engage in the Legion under their own names.

"You will return tomorrow for physical examination," said the officer. Bonjour, monsieur."

The next morning I was on hand and passed A-1. Then I signed innumerable papers and got an order for train fare to Port Vendres, a small seaport on the Spanish border.

LEGIONNAIRE NOW

I now was a Legionnaire. Unlike the hero of "Beau Geste," I had encountered no one who attempted to dissuade me from joining."

Early the next morning I descended at Port Vendres and walked to the caserene (barracks) of the Tirailleurs Senegalese. Here I remained several days and was well fed and lodged.

Then I was informed that the boat sailed the next morning, so a nondescript crowd of Zouaves, Tirailleurs and Chasseurs d'Afrique who had been on leave prepared for the voyage. We sailed on the Mustapha II for Oran, Algeria. There were two other recruits. Both were Spaniards. We arrived at Oran the next afternoon and a corporal escorted me to the petit depot of the Legion.

RUSSIAN GUIDE

He was a young Russian. He wore the khaki uniform the Legion uses when campaigning. It was bleached from much washing. On his head was the khaki-covered kepi or cap. He wore his campaign ribbon and combined excessive neatness with a commanding bearing.

"You are for the Legion?" he demanded.

"Follow me," he ordered, leading the way up a steep bluff to the city proper. The corporal glanced neither right nor left. I, however, was all eyes for the colorful costumes and crowded shops and cafes.

Then we came to a long lane on the outskirts of the city, where low behind high, whitewashed walls lay the caserne of the Zouaves, Spahis and Tirailleurs. We arrived at a gate before which stood a soldier with an enormous mustache. We were at the depot of the Legion. I entered the guardroom and presented my papers to the sergeant in charge, a little Frenchman with fierce upturned mustache.

BLACK "AMERICAN"

Noticing in my papers, "Nationality, American," he remarked, "there is another here, Call Phillips."

Down the stairs came a big black boy. "White folks," he exclaimed. "Has you joined up? Come along an' I'll fix you up."

Whereupon Phillips, whose first name is Charles, took me up to the sleeping quarters and got me a bunk. For the next two or three days he saw I got enough to eat and he was my official interpreter. I knew no French. I picked it up as I went along. I never learned much about Phillips. He hailed from California, I believe, and had then served about four years and a half in the Legion, in which he was acting as a railway station guard.

COUNTRYMEN MET

There are always some Americans in the Legion. One of these I knew and liked best was Big Nicholls of the "Music" (band,) a Texan. He was an old regular, having served in the cavalry as first sergeant. Nicholls seemed to know nearly everyone in the Legion and I liked nothing better than to sit with him over a bottle of wine and listen to his anecdotes. All the time he would suck on a villainous black pipe filled with Algerian tobacco. A really fine musician, Nicholls joined the Legion in 1920 and at the end of his five years service re-engaged for another five. He is now with the second regiment in Meknes, Morocco.

Then there was Big Slim Chenyworth, who stands 6ft. 6in. and is and is a typical farmer lad. Slim's greatest trouble was getting clothes long enough in the legs and arms. Generally the company tailor had to sew an extra strip to his sleeves to hide his wrists. Slim was a mule driver.

OTHER COMRADES

Both him and Nicholls I met after leaving Oran at Sinl-Del-Abbes.

Thompson and Olson were another American pair. Thompson, who hails from Northern New York, is an ex-gob. He has done five years in the Legion and has signed up for five more. He recently went out with a draft to Marrakeeh, Morocco, for the Fourth Regiment.

Olson, a "Bleu" (recruit) had been a vaudeville dancer. There were many other Americans in the Legion but I knew them only by hearsay, as they were serving in other parts of the country.

WOMEN TO ROUT 'BOSS' BY RADIO

League Plans Political Program Weekly

Study of Candidates Will Go on Broadcast

All Parties Get Even Break; Leaders Dubious

BY ROBERT B. ARMSTRONG
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26, (Exclusive) Woe to the old-time ward politician who dominated the caucus and the city, county and State conventions. The women of the nation have forced him out of control by getting equal suffrage and now they are starting in to monopolize the use of the radio in politics. Beginning in the first week of 1928, they will alternate with a political program every week — one from New York and the next from Washington, and will continue until after the national elections in next November. They faithfully promise to split the time fairly between Republicans, Democrats and Progressives, but there is a string to it.

The women who are directing the movement say who will go on the air, and when and how long they shall talk, and what they shall talk about. The air is no longer free, and the older political bosses are trembling in their shoes at the national program, which starts under auspices of the National League of Women Voters on January 3. While the initial program only calls for one night a week, if the women get away well with this plan both the great party leaders also are asking if they will insist on all the other six nights in the week. If the plan works that may be the fate and many an old-time political boss will have to turn off his radio set until the speakers of the League of Women Voters run out of words.

WHAT A CHANGE

Oh, what a world it will be if they take up the air every night and erase all the music and everything! Where will the old-time political boss go to be sure of a solid party vote, with the women capturing the ether and dictating who shall talk, when they shall talk and what about?

In the official press statement issued today in Washington the 1927 descendants of Eve break all the news to the descendants of Adam in this wise:

"A closer study than ever before attempted of candidates and campaign issues is contemplated for 1928 by the National League of Women Voters.

"In its effort to give the voters the things voters should know about, the league has completed plans for use of the air weekly through a chain of stations that will carry this informational service to millions of people. Alternately, from New York and Washington, men in public life, political students, interpreters of public opinion and newspaper men will send out through the ether timely discussions of matters that will be vital in the coming Presidential campaign.

COME IN SERIES

"Arrangements have been completed to inaugurate on January 3 the series of half-hour programs which will be styled 'the voters' service.' The first program will be broadcast from New York. The second on January 10 will launch a 'what-Congress-is-doing' series.

"Certain definite principles will be observed in all the programs of the 'voters' service.'" Miss Katharine Ludington of Lyme, Ct., vice-president of the league, said today. "The service will attempt to inform and to clarify, but will not promote anything except intelligent discussion of public questions. It will try to give a background of information which will make current questions more intelligible to the busy voter who has not much time for independent study.

MANY NOTED NAMES

"The league is conducting the program with the co-operation of the National Broadcasting Company. It is also to have the counsel of an advisory committee, members of which are: Miss Cornelia Adair, president National Education Association, Richmond, Va.; Hamilton Fish Armstrong, managing editor, foreign affairs, New York City; Henry A. Bellows, manager Station WCCO, Minneapolis, Minn.; Bruce Bliven, an editor of the New Republic, New York City; Theodore E. Burton, member House of Representatives from Ohio; Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, honorary president National League of Women Voters, New York; William L. Chenery, editor Collier's Weekly; President Ada Comstock, Radcliffe College, Cambridge, Mass.; Edward P. Costigan, Commissioner United States Tariff Commission, Washington, D. C.; Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns, Pasadena, Cal.; Prof. Thomas O. Eliot, Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill.; Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick, D.D., minister at the Park-Avenue Baptist Church, New York City; Prof. John M Gaus, University of Wisconsin, Madison, Wis.; Edward Guest Gibson, Baltimore, Md.; Dean Virginia Gildersleeve, Barnard College, Columbia University, and John M. Glenn, New York City.

BLIND MAN ROBBED AND SHOT DOWN

Thugs Wound Sightless Lavender Vender as He Protests Loss of Pittance

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Ed Miller, blind vender of lavender, lies at the Sacramento Hospital in a critical condition with a bullet wound below the heart as the result of a robbery and assault perpetrated Saturday night by two thugs who said they were policemen. Several suspects have been arrested

Miller, a former newsboy, was standing at Third and P streets conversing with Harry E. Martindale, when two men drove up in a small roadster.

As the machine stopped, one of the men declared they were police officers and that Miller and Martindale must go to the station.

Without question the two entered the machine and were driven across the M-street bridge and a mile and a half south on the highway.

When the machine stopped both were robbed and when Miller remonstrated he was shot.

Martindale lost two $10 bills, while Miller's savings amounting to $10.85, were taken.

Buenos Aires Indignant Over Bombing

Finances Intact as Doors Reopen to Public

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 26. (AP)—Actively continuing their investigations into the bombing of the Buenos Aires branch of the National City Bank of New York Saturday, the police have made about seventy arrests.

An investigation also has been carried out at various workers' clubs and houses, but the instigators of the plot have not been discovered.

The doors of the National City Bank were opened at the regular hour today and operations, officials declared, are "as normal as ever." Great crowds kept pouring in steadily, wishing to see the damage and there was universal indignation at the outrage.

Only one death has occurred, Manuel Taboada having succumbed to injuries. One man is in grave condition but the remainder of the injured are reported progressing satisfactorily.

Bank officials announced that all valuables and documents are intact and that examination showed everything in correct order from the financial end. There was no sign of a run when operations began today.

With removal of debris general conditions within the main hall have been restored but the explosion damage is observable.

BOMBING LAID TO SACCO SYMPATHIZERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—In a message today to the State Department, Robert Woods Bliss, Ambassador to Argentina, said the Buenos Aires Police Commissioner, "believes and I think," the bombing of the National City Bank there Saturday was "the work of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers."

Mr. Bliss advised the department that several members of the Buenos Aires Sacco-Vanzetti committee have been arrested and that the police are trying to round up the others.

They state, he added, that they have no concrete facts.

Just One Friend Views Body of Former Beauty

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—The body of Julia Bruns, former actress and once famous beauty, lay in state today in the Winterbottom funeral parlors here for a short time before it was taken to Long Island City to be sent to her former home in St. Louis.

Miss Bruns, once leading lady for Arnold Daly and a decade ago called by James Montgomery Flagg, the artist, the most beautiful woman in America, died suddenly Christmas Eve in a furnished room on New York's upper east side from acute alcoholism, according to the medical examiner's report. She had taken to drink after having broken off the drug habit two years ago.

Although once the toast of society and a stage favorite here and abroad, the only one to view the body today was Charles H. Brile, a lowly bookkeeper who was the last to befriend her after she struck the downward path. Arrangements for burial were made by her mother, Mrs. Catherine Bruns of St. Louis.

Oklahoma Chief Executive Gets Call to Inquiry

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 26. (AP)—Notice has been served on Gov. Johnston to appear Wednesday before the Senate court of impeachment to answer charges filed with that body by the House of Representatives.

The Governor said today the notice was left at his home Saturday night but was not served on him personally.

Those close to the Governor say he plans to file no pleadings before the purported Senate court. He adheres to the view that the Senators are not legally convened and therefore are without power to sit as a court.

SCIENTISTS OF NATION GATHER

Eighty-fourth Convention Opens in Nashville

Evolution Subject Barred as Courtesy to Hosts

Morley Recounts Finds in Land of Lost Race

NASHVILLE (Tenn.) Dec. 26. (AP)—With the word "evolution" absent from their program, hundreds of workers in all branches of science assembled here tonight for the opening of the eighty-fourth annual convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

The opening session took place in the auditorium of the War Memorial Building, which occupies the square in front of the State Capitol where, a few years ago, the most bitterly contested of the antievolution laws was enacted. The scientists were welcomed on behalf of the State, by Judge Grafton Green, chief justice of the Tennessee Supreme Court, who was one of the majority that upheld the antievolution law in the decision on the Scopes case.

COURTESY TO HOSTS

Discussion of evolution was kept off the program, convention officials explained, primarily as a mark of courtesy to the Tennessee hosts, and, secondarily, to demonstrate to the people of the State that while evolution may be a fundamental hypothesis in biology, it is only one of the innumerable and important subjects investigated in the broad field of science.

In the absence of Dr. L. H. Bailey of Ithaca, the retiring president of the association, who is recovering from a severe illness, the place on the program which traditionally goes to the scientist holding that office was given to Dr. Sylvanus G. Morley, famous anthropologist of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Dr. Morley for some years has been in charge of the Carnegie Institution's investigation of the remarkable civilization developed by the Mayas 2000 years ago on that part of the continental bridge now occupied by Mexico and Guatemala. It was, he said, "the most brilliant native American civilization of pre-Columbian times."

HIGHLY CULTURED RACE

"In architecture and sculpture, in painting and ceramics, the lapidary art, in the sciences of astronomy, chronology and mathematics, in the invention of writing—the only original graphic system developed in the New World—the Maya stood supreme, the cultured leaders of ancient America," he asserted.

Excavations at Chichen, Itza, in Northeastern Yucatan, and at Uaxactun, in Northern Peten, Guatemala, the Carnegie Institution workers have uncovered much new evidence of that lost civilization. They have established definitely that the Mayas had developed to the point where they lived in great cities, constructed their public buildings of dressed stone and adorned them with beautiful sculpture, reared lofty pyramids as the foundations for imposing temples and assembled in paved courts decorated with richly carved monuments.

Few meetings were held in the day, even by the independent scientific societies which have timed their annual sessions to coincide with that of the association.

SAINT NICK MUST BE TWINS

SAN JUAN (Porto Rico) Dec. 26. (AP) Observant parents here assert the island children are the world's luckiest and the only ones enjoying what amounts to a double Christmas on December 25 and January 6.

The latter is known as Three Kings Day commemorating gifts by the wise men to the Child in the Manger.

Christmas, as other than a religious celebration, was unknown here until Porto Rico became a part of the United States.

Santa Claus was accepted as part of the Americanizing process, the children seizing upon him as their particular friend in addition to the Three Kings and now indulgent parents find themselves helpless before this new tradition.

MAILS SELF HOME FOR CHRISTMAS

'Times' Advertising Agent at Chicago, Stranded on Coast, Boards Postal Plane

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Will T. Cresmer, Chicago advertising representative of the Los Angeles Times and other Pacific Coast newspapers, was sitting in his hotel room in Oakland, Cal., Thursday evening. He had been called there on business, but he had made the trip reluctantly because it would mean spending Christmas Day away from his family in Glencoe, Ill.

The picture of an old-fashioned Christmas at home stimulated him to speculate on the possibility, a remote one, he thought, of returning to Chicago for the holiday. He thought of the air. A mail plane was leaving in the morning that was scheduled to arrive in Chicago Saturday morning.

The trip proved to be an eventful one. At North Platte the plane met a storm. The pilot took it up 5000 feet above the storm, but he had to make a forced landing near Omaha. It was the second emergency landing in the pilot's experience, and it was fraught with hazard. The delay cost them five hours, but Mr. Cresmer was permitted to surprise his wife and two daughters by spending the day with them.

Jams in Window Trying to Flee

CARLISLE (Pa.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Welding apparatus was found necessary to free an inmate of the County Jail here when he became caught in the iron-cased window of his cell during a Christmas Eve attempt to escape. George W. Starner, 19 years of age, of York, the prisoner, suffered injuries that may cause his death. He is awaiting trial on six larceny charges.

Starner made his attempt to get through the window five and a half inches wide.

BACK TO TEXAS

FRESNO, Dec. 26. (AP)—George W. Stanley, who has been held in jail here on a petty theft charge, was started back to Texas today by Texas officials, where he is wanted for escape from the Texas penitentiary. Stanley was identified through his fingerprints.

MEXICO DENIES SEIZING LANDS

Hearst Property Untouched, Parres States

Rumors of Confiscation Held Without Foundation

Senate Quiz on Charges to Continue Today

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26. (AP)—Reports that the Mexican government has ordered the seizure of the land and properties of William Randolph Hearst in Mexico are completely unfounded, Acting Secretary of Agriculture Jose Parres announced today.

"Reports that the Department of Agriculture has ordered the seizure, confiscation, division and sale of the Hearst lands, or has issued any kind of orders to that effect are absolutely untrue," Parres said. "I do not know the foundation for such reports, but you may deny them categorically upon the authority of the Department of Agriculture."

BRAZILIAN EMBASSY DENIES TRUTH OF DOCUMENTS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Hearings will be resumed tomorrow by the special Senate committee investigating the authenticity of the Mexican documents published recently in the Hearst newspapers purporting to show creation of huge funds by Mexico to be spent in this country.

The Brazilian Embassy tonight issued a statement denying the charge published in the Hearst newspapers that $105,000 was set aside by the Mexican government for Dr. Rodrigo Octavio, the Brazilian member of the mixed claims commission.

"The Brazilian Embassy deems it proper to state publicly that the Brazilian Ambassador in Mexico has been authorized by the Mexican government," said the statement, "to deny categorically the substance of the asserted documents recently published in facsimile by a certain North American press in which appeared the name of the Brazilian jurist, Dr. Rodrigo Octavio, who, at the invitation of the governments of the United States and Mexico, acted as arbitrator in the joint claims commission agreed upon by the two governments.

"The Brazilian Embassy further states that the denial of the Mexican government having been communicated by the Department of Foreign Affairs of Brazil to Dr. Rodrigo Octavio, the Brazilian jurist, in a letter which has been widely circulated in the Brazilian press, has completely repudiated the unworthy insinuations against him."

Hunt Airs Stand on Boulder Bill

PHOENIX, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Gov. Hunt has written Gov. Dern of Utah saying Arizona is in complete accord with the governors of the Upper Colorado River basin States in announcing opposition to the Swing-Johnson bill until an agreement is obtained between all seven States of the river basin. At the Governor's office, the statement is made that Arizona has been asked to present to the Senate committee the negative side of the case and it will be followed by the California argument.

The letter asserts that Arizona, in San Francisco, at the tri-State conference, labored for peace, but that California refused to suspend hostile agitation and that that State has maintained its usual lobby at Washington sustaining the Swing-Johnson bill "with all its objectionable features."

Former Writer on Politics Dies

TULSA (Okla.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Richard R. G. O'Grady, veteran Chicago newspaper man, leader in Republican national politics sixteen years ago, and for several years a Tulsa oil and gas lease salesman, died in a hospital here last night. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow.

Mr. O'Grady served as political editor of the Chicago Tribune for twenty years. He also held several elective offices. Later he became editor of the National Republican, national Republican party organ. He retained this position for four years and came to Tulsa twelve years ago.

Mr. O'Grady wrote several books dealing with political problems while he edited the magazine.

State Gas Sale Asked in Arizona

PHOENIX, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Resort to a constitutional provision permitting the State to enter into commercial pursuits is demanded by a Phoenix newspaper with respect to the sale of gasoline. It is reported Gov. Hunt is interested.

The price of gasoline in Arizona is far above that in Los Angeles and El Paso, with freight added.

Kenneth Payne, negro, was held as a material witness after he had told officers that Smith did the shooting, it was asserted at police headquarters. There had been bad blood between Smith and Coleman, police said.

LINDBERGHS SET OFF TOMORROW

Son Starts to Guatemala and Mother to Detroit

He Will Fly for Nine Hours on Southern Trip

Prominent Persons Taken Up in Ford Machines

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26. (AP)—Col. Lindbergh and his mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, will fly away from Mexico City Wednesday morning. The son goes toward Guatemala City, which is a flight of probably nine hours; his mother starts back to her homeland.

After the quiet Christmas Day spent with his mother at the United States embassy, Col. Lindbergh went out to Valbuena Field today and amused himself with the Ford plane. He carried aloft several of the members of the embassy and their wives, as well as Joaquin Amaro, Minister of War and Marine, with his wife.

The flyer wore civilian togs and an ordinary hat.

THEIR FIRST FLIGHT

Lindbergh hopes to hop off for Guatemala Wednesday, and as soon as the Spirit of St. Louis gets away, the Ford monoplane will be brought out in the field for the take-off for Detroit. Mrs. Lindbergh and party plan to make stops at Tampico, San Antonio and Indianapolis and they hope to reach Detroit Friday evening.

In all Lindbergh made four different flights today in the Ford plane, remaining up ten or fifteen minutes on each occasion, and taking up, among others, Mrs. Morrow, wife of the Ambassador, who made the first flight of her life. The Secretary of War, Senor Amaro, and his wife also made their first flight.

FLYER ANNOYED

A crowd of about 1000 persons gathered at Valbuena Flying Field and surged around the Ford craft. It was perilous work taking off under such conditions, and several times the spectators had to be forced back from the plane, as they were in danger of being killed or injured by the propellers.

Once Col. Lindbergh left the plane, plainly indicating his annoyance. He threatened to abandon the flights, but officers rallied around and drove back the crowd, and the visitor returned.

Lindbergh will devote Tuesday in preparing the Spirit of St. Louis for his Central American tour.

LEVINE HAS FACTORY TO BUILD AIRPLANES

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Charles A. Levine today is the owner of a factory building in Long Island City in which he plans to start at once the manufacture of airplanes.

The first trans-Atlantic airplane passenger to Europe announced plans some weeks ago, for a great multi-motored air liner to be built after plans drawn by two young engineers he met in Paris.

The newly acquired factory building has a floor space for only 10,000 square feet, but other small buildings on the same plot are available if needed.

PLAYGROUND MEET TO SANTA MONICA NEXT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Santa Monica will be the meeting place of the next western conference of the Playground and Recreation Association of America, Howard S Braucher, secretary, announced today. The meeting will be held April 12, 13 and 14. The conference, which brings together recreation workers from eleven Western States, is educational in character and features research work.

MAN FOUND DEAD PNEUMONIA VICTIM

PASO ROBLES (Cal.) Dec. 26. (AP) Physicians who performed an autopsy on Henry A. Zeppelin, whose lifeless body was found alongside the highway in a lonely spot between Paso Robles and the San Joaquin Valley on Christmas Day, announced today that pneumonia, due to exposure, had caused death. Zeppelin had on his person papers showing he had served in the Argonne and in the Marne offensive during the World War. He enlisted from Fresno.

MEXICO SPEEDS UP IRRIGATION

Huge Projects Being Rushed to Completion

Expects Systems to Operate Within Year

Prepare Farm Lands for Use of Poor Peons

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 31. (Exclusive)—Gigantic irrigation projects being constructed by the Calles's administration in service at the end of 1928 will be sufficiently large to irrigate 105,000 hectareas, while more works, although not yet begun, would add another 300,000 hectareas. This work at present is being carried on under supervision of the National Irrigation Commission. The hectarea is two and two-tenths acres.

Chief irrigation works being rushed to completion are the Calles Dam in Santiego, State of Aguascallentes; the gigantic Don Martin project in the State of Nuevo Leon, only sixty kilometers from the American border; the Rio Mante project in the State of Tamaulipas near Xiechitencatl and the system of canals along the Valley of Mesquital, in the State of Hidalgo, toring the waters of the branches of the Moctekuma River.

The works planned for 1928, according to Excelsior, local daily, are even larger than those in the past several years and would have ample volume for irrigating 300,000 additional hectareas with a great amount of power available for electric systems.

NEW PROJECTS

These new projects, to be on a large scale and expensive, will be located along the Sauceda River in the State of Durango; the Pilon and Salinas Rivers in the State of Nuevo Leon; San Juan River in the same State; the Conchos River in the State of Chihuahua; on the Grande at Morelia, state of Michoalan; Mayo and Yansui rivers in the state of Sonora; on the Rio de Santa Gertrudis in the State of Tamaupias, and the San Buenaventura in the State of Chihuahua.

The necessary plans and study of this last group of projects have been completed and will be launched the coming year but will be the task of the administration following President P. Elias Calles to see them completed.

The huge Calles Dam, to be completed shortly, will have a capacity of storing 350,000,000 cubic meters of water, or enough to irrigate 20,000 hectareas. This dam is of concrete 300 meters long and seventy meters construction 300 meters long and seventy meters in height. The canal leading from it will have a capacity of 12,250 liters per second and the tunnel is 1220 meters in length and the canal, which joins it fifty kilometers. It is regarded as a remarkable engineering feat.

LANDS FOR COLONISTS

The Don Martin Dam in Nuevo Leon is the most important and largest of all the works. It is only sixty kilometers from the United States line and receives the waters of the Saldo River. This stores 1,400,000,000 cubic meters and is sufficiently large to water 85,000 hectareas. This colossal work is 1062 meters in length and thirty-two meters in height. The principal canal from it is fifty-five kilometers long.

It is understood unclaimed land around these projects is to be allotted to colonists for settlement and improvement to better agricultural development in Mexico. The settlers are to be encouraged by the Federal government intensively to cultivate these lands and to secure maximum yields from crops. The granting and settling of these tracts is to be determined by the capacity of the prospective farmer. Particularly poor peons, who can furnish sufficient guarantee of their abilities, will be benefitted by the distribution, since they will be given small lots on easy terms, to be taken from the proceeds of their crop profits.

The use of modern methods coupled with efficient machinery and proper transportation means is also being encouraged by Federal authorities. Foreigners wishing to obtain grants will be allowed to do so, it is said, but first preference will be given Mexicans because of their citizenship rights.

KIDNAPING GIVES CLEW TO BANDITS

Trail Struck in Hunt for Texas Gang After Five Are Held for Aiding Suspects

CISCO (Tex.) Dec. 26. (AP)—With announcement of the kidnaping today of Claude Wylie, 29 years of age, by three men, officers tonight believe they have struck a hot trail in the pursuit of bandits who held up a Cisco bank last Friday and escaped after wounding fatally Police Chief Bedford.

Three men and two women suspected of having given the three escaped bandits medical attention and temporary concealment are held tonight at Albany for investigation, while a wide search for Wylie is undertaken.

One of the suspects held is a Wichita Falls doctor who is believed to have dressed wounds of one of the robbers at a farm house near Moran. Another is thought to be a relative of L. E. Davis, bandit, who was killed in the Cisco robbery. He admitted having housed the three bandits.

One of the men held said two of the bandits were severely wounded, but the third, the one who essayed the role of Santa Claus in the robbery, escaped uninjured.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—New York hung up a record as a virtually blameless city over Christmas. In the period of twenty-four hours of Christmas Eve and Christmas Day not a single prisoner was brought into its police stations.

BRITON AWED BY DISTANCE

Journalistic Visitor on Run Across Continent Impressed by Changing Scenes

(Philip Hewitt-Myring is the leader page editor of the London Daily News. At present he is a member of the Kansas City Star's editorial staff as an exchange fellow of the Walter Hines Page Followship in Journalism. He was recently in Los Angeles as a member of The Times staff.)

BY PHILIP HEWITT-MYRING

I am beginning to consider myself something of an expert in American railroad travel. I have mastered, that is to say, the art of breathing in a temperature of well over 80 degrees and an atmosphere that is, to English lungs at least, entirely without oxygen; and if there is ever staged a series of international speed tests for dressing and undressing in upper berths, I shall certaintly apply to be a member of the team that represents Great Britain.

Before the beginning of the week I would have spoken with less assurance, but I arrived yesterday in Kansas City after three nights on the train from San Francisco, and I feel that my education is now complete.

PHILIP HEWITT-MYRING

In the course of the ten months that remain of my year's tour of America I may, I suppose, get somewhat accustomed to the scale on which the country is built, but up to the present I have not even begun to do so.

TRAVEL IN ENGLAND

There is, in the English "West Country," a city called Bath. It is an ancient and beautiful city, and Londoners from time to time visit it. Similarly, the inhabitants of Bath do occasionally come up to London on business or to stay with friends. But the trip is not one that is undertaken lightly. One ponders over it for some time; reserves one's seats on the train in advance; decides on just what luggage one is going to take, and as often as not is "seen off" at the station by two or three friends who have come to wish one "bon voyage" and a safe return. Now, the time taken on the train journey from London to Bath is exactly two hours.

On the Union Pacific line from San Francisco to Kansas City one can travel for twice that length of time and hardly notice the view from the carriage window has changed, and the twelve-hour journey from Los Angeles to San Francisco is as lightly undertaken by Americans as would be half an hour's bus ride by the Londoner.

It is, therefore, this immensity of the American continent; this vast distance between the important or even the unimportant cities that remained on my latest railroad journey the outstanding impression of the trip.

There were many others. Probably the climb up the Sierras from the Sacramento Valley on the first evening's run would have been one of them, had it not been made after dark. In the ascent we passed, I understand, under forty-two miles of snowshed. But what is a trifle like that to an American railway?

WINTER SWAY UNHAMPERED

Next morning, we were well out on the high and arid plateau of Nevada. On either side the train under a gray sky stretched a snow-blotched waste of sand and sagebrush, closed in at greater or less distances from the line by the higher mountains which wore thick mantles of white. Desolate-looking little western towns, mere collections of wooden shacks for the most part, flashed by at long intervals. One wondered what life in winter was like in those little communities swept by the icy blast that was hurling itself vainly against our double windows.

Then suddenly, in the early afternoon, we were on the Great American Desert.

To me it came as perhaps the greatest surprise of the many that I have received since I landed in this country. In fine weather, distant views of mountains presumably provide some point on which eye and mind many concentrate, but with the blurred horizons of the time of my crossing it, it seemed unbelievably flat, fantastically featureless—the quintessence of nothingness; the first day of the world or the end of all time.

DORE EFFECTS

And when, midway across, a mountain range did suddenly materialize ten miles away, it was a range from a Dore drawing of Purgatory—a jagged, fanged range, behind which the sun, looming through the murk, set in a sinister blaze of lemon yellow.

The desert was succeeded by the Great Salt Lake, across which our train ran by causeway and on trestles. Night was falling rapidly. The wind moaned ever louder outside the train; and leaping waves tore at the protecting stones as if they would pull them from their bed. It was quite dark before we were across, and it was not until the lights of Ogden shed their radiance into the night that one was quite convinced that one had not been traveling for some hours, eerily on the moon or Mars, but was still on our own kindly planet.

HIGH-UP BREAKFAST

Next day Nevada and Utah had given place to Wyoming and Colorado; and it was amusing to break one's altitude record at the same time as one's fast, for Sherman stands 8013 feet above sea level, and higher than that I had never been.

With noon came Denver and a wait of two hours. Duty suggested a taxi drive about the icy streets; one's baser self urged that it would be more comfortable in the warmth and light of the depot. Finally one compromised with half an hour's drive that led one to the conclusion that Denver had much to do before she could be considered beautiful, but had erected the postoffice building and one or two of the edifices at the civic center to show what she could do in that direction when she made up her mind to it.

I bore it hardly that mist and the closing darkness should have ruined the afternoon's run over rolling prairie land from the scenic point of view, but obviously the railway company could not be held responsible, and one could always read.

KANSAS AT DAWN

Next morning I awoke to cloudless skies, red-rimmed on the horizon by the rising sun. Kansas. The country was open yet; but with a marked difference from desert or prairie. It was more settled, more cultivated. Little woods succeeded open fields, and a river, friendly for all that it was clotted with ice, meandered by the track.

Towns followed one another with ever-increasing rapidity. Then came a graying of the horizon; smoke, the outskirts of a great city.

The train came to rest. I got out of the car. Icy air—the coldest I had ever experienced—surged in on me, and yet it was air, that after the first shock was invigorating and entirely without the biting rawness that characterizes the winter climate of other lands where the temperature is twenty degrees higher.

It was Kansas City; and as I

Brother Slayer Kills Himself

YREKA, Dec. 26. (AP)—The tragic aftermath of a Christmas reunion of three brothers at the Pennsylvania placer mine on the headwaters of Applegate River, in the Siskiyou Mountains, came today when Jeff Faucett committed suicide while he was being pursued for the killing of his brother, Ray Faucett, 48 years of age.

The killing of Ray came as the result of a trivial quarrel, Edward Faucett, the brother who survived the fatal party, told Sheriff Calkins.

Jeff Faucett killed himself in his cabin today when Sheriff Calkins attempted to induce him to open the barricaded door.

PRAYER SETTLES ROW OVER CRASH OF AUTOS

MT. EPHRAIM (N. J.) Dec. 26. (AP)—After a collision between two automobiles tonight the two drivers were taken before Recorder Walton and one of them requested the privilege of offering prayer for the guidance of the recorder in passing on the case. The request was granted and Arthur Williams of Belmawr knelt and offered his supplication. The other driver, Stacy L. Butcher of Salem, appeared deeply impressed. The result was an amicable settlement.

PITY A PRINCE ON MOVING DAY

All England Wrought Up by Wales's Preparations

Hundreds Angle for Place in Official Household

Royal Heir Not Eager to Take Marlborough House

(Copyright, 1927, in all countries by North American Newspaper Alliance)

LONDON, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—The Prince of Wales is having difficulties completing his arrangements to move into Marlborough House.

One concerns the appointment of new household officials. At present the Prince has a smaller entourage than any heir to the English throne at his age ever had. It consists of a private secretary, a comptroller, groom-in-waiting, who is rarely at York House, and four equerries with a small clerical staff.

When he goes to Marlborough House the Prince will be expected to have an establishment equal at least to that King Edward and King George had as Princes of Wales. This will mean twenty-five or thirty officials at from $5000 to $2500 a year each.

MUCH COMPETITION

There is tremendous angling for these appointments because of the social influence and privileges they carry. Members of the Prince's household are put on private invitation lists not only of the Prince but of the King and Queen, all the best clubs are available to them, and the most exclusive hostesses welcome them.

There is not a smart young woman in society who isn't trying to get a husband or brother into the Prince's establishment. The Prince will have to offend hundreds of his friends when he makes his selections.

Apart from this, he is finding trouble getting a proper staff of servants. Three housemaids are all he has required at York House. Marlborough House needs thirty-five to forty.

The Prince can not look for maids as an ordinary person would. He is bound by custom and tradition. All the servants he employs should be the sons or daughters or near relatives of those who have been or are in the royal service.

MAID LIST SMALL

The housekeeper at Buckingham Palace keeps a waiting list of such girls, but at the moment there are not a dozen on the list. The Prince, therefore, has to staff Marlborough House with housemaids recommended by friends of the royal family, and this is taking time. The Prince's housekeeper will be chosen from among three assistant housekeepers at Buckingham Palace. There is no difficulty about obtaining menservants.

Then comes the question of refurnishing Marlborough House. If the Prince furnishes it as beautifully as it once was, this will cost him more than $5,000,000.

The Prince is attracting the attention of all the big dealers in antique furniture throughout Europe. He is being inundated with letters and price-lists and illustrated catalogues, and the more enterprising and pushing dealers have been calling at York House.

HATES TO MOVE

The Prince has not a stick of furniture of his own except that in his writing room at York House, and it is not worth more than $500. All the other furniture at York House is Crown property.

The Prince obviously is in no hurry to get into his new home. To occupy it will entail enormous expense and much trouble; and for a bachelor Prince of the simplest taste to occupy one of the most spacious mansions in London containing more than 200 rooms seems almost absurd.

But pressure is being brought on the Prince to take up his residence as soon as possible. He is being pressed by the King and Queen to do so; his own personal advisers are urging him in the same direction. He can not delay much longer.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

PLAN TO BLOCK USE OF FUNDS

Redlands Citizens Resort to the Courts

Reported Spending City Light Department Resources

Move Up Improvement of City Golf Course

REDLANDS, Dec. 26.—Opponents of the City Directors' plan to appropriate funds from the profits of the municipal Light and Power Department for use in the construction of the proposed golf course in the Arroyo Seco are preparing to take legal action in an effort to stop the project, according to W. B. Tipton, one of the leaders of the group.

After studying the legal aspects of the situation Tipton says it has been learned that the Directors will be exceeding their rightful powers if they spend light department funds for a purpose such as the golf course. The matter is a not strictly governmental function, they say.

The protestants object to the proposed improvement on the ground that it places the city in the position of conducting a business for profit, as the Directors expect to realize money on the fees charged by the golf course. The objecting group is afraid that this may lead to other cases in which the city would show a loss.

No legal action will be taken before the Directors refused to consider the objections of a delegation which called at the board meeting to protest, following two mass meetings of protest, according to Tipton. It is said that this cohorts have strong backing and are willing to go to the limit.

Plans for the proposed court house will be completed tomorrow, it is reported.

DENTIST IS VICTIM OF OWN PISTOL

Inability to Sleep Given as Cause; Leaves Two Suicide Notes

LONG BEACH, Dec. 26.—Dr. Samuel T. Luce, 51 years of age, Long Beach dentist and widely known throughout the State for his activities in connection with fraternal organizations, killed himself in the garage at his home, 264 Bennett avenue, early this morning. A .38-caliber revolver, lying beside the body on the garage floor, revealed the method employed by the dentist. Two notes, one addressed to his wife and the other unaddressed, but setting forth minute directions as to the disposition of his remains, were found beside him by R. H. Buck, a neighbor, who discovered the body. One note was dated at 4 o'clock this morning and the other at 5 o'clock. Police believe that the dentist committed suicide soon after writing the last note.

Insomnia of a chronic nature was ascribed by the dead man's wife as the probable motive for the suicide. She told Detective Sergeants Hanners and Gott that her husband had suffered from that malady for some time. He was in good spirits on Christmas Day, however, his wife said, and played host to a number of visitors.

Dr. Luce came here from South Pasadena fifteen years ago. In early life he taught school in Northern California. He was one of the first Dictators in the local lodge, Loyal Order of Moose, and was secretary of the Long Beach parlor. Native Sons of the Golden West. He was noted for the amount of legislation beneficial to the Native Sons that was instigated by him. Dr. Luce is survived by his widow and a daughter, Helen Luce, 15 years of age. In accordance with his written instructions, the body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Holton & Sons, where an inquest will be conducted tomorrow.

WIDOW TO CARRY OUT WISHES OF HUSBAND

HANFORD, Dec. 26.—The $50,000 trust fund bequeathed to the Hanford Mason and Elks lodges jointly, by Clarence H. Howland of Los Gatos, a pioneer druggist of this city, has been voided by the Superior Court of Santa Clara county, due to the fact that it was written into his will within thirty days of his demise.

The income from the fund was to be used for the eradication of tuberculosis and the care of patients afflicted with the disease. The fund will revert to Howland's estate and C. J. Sharp, the attorney for the Masons and Elks, states Mrs. Howland is desirous that the wishes of her husband be carried out and some other way of creating the fund will no doubt be found.

CROP WORTH KING'S RANSOM

Citrus Grown in Upper San Gabriel Valley Returns $7,000,000 to Orchardists

COVINA, Dec. 26.—The 1927 citrus crop of the upper San Gabriel Valley sold at approximately $7,000,000 which growers and shippers state is the largest local return in the history of the citrus industry. Although the Valencia oranges were unusually small the return was the greatest ever received. The combined cash returns of the associations of this district marketing through the California Fruit Growers' Exchange were $5,998,399. The figures furnished by these associations are f.o.b., the packing and selling charges not having been deducted.

The Covina Fruit Exchange, of which W. M. Griswold is manager and which includes the Covina Citrus Association, the Covina Orange Growers' Association and the Damerel-Allison Company shipped 615 cars of navels, 836 cars of Valencias or 666,900 boxes. The total receipts to date are $2,603,000. The returns for the navels were $93,000 and the Valencia return was $1,673,000. The returns from three cars of Valencias are yet to be received. These figures show that the shipments of the Covina Fruit Exchange were 863 boxes greater and the returns $600,000 more than in any previous year.

The three associations of the Glendora Fruit Exchange which are the Glendora Citrus Association, the Glendora Heights Association and the Glendora Lemon Association, and which have as their manager C. E. Groninger shipped 112,000 boxes of lemons and 324,000 boxes of oranges with a return of $1,751,000.

The A.C.G. Exchange at Azusa, which is under the management of P. H. Brecht, shipped 1117 cars of oranges and thirty cars of lemons. The total return was $1,176,000. Marketing through this exchange are the Azusa Citrus Association, the Azusa Foothill Association, the Azusa Orange Company, the Duquesne Fruit Company, the Glendora Mutual Orange Association and the Irwindale Citrus Association.

The Charter Oak Citrus Association which is also affiliated with the California Fruit Growers' Exchange and which although in the Covina district markets through the San Dimas Exchange shipped 329 cars of 462 packed boxes each which brought a return of $428,410.

The three local houses marketing through the Mutual Orange Distributors are the Golden Orange Groves, the El Bar Dor Citrus House of Covina and the Glendora Co-operative Citrus Association. The figures furnished by these companies are net to the grower. The three concerns shipped 479 cars and made a net return of $677,600.

To these figures could be added the business of one or two independent companies and the returns from a few shipments made by the exchange houses late in the season the figures for which are not available.

Although the navel crop in some sections promises to be light, citrus experts are estimating that the crop of the coming year will be but a few cars less than that of the past year.

HANFORD, Dec. 26.—The Coroner's inquest into the deaths of Ysobell Martinez, 51 years of age, and his step-son, Juan Vasquez, 18, who were run into and almost instantly killed Saturday night, some four miles north of here by an intoxicated young negro, Chester Benton from Turlock, was conducted at 10:30 this morning. Evidence showed the men were changing a tire on their car alongside the road, when Benton, in an intoxicated condition ran into them, just missing the Martinez car, in which were his three smaller children. Benton had driven smuck all along the highway from Fowler to Hanford. A bottle partly filled with liquor was found in Benton's car, which was completely wrecked.

HEAVY TRAFFIC TOLL

Bad Weather Responsible for Death and Injury on Kern County Highways

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 26.—Wind and rain-swept highways took a heavy automobile accident toll in Kern county during the week-end, claiming the life of one motorist and resulting in the injury of eight other persons.

The dead man is Manuel Bidegain, 26 years of age, of Los Angeles, who recently was employed at a Kern sheep ranch near Willow Springs.

Police are searching for a hit-and-run driver who injured a 13-year-old boy here Saturday night.

Others injured are: Fermin Bidegain, Willow Springs, cuts and bruises; Ben Eligalds, Bakersfield, bruises; Pete Cecario, 13, Bakersfield, concussion of brain, possible skull fracture; Miss Edres Dowd, Taft, broken collar bone, bruises; Miss Eldora Demotts, Bakersfield, lacerated lip; Miss Tena Demotts, Bakersfield, bruises; Sam Houston, Bakersfield, face and head cut and bruised; Mrs. Delia Anderson, Glendale, serious face and head injuries.

When the car in which he was riding crashed into a barricade across the highway in front of the Standard school, where a subway is being constructed, Manuel Bidegain was killed almost instantly, concussion of the brain and internal injuries received when the automobile overturned being responsible for his death. Bidegain's brother, Fermin, and Ben Eligalds, driver of the car, received only minor injuries.

According to traffic reports, the two Bidegain brothers started for Bakersfield Saturday night and their car broke down eight miles north of here on the Woody Road. They walked to Bakersfield and were returning with Eligalds to tow the car to a garage when Eligalds, unfamiliar with the highway, crashed into the barricade in front of the school near Oildale. The body of the crash victim is at Hopson mortuary, arrangements for an inquest and funeral having not been completed.

Struck by a motorist who failed to stop after the accident, Pete Cecario, 13-year-old son of U. Cecario, is still in a critical condition as the result of injuries received Saturday night on California avenue east of Union avenue. According to attendants at Emergency Hospital, the lad was selling Christmas candy when he was knocked down by the unknown driver. The boy has a deep cut on his forehead, concussion of the brain and a probable fracture of the skull. Attendants report he never has regained full consciousness since the crash.

Miss Eldora and Tena Demotts, Bakersfield High School teachers, were injured Saturday afternoon in an automobile accident near Bakersfield. Miss Eldora Demotts was the most seriously hurt and still is confined at Mercy Hospital. Her sister suffered only minor bruises.

Samuel Houston of Bakersfield was injured when a car in which he was riding and another automobile collided at the intersection of Twenty-fourth and O streets. Houston was treated for minor injuries at San Joaquin Hospital.

Thrown through the windshield of her car when a huge boulder struck her automobile during a landslide on the Ridge Route south of here, Mrs. Delia Anderson of Glendale suffered painful face and scalp injuries. According to emergency attendants, Mrs. Anderson and Miss Alice Boney, also of Glendale, were en route to Stratford when the rock hit their car a short distance south of Sandbergs. Miss Boney was not injured.

STUDENTS MAKE GOOD SHOWING

Compliment Redlands Men for Participation in Recent Fight Against Fire

REDLANDS, Dec. 26.—The "R," the immense letter of the University of Redlands on the north slope of the San Bernardino Mountains, was burned over by the great forest fire two weeks ago. This has been definitely established at last by a group of university men who made their way to the letter. They found it covered with ashes that make it still visible and they also found that if every year the letter is cleaned off as in the past the bushes and trees around it will grow up and the letter will not be lost.

The bushes and thick undergrowth were burned, but the fire swept over it at top speed with a heavy wind behind it and it is said that new growth will soon spring up from the roots.

It will be remembered that some months ago the Forest Department announced all these letters would have to be abandoned because university students in certain places had refused to serve when forest fires raged. There was no such indictment against the University of Redlands, for almost 100 of the picked athletes fought the big fire for days. The university has just received the following letter from S. A. Nash Bouldin, the director of this district for the Forestry Department:

"Gentlemen: Please express our sincere appreciation to the boys of the university who assisted in the control of the recent Plunge Creek fire.

"It is generally believed that boys of this age cannot be depended upon to do the strenuous work required in fighting fire. This was certainly not a fact regarding the boys from the University of Redlands. Our division bosses report that these boys not only did good work, but maintained a splendid spirit, both in camp and on the fire line.

"I am sorry that their school letter was burned over and hope that erosion will not follow.

"Very sincerely yours,

[Signed] "S. A. NASH BOULDIN,
"Forest Supervisor."

Plane Wrecked; Mail is Saved

BAKERSFIELD, Dec. 26. (AP)—Its whirlwind motor, fuselage and wings a mass of wreckage, but its load of fifteen sacks of valuable mail intact, the air-mail plane from which Pilot James Rutledge jumped last night, was discovered at 11:30 o'clock last night by Sheriff's officers and officials of the Pacific air transport in a cotton field near Shafter. The plane landed nose down five miles from the farm of J. W. Mayer, where the pilot landed by parachute a few minutes before. Rutledge was slightly injured when he struck a fence on landing.

The mail was brought here and started on its way south.

NEGLECTED TO HAVE DRIVER'S LICENSE

GLENDALE, Dec. 26.—According to the belief held by Jesus Melendres, who gives his address as Union street, Los Angeles, all that one needs to become a motorist is a car and two tin tags for the front and rear. A little thing like a driver's license was left out of Melendres's calculations altogether, it appears, when he was arrested by Detective Sergeant F. C. Williams after he had collided with a car driven by Dr. C. W. Fassell of Kansas City, Mo., a visitor to Glendale. No one was hurt, but Melendres became so vocal after the crash that Williams took him to the police station.

Melendres admitted that he has never read a newspaper and that he did not know that he should have an operator's license before he is permitted to run his car along the highways. What the attitude of Judge F. H. Lowe will be in the matter is to be settled when Melendres appears for a hearing later in the week.

PIONEER IS CALLED

Alva Warren, San Bernardino Resident Since 1852, Dies Result of Pneumonia

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 26.—Alva A. Warren, 91 years of age, one of the early pioneers of San Bernardino Valley, died today at his home as the result of an attack of pneumonia which came upon him more than a month ago.

Mr. Warren came to California seventy-five years ago and had since resided in San Bernardino and vicinity. He accompanied his parents, who traveled overland by ox cart from Michigan in 1852.

The Warrens came through Utah, where they witnessed the early growth of Salt Lake City. While Mr. Warren was in Salt Lake City the Mormon massacre took place.

The desire to come to California to settle prompted Mr. Warren to accompany his parents in joining an ox train which traveled across the Mojave Desert and entered San Bernardino Valley through Cajon Pass. It was at the Cajon Camp, which is now marked by a monument, where Mr. Warren spent one of the nights en route to San Bernardino.

While crossing the continent Mr. Warren participated in several skirmishes with hostile Indians. Even when he reached San Bernardino the territory was inhabited by members of redskin tribes.

Mr. Warren followed the occupation of a rancher practically all of his life, although he did some assaying. He was a member of the Pioneers' Society of San Bernardino and was also a member of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints.

He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Betsy Warren; three daughters, Mrs. C. A. Poole, Mrs. L. Hitesman of San Bernardino and Mrs. W. E. Vaughan of Colton; one son, Alva A. Warren, San Bernardino.

WALNUT PARK SHOOTING

Two Are Victims of Bullet Wounds from Gun of Enraged Divorced Husband

WALNUT PARK, Dec. 26.—A shooting affray in which Edgar Kelley, residing on California street, was wounded in the chest and right arm, and Mrs. Kelley shot in the right thigh, happened Christmas Eve, about 7 o'clock, at their residence, when A. D. Morgan, a son-in-law, called at the home, pulling a .32-caliber revolver, and fired, according to information secured at the home this morning.

Morgan, who resides in Bonnie Brae Place, in Los Angeles, is said to have called at the home about 7 o'clock, and knocked. Mr. Kelley answering the call at the door. When the door was opened, it is said that Morgan made a remark and pulled his revolver, discharged the weapon, wounding Mr. Kelley. He is said to have then entered the residence, and going into the dining-room, fired two more shots, one striking Mrs. Kelley in the thigh. Neighbors, hearing the reports from the gun, ran to the residence, and a telephone call was sent in to Huntington Park officers. They responded, and taking charge of Morgan, held him until deputy sheriffs from the substation on Florence avenue arrived. They took the man to the County Jail, where he will be held until charges are filed against him.

The Huntington Park police, in making a search to locate the revolver, found it in one of the rooms behind a clock, and also a bottle partly filled with alcohol, according to Detective Sergeant Ridgway.

Morgan was married to a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kelley a few years ago, and it is said that there was a separation and that Mrs. Morgan, about two years ago, secured a divorce. Morgan, it is understood, had called the residence by telephone at different times, and it is thought that he wished to settle the difference between himself and Mrs. Morgan. At the time of the shooting, Mrs. Morgan was not at home, although she and their little son had made their home at the Kelley residence since her separation with her husband.

Mr. Kelley remains in the Suburban Hospital in South Gate, where he was taken immediately after the shooting, while Mrs. Kelley was brought to her home in Walnut Park yesterday. Both are under the care of Dr. D. E. Stewart of Huntington Park, and it is thought they will recover.

A charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent, may be filed against Morgan.

City Hall at Crown City to be Open Today

PASADENA, Dec. 26.—Formal opening of Pasadena's new $1,350,000 City Hall will take place tomorrow, when several thousand persons are expected to inspect the recently completed headquarters of municipal government here.

A large staff of employees will be on hand to conduct visitors through the building. A concert in the afternoon and another in the evening will be given by the Firemen's Band in the patio.

The City Hall, second building of the Civic Center, is located at Garfield avenue and Ramona street. The structure is of Mediterranean architecture, designed by Bakewell & Brown, San Francisco. Orndorff Construction Company of Los Angeles held the general building contract.

Osteopaths to Appeal to Court

LONG BEACH, Dec. 26.—Notice of intention to appeal from a recent Superior Court decision, barring osteopaths from any privileges in Community Hospital here, will be served on City Attorney Reid tomorrow by attorneys representing Long Beach osteopaths, it was said here today. The fight, waged by osteopaths and other practitioners not belonging to the "regular" school of medicine, for the right to share with the latter the uses and privileges of the local institution, but partly with public funds, was launched several months ago.

The suit launched by the osteopaths through Dr. Ellsworth Fleming, named as plaintiff, is against the City of Long Beach and the Community Hospital Association, to break a lease given to the association by the city.

BOARD TO AWARD SCHOOL CONTRACT

MONROVIA, Dec. 26.—The Monrovia-Arcadia-Duarte High School Board is expected to meet tomorrow evening and award contracts for erection of a new $500,000 high-school plant at Sixth and Orange avenues here.

Bids were received Tuesday night, last, from more than forty contractors and experts have been studying the mass of figures to determine the lowest bidders. It is estimated that the actual construction will cost $475,000 to $495,000. A bond issue of $625,000 was voted six months ago to cover cost of the buildings and equipment and purchase of a twenty-five-acre site.

AUTOMOBILE HITS TRAFFIC SIGNAL

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 26.—New automatic traffic signals are being installed at the busy intersections on Valley Boulevard. The signal at the Wilson avenue corner was placed in operation for the first time Saturday. It failed to function properly, but was adjusted and set to work Sunday afternoon. But it didn't have much of a chance to perform.

Apparently resenting another obstacle to continuous driving, an automobile late last night ran into the signal and toppled it over.

An Ocean Park motorist, Grace C. Evans, was the driver of the car, according to the Alhambra police.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

GLENDALE, Dec. 26.—Plans have been completed for the celebration of the eleventh anniversary of Rev. Clifford A. Cole as pastor of the Central Christian Church, at Colorado Boulevard and Louise street, when the annual meeting of the congregation is held on the 31st inst. in the church. Mr. Cole came to the Glendale church late in 1916 and has been instrumental in building up the congregation until today it ranks as one of the strongest in the city. At the same time the 160 persons who have become members of the church during the year will also be tendered a reception.

KNIGHTS CHRISTMAS FROLIC

TULARE, Dec. 26.—A record crowd of about 200 persons attended the annual Christmas party of the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters, held at Ryan Hall. Music, recitations, a turkey banquet and dancing offered diversion for the evening. The kiddies were delighted by the arrival of Santa Claus, who distributed toys and gifts from the beautifully decorated Christmas tree, which filled one end of the hall.

Burns Fatal to Garageman

PORTERVILLE, Dec. 26.—Eddie Spencer, 20 years of age, who was seriously burned early yesterday morning when an oil stove exploded at the Second-street storage garage, gutting the building and destroying some twenty-five automobiles and trucks, died in the night at Porterville Hospital. Data for the inquest has not been set. Spencer is survived by his mother, Mrs. Bert Marchand of this city.

This fire was the most serious in Porterville for a number of years, a series of gasoline explosions threatening the business district. Firemen were able to confine the blaze to the Second-street garage and the roof of the adjoining building. Loss is estimated at $50,000 or $60,000.

Win Prizes for Decorated Trees

PASADENA, Dec. 26.—Prize winners for the best decoration of living Christmas trees in the vicinity of Pasadena were announced today by Mrs. Albert Sherman Hoyt, on behalf of the Pasadena Garden Club, which sponsored the plan here this Christmas.

Tied for first were Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Speik, 1625 South Fair Oaks avenue, South Pasadena, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy McCabe, 1086 Prospect Terrace, Pasadena. Both had huge trees in front of their homes elaborately decorated and lighted. Second honors went to Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Kellogg, 145 East Mariposa street, Altadena. Tied for third were Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Brydon, 1725 Milan avenue, South Pasadena, and Mrs. E. F. Sherman, 1501 East California street.

DRAFT BOY SCOUTS FOR POLICE DUTY

ALHAMBRA, Dec. 26. — To help insure the smooth handling of traffic through this city on January 2, when thousands of motor cars are expected to pass on the way to and from the Tournament of Roses and the football game in Pasadena, the police department is seeking the help of Boy Scouts to aid in directing motorists.

Capt. W. J. Shull, head of the traffic bureau of the department, today issued a call asking all Scouts who wish to serve as traffic officers to register at once at police headquarters. In former years the Scouts have helped materially in the handling of traffic on New Year's Day.

INGERSOLL'S LAST WORDS

Robert G. Ingersoll died suddenly and did not talk about religion and the after life just before his death, as is popularly supposed. On the day he died he suffered an acute attack of indigestion and lay down to rest. About an hour later he arose and sat up in a chair to put on his shoes. Noticing that he looked pale, his wife offered to have his dinner brought to him. But he refused, saying, "Oh, no, I don't want to trouble you." Then Mrs. Ingersoll offered to give him some medicine, but this he also refused with a smile, saying, "I'm better now." Those were his last words. He sank down in his chair dead. This was July 21, 1899, at Dobbs Ferry, New York. After his death his enemies stated that he had recanted on his death bed. Several members of his family once signed a sworn statement to the contrary. Only eight days before he died he wrote a letter to C. J. Robbins, in which he restated his former belief as follows: "You are right in thinking that I have not changed. I still believe that all religions are based on falsehoods and mistakes. I still deny the existence of the supernatural, and I still say that real religion is usefulness."—[Pathfinder.

HIGH FEDERAL CHIEFS COMING

Government to Open Rabbit Experiment Station

State Officials Also to be Guests at Ceremony

Tentative Dedication Date Set for February

FONTANA, Dec. 26. — Plans for greeting executives of the Department of Agriculture of Washington, D. C., and California State officials for the formal opening of the new Federal rabbit experimental station being erected at Fontana have been completed by a committee of leading rabbit breeders. A meeting was called by D. Monroe Green, who came here recently from Washington to serve as director in charge of the station.

Mr. Green, in opening the meeting, said the opening of the station had been tentatively set for February 4, 1928, although that date may be changed to meet the convenience of Federal and State officials. Paul C. Redington, chief of the Bureau of Biological survey, Department of Agriculture, and well known in California, where he formerly resided, and Frank G. Ashbrook, in charge of the division of fur resources, are among the executives who will attend from Washington. Gov. C. C. Young and other State officials will be invited.

A committee, headed by Cornelius DeBakery, was named to take charge of arrangements in Fontana. It is proposed to have the ceremonies start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon with a formal inspection of the rabbit station by Federal and State officials and other visitors. Musical entertainment and brief addresses are to be given. The meeting then will adjourn to the Fontana Inn for dinner, which will be followed by a ball in the hotel lobby. Several hundred visitors are expected.

Mr. Green said today that every detail of the new station would be completed for the opening, icluding the landscaping, the administration building, already being finished and occupied by the director and his assistants, and other clerical help. The huge hutches on the ten-acre tract virtually are completed, as is the laboratory, and the station will be stocked with rabbits for the opening ceremony. One of the features of the opening will be a style show, in which models will wear garments made of the different kinds of rabbit fur.

J. W. Meyer has arrived from Washington and has assumed his duties as superintendent of the station. Living quarters for the director, home for the superintendent and his family, garages, feed buildings and other structures are included in the station, all being of Spanish design. The station is the first of its kind to be erected by the government.

Tragedy Dulls Day's Happiness

REDLANDS, Dec. 26.—The holiday season brought sadness to two families in Redlands. J. M. Blocher of 2314 Lemoine Place in Los Angeles, died as the result of injuries received in a cave-in while digging a storage place for honey at his ranch in Live-oak Canyon and Felipe Vasquez was killed almost instantly when a car he was driving hit another, turned over and smashed into a pepper tree on Orange street.

Blocher was working alone at his bee ranch and laid for several hours under a crushing weight of stone and dirt before Darwin Chrisinger, 1109 Gardena and Charles F. Edwards, 1116 Gardena, both of Long Beach, who were hunting over the hills south of Redlands, found him. The side of his head was crushed, it was found. When brought to the hospital he lived over night and died at the hospital this morning.

The car driven by Vasquez, who lives in East Highland, locked wheels with the automobile of Paul Wil

El señor Bliss noticia al ministerio que han sido aprehendidos varios miembros del comité pro Sacco y Vanzetti en Buenos Aires, y que la policía, está procurando echarles el guante a los demás.

Por supuesto, añade el embajador, que la policía no tiene aún datos concretos.

La Guardia Nacional Patrulla la Población de South Pittsburgh

SOUTH PITTSBURGH (Tennessee) Diciembre 26.—Como han sido muertos o inutilizados casi todos los guardianes del orden en el condado de Marian (Tennessee), los soldados de la Guardia Nacional dieron hoy servicio de policía en este lugar para impedir mayores desórdenes de los que ha habido, resultantes de una campaña a balazos librada anoche entre las autoridades de la ciudad y las del condado, y en la que hubo cinco muertos y cuatro heridos, uno de éstos mortalmente.

Aunque las autoridades militares han aseguarado que ya está dominada la situación hoy a última hora fueron destacados de Chattanooga a ésta veintisiete milicianos más para reforzar a los treinta y cinco hombres llamados al servicio anoche, después de que las dos facciones se habían tiroteado en las calles centrales. El ayudante general Boyd salió de Knoxville para tomar aquí el mando.

Los guardias nacionales recibieron orden del gobernador Horton de acudir a esta ciudad, en respuesta a la ansiosa solicitud de los hombres de negocios de aquí. Los Lindberghs Salen Mañana de Méjico

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Diciembre 26.—El coronel Lindbergh y su madre, la señora Evangeline Lindbergh, saldrán de Méjico, por la vía los aires, mañana Miércoles, por la mañana. El hijo volará rumbo a la ciudad de Guatemala, adonde piensa llegar tras unas nueve horas de vuelo; su respetable madre regresa a su casa de Detroit.

Después de haber pasado una tranquila Navidad con su mamá en la embajadá de los Estados Unidos, el coronel Lindbergh se dirigió hoy al aeródromo de Valbuena, y se divirtió allí manejando el aeroplano Ford. Subió en el avión con varios miembros de la embajada y sus señoras, y también les dio un paseo aéreo a Joaquín Amaro, ministro de la Guerra, y a su esposa.

Lindbergh espera poder emprender su viaje a Guatemala el miércoles, y tan luego como se aleje el Espíritu de San Luis, será sacado al aeródromo el monoplano Ford, y se le aparejará para volar en seguida hacia Detroit. La señora Lindbergh y sus acompañantes piensan detenerse en Tampico, San Antonio e Indianápolis, y cuentan con llegar la tarde del viernes próximo a Detroit.

Lindbergh hizo hoy en total cuatro vuelos diferentes a bordo del avión Ford, y en cada ocasion permaneció de diez a quince minutos en el espacio. Llevó consigo a la atmósfera, entre otras personas, a la señora Morrow, esposa del embajador yanqui, quien por primera vez en su vida subía en aeroplano. Como queda dicho, también la pareja Amaro se paseó por los aires con el héroe aviador.

Se Suspendió la Fiesta a Bordo de los Barcos de Guera

Mil jóvenes de Sudcalifornia, que habían sido invitados a concurrir a las reuniones de Navidad para huérfanos a bordo de los buques de guerra, sufrieron ayer cruel decepción, pues la lluvia hizo que se pospusieran todas las festividades anunciadas para ese día en la flota de batalla.

Solo unos cinco mil marineros y oficiales vinieron ayer a tierra con permiso de día feriado; la mayor parte del personal de la flota se quedó a bordo el Día de Navidad, pues el temporal y la mar picada hicieron imposible el tráfico con tierra. La mar estaba tan agitada y las olas tan altas en el fondeadero abierto, el día domingo, que barrían por sobre los alcázares de varios de los dreadnaughts allí anclados.

Sin embargo, a despecho del borrascoso temporal, la flota no tuvo sino un percánce de poca importancia que lamentar, el que una gasolinera del acorazado Virginia se desfondara al chocar contra el costado del barco.

El acorazado Colorado zarpó ayer mañana rumbo al astillero de Puget Sound, para ser sometido allí al recorrido anual.

"White Christmas" Arrives Behind Schedule

Terrific Snowstorm Follows Freeze and Rains

"Silver Thaw" Phenomenon Rare to Country

LONDON, Dec. 26. (AP)—England, after all, had her traditional "white" Christmas, but it came a day late, and added its discomforts to the recent strange vagaries of the weather.

Only a week ago the country was frostbound, and skaters were delightedly anticipating a pleasure only rarely enjoyed here. Then suddenly there came the remarkable phenomenon for England of a "silver thaw." This was late Wednesday, and it dashed the hopes of the skaters and brought in its train a wet and muggy Christmas.

Late Christmas evening, however, the rain turned to heavy snow, which continued throughout the night and covered the country to a depth of several inches. It is said to be the first Christmas snowstorm for twenty-one years, and in many parts reached the intensity of a blizzard.

All outdoor sports incident to Boxing Day were suspended and snow plows were used in the large cities to clear the streets for traffic, which even then was carried on with great difficulty. Today and tomorrow are national holidays, and there will be less inconvenience than there might otherwise have been, most of the people keeping to their homes.

The building was built in 1776 after the destruction of the original building on the site held by Montgomery's troops a year earlier.

I KNOW a man in this town who's wasting half his life through lack of system because he never has time to spend ten minutes a day learning it.

And a woman who's ruining a good home for the ame reason.

The man's business is running down and his bills up. The woman's family is running loose and her temper up.

Running accounts are the great convenience of modern life, but you must ride 'em with system when they get to be jumping accounts, or you'll do a Prince of Wales. And when you raise a child without system you raise the devil.

Both the man and the woman mentioned are dallying with the most weakening of habits, that of handing out excuses instead of what's due. Yet both are entirely too economical, doing without things they need to keep up with competition and respectability, and would have if they had system.

Yes, Palomino, in time there will be just two classes in this country—those who have system and those who must beg them for aid or jobs.

DIXIE PLAYERS ANNEX BATTLE

Breaks Give Visitors Safety and Touchdown

Six Inches of Water on Field as Foes Tangle

Bill Middlekauff Turns in Only Touchdown

BY BRAVEN DYER

Braving constant danger of death by drowning the All-Western and All-Southern football teams battled two long hours at Coliseum Lake yesterday afternoon, at the end of which time the Dixie boys popped their heads above the surface with an 8-to-0 victory clutched in their hands. Six inches of water covered the field in many spots and there were times when the athletes needed periscopes to see where they were going. Ten thousand fans turned out for the game.

There was little to choose between the two teams, except that the southerners were a bit stronger offensively, with Bounding Bill Spears and Roy Estes as chief ground gainers. However, there was no sustained attack by either, eleven yards and Spears was thrown for losses as often as he gained. Defensive play predominated and linemen were the real heroes of the game, ball carrying being virtually out of the question with the water standing in pools all over the field.

SCORE ON BREAKS

The Dixie team scored in the first and last quarters, getting a touchdown early in the game and winding up with a safety in the final stanza. Both tallies came as the result of breaks.

Barnhill recovered a blocked kick on the westerners' 11-yard line soon after the first quarter opened. Three plays failed to gain anything—in fact, the South had 13 yards to go when fourth down rolled around, so Spears essayed a pass, which was knocked down over the goal line by Harold Merritt, Pomona star, who was the outstanding defensive back on the field.

The westerners breathed a sigh of relief, but the next moment they were standing with their backs to the wall again, for Creson recovered a fumble and skidded to the 2-yard line with the pigskin before being stopped. Dodson promptly repaid the compliment by fumbling, but thought better of his action the next

All aboard for Pasadena. The West-South game has been played. The preps finish up at the Coliseum this afternoon. There is nothing left to worry about except next year's taxes and how to get a good seat to the Pittsburgh-Stanford game next Monday.

Fortunately this is a much simpler matter than in any season past. Closing up the open end of the Rose Bowl has given the cash customers 20,000 extra ducats to nibble at and insures a seating capacity of close to 70,000 for the annual New Year's classic. Last year's capacity has been sold out for nearly two weeks, but I understand there are approximately 15,000 pasteboards unsold which will doubtless go like hot cakes this week.

PANTHERS START ON LONG TREK

Pittsburgh Footballers on Way to Pasadena for Game With Stanford

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 26. (AP)—Feeling fit and confident, the football squad of the University of Pittsburgh tonight started its long trek to the Pacific Coast and the New Year's Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal. Leland Stanford, Jr., University, coached by Glenn (Pop) Warner, former Panther mentor, will carry the colors of the West into the battle January 2.

The eastern representatives, one of the foremost claimants to 1927 eastern grid honors, with only one scoreless tie to tarnish its record of victories, were twenty-four strong. Dr. John B. Sutherland, head coach; and Capt. Gibby Welch, all-American halfback, were in charge.

The first stop was scheduled for St. Louis, with others to follow at Dodge City, Kan.; Ashfork, Ariz., and Albuquerque, N. M. Arrival at Pasadena was timed for next Saturday. The homeward journey was mapped over a different route, by way of San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver and Chicago, with the Panthers arriving back at Pittsburgh on January 10.

West Point Tactics

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Predicting that prominent universities ultimately will "refuse all athletic contests with West Point," Representative Britten, Illinois, ranking Republican of the House Naval Committee, said today that Annapolis is not alone in its demand that the military academy adopt the three-year eligibility rule.

"Other foremost universities have protested to West Point without effect," he added.

Secretary Davis of the War Department "cannot fail to be impressed with the unreasonableness in West Point's insistence to ignore the rules governing sports in every other first-class university," Britten said in anticipating the War Secretary's appearance before his committee on his resolution to provide equal rules on athletic contests between the two academies.

The Illinois Representative said it was up to Secretary Davis to stop West Point from writing sarcastic letters to Annapolis. He declared the

Western Team Defeats East in San Francisco Grid Battle, 16-6

TEXAS PLAYERS STAR FOR WEST

Hunt and Mann Plain Poison to Eastern Aces

Bruce Caldwell Shows Well for Visitors

West Scores Two Touchdown and a Safety

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—In a great struggle between outstanding college football stars of the country, West trounced East, 16-6, today, to win the annual charity game before a throng of more than 37,000 persons.

BRUCE CALDWELL

It was a stunning upset, as the eastern squad, boasting some of the finest players developed on the sunrise side of the Rockies in years, was a heavy favorite to come through for victory.

Outplaying their opponents in the first two periods, the westerners seized three opportunities to score a pair of touchdowns and a safety. East came back to take the play away from its rival in the third period and pushed over a touchdown. A savage thrust in the closing quarter was halted when the western team's defense stiffened.

SCORE EARLY

Three minutes after start of the game, West crossed the opposing goal for a touchdown. Presnell, Nebraska, who started at right half for the East, fumbled and the West recovered on the 29-yard line. On the first play, Hunt, Texas Aggies, right half, spun around left end, shaking off half a dozen tacklers, and sank his cleats in scoring turf.

The West counted two more points when Amos, quarterback (Washington and Jefferson) missed a bad pass from center and was thrown behind the goal line. Just before the half ended, Mann (Southern Methodist,) substituting for Hunt, broke away to run 15 yards to a touchdown. Wilson, fullback, kicked both goals.

Caldwell (Yale) left halfback, scored the touchdown for the East after hard line plunges by the entire backfield had carried the ball deep into western territory. He ran 12 yards to score, but failed on the try for point when Wilson broke through to block the kick.

Among the heavy list of stars, two ball-luggers from Texas stood out. They were Joel Hunt of this year's Texas Aggies, and Gerald Mann, Southern Methodist, who substituted for Hunt in the western line-up. Both turned in brilliant games at right half, packing the ball for long runs, while Hunt's punting was a determining factor. Caldwell, Yale halfback, Joesting, Minnesota fullback, and Connor, who replaced Presnell, stood out for the East.

AERIAL ATTACK

The East carried on an aerial attack throughout the game, but completed only four passes out of nineteen attempted. In six tries, the West completed two passes. Both Caldwell (East) and Hunt (West) averaged arround 40 yards in punting. The easterners were penalized three times, once for 30 yards, when Weinstock (Western Maryland,) substitute tackle, was banished from the game, striking Hunt of the western team. The West was penalized three times for five yards each.

The line-up and summary:

poor condition, as he won today on his perfect trim. Goodsell collapsed immediately after congratulating his conqueror.

Barry announced that he would row a return match on the Thames, the date to be decided later.

The Englishman spurted into a lead of a length at the start, which he more than maintained for the first mile. In the second mile he jumped his lead to five lengths and the last stretch was a walkaway.

With Barry stroking 30 and Goodsell 33, the first third was finished in 8m. 37s., just 37s. slower than Goodsell's world record for that distance. After the first mile both cut down to 28 and averaged between 26 and 28 the rest of the way. After Barry had made sure of his lead he settled into a long, slow and powerful stroke.

The cold rain scarcely bothered the Englishman, as it was much like his familiar Thames, but it was far from favorable for the Australian.

OBSERVATIONS

By The Innocent Bystander
Bill Henry

I ANYONE is worried about the ability of the boys to play good football on a sloppy field when Bakersfield and Fullerton meet at the Coliseum today for the State championship, we'll tell 'em that it can be done and that, in any event, it's interesting. Those who braved threatening skies and stuck through occasional showers to see the South and the West perform yesterday will testify that football in the damp state is a lot of fun for the spectators whether it is for the players or not.

Those who saw the southerners wallop the westerners, largely because of the aggressiveness and alertness of a great line, will always be sad to think that they didn't have a nice dry field on which Bill Spears and Estes could have done their stuff. Both of these dashing gentlemen from Dixie displayed such ability to ramble in the muck that they inevitably must be really great stars on a dry field. Too bad we didn't see 'em under the best conditions.

If anybody should ask us about the stars of the game we'd mention first of all Bill Spears as an all-around back, with Estes and Middlekauff up alongside of him. Then in the line this pair of guards, Barnhill and Gooty Bowdoin were certainly all over the place. Creson stuck out as a very exceptional end and the all-around superiority of the southern team in the line was really the thing that carried the edge to the invaders.

For the westerners Robbins at end from Oregon State and Heiser of S. C. at guard and Bonamy of Washington at center were the outstanding individuals in the line, while in the backfield the genuine hero was Harold Merritt of Pomona with Oak Pendleton right behind him. These Southern Conference boys were a riot and Laraneta was the only big college player to deserve to be mentioned along with them.

We haven't any idea whether they propose to hold any more such games or not, but they didn't make much money yesterday. Better weather might have helped some. But it was a durned interesting game.

BAKERSFIELD, FULLERTON IN STATE TITLE GAME TODAY

games the Indians didn't get going until the last half, but once they got under way they battled right on to victory. It's a cinch that the Indians will be battling for all they're worth again today, and when they get their dander up they're tough babies to mingle with on a football field.

HAVE GREAT RECORD

The Drillers are coming here with the great record of having scored 340 points to 19 for their opponents in eleven games. Nearly all of Bakersfield's opponents have been snowed under by large scores and followers of Coach Griffith's eleven are convinced that no high-school eleven in the State can stop the Drillers. The Bakersfield bunch boasts plenty of beef, averaging around the 180-pound mark, and most of this heft is in the line. The Drillers will outweigh the Indians more than ten pounds to the man, but the Fullerton athletes have been up against heavier teams before.

Behind the bulky Bakersfield line the Drillers have a football flash in the person of Bernard "Frenchy" Uhalt, who has romped through and around everything eleven up against him this year. Uhalt does the punting, passing, place-kicking and most of the ground-gaining for the Drillers and Bakersfield rooters say he is the best back ever to represent the Blue and White, and Griffith has had some great ball-packers on his teams over the past nine years. If Fullerton can stop Uhalt the Indians will probably win, but no team has yet stopped Uhalt. But the Indians say that there is always a first time.

Sharing honors with Uhalt in the Bakersfield backfield is Bob Stockton, 175-pound fullback, who smacks a line as it should be smacked. When the Drillers need a yard or two, Mutz and Tyack are the other starting Bakersfield backs, but their duties are mostly blocking, clearing the way for Uhalt and Stockton.

ADAMS INDIANS' HOPE

Fullerton's chances of victory rest mostly on the shoulders of Oak Adams, brilliant quarterback. Adams is also a triple-threat man, and if he runs true to form he'll probably outshine Uhalt in the punting and passing departments of the game. Adams also carts the pigskin with no little ability and he'll give the Drillers plenty to worry about if he gets into the open. Adams is also one of the best safety men in prep ranks and generally when Oak can't outpunt the oppostion he gets the better of the exchanges by running the opposing team's punts back for about 10-yard averages.

Hershberger, "Chill" Hesmelhalch and Bell will probably be the other starting Fullerton backs. All three of them hit the line hard and if the Fullerton forwards can outcharge the Bakersfield line this trio will give the Drillers plenty of pounding. Once Hershberger, Hesmelhalch and Bell get the opposition backing up they are capable of putting on a sustained march down the field.

On the Fullerton line Frank Del Georgio, Bob Hesmelhalch, Chesley and Lay are demons on both defense and offense. Smith has his Indians well drilled in fundamentals.

DRILLERS WON EARLIER

Early in the season Bakersfield defeated Fullerton, 26 to 0, in a practice game, but the Indians aren't worried over that result because Smith held out some of his best players for an important league game to follow. Also, the Indians have been improving in rapid strides since they entered the play-off and they now have confidence in themselves, something they did not have when they first met Bakersfield. If anything, that early reversal should be beneficial, for it's apt to make the Drillers overconfident.

The game is scheduled to start at 2 o'clock and a large crowd of fans is expected to be on hand to watch the curtain rung down on high school football for the season.

Following are the probable starting line-ups:

Bakersfield		Fullerton
Farris	L.E.R.	McCormack
Muller	L.T.R.	Jenkins
Clark	L.G.R.	F. Del Georgio
Ware	C.	Chesley
Yarrick	R.T.L.	Lay
Boston	R.E.L.	Mahoney
Uhalt	Q.	Adams
Mutz	L.H.R.	Hershberger

Many Double for 'Tar Baby'

BOSTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Sam Langford, one time "Boston Tarbaby" of the prize ring, is beginning to think he has half a dozen "doubles" scattered around the country, said his employer, Jim Toland, Boston gymnasium owner, today.

Langford, who some time ago suffered a serious infection in his eye, was given a Christmas benefit in New York about a year ago and "since that time he's been reported blind, lame and feeble from all over the country," Toland asserted.

"As a matter of fact, he's going to work for me as a boxing instructor in my gymnasium," added Toland. "He had a gym of his own out in Cambridge, but it didn't go so well, I guess, and I can use him mighty well. The latest story on him came out of Palm Beach, Fla., a couple of days ago. They had him almost blind in a poor house with somebody trying to find him a pair of No. 13 shoes.

"As far as that goes, Sam has exceptionally small feet, and they are mighty light and shifty, too, as any old-time heavyweight might tell you. And he's far from blind."

NATURALS FEATURE PASADENA RING BILL

Naturals in the boxing game are far and few between, but Thursday night in the ten-round main event at the Pasadena Arena, two Crown City favorites will trade wallops. They are Kid Esau and Dud Eades, the boy who is called the second Lon Chaney, while Esau is a popular fighting Mexican newsboy who last year gave Santiago Zorilla two great battles. These boys meet at 130 pounds.

Young Lancho, another Pasadena favorite, will meet Bert Samson in the six-round semifinal at 145 pounds.

Three four-round bouts will be as follows: Bud Forrester vs. Tommy Cleary, 123 pounds; Ray Cardinas vs. Pat Patrick, 140 pounds; Al Sing vs. "Sunshine" Ellis, 112 pounds.

DIXIE PLAYERS ANNEX BATTLE

second and recovered the ball himself for a 1-yard loss. Estes gained two at center. Here the southern board of strategy decided to inject a dry man into the fray, the others being thoroughly soaked from head to foot. Bill Middlekauff, 200-pound fullback, was rushed on to the field, replacing Dodson. It was a cinch that the fresh player would take the ball and Hodgens of Oregon was waiting for him, stopping Middlekauff in his tracks. On the next play it was Middlekauff again and this time the Florida battering ram got the ball a few inches over the goal line for the lone touchdown of the game, skidding through his own right tackle. Spears missed the conversion attempt.

WEST IN A HOLE

Jim Tunney of Loyola put the West in a hole early in the fourth quarter and the safety followed soon after. He let the ball bound fifteen or twenty yards on one of Spears's punts and the pigskin rolled to the 6-yard line. At that you couldn't blame Tunney much for not picking the darn thing up for nearly every western man that got his hands on the ball promptly fumbled it.

Merritt, who had been doing some fine punting, went back to kick and most of the southern line poured through on him. The punt was blocked by Pickhard and Creson and rolled behind the goal line, where Manuel Laranets flopped on it for a safety and two points for the South.

The West had only one real chance to score and didn't get to first base on that. Red Brown let a pass from center slip through his legs and Al Schaving, who played a powerful game all day, recovered for the Pacific Coast boys on the South's 23-yard line. Two plays gained nothing and two passes brought a like amount of yardage. The South was offside on the last one, so the West got another chance, but this pass was also incomplete.

The western team, using Pop Warner's system, was at a terrible disadvantage, the soggy pigskin being no kind of an object to fool with on double and triple reverses. There were all kinds of fumbles and the South recovered most of 'em. Between halves Coaches Howard Jones, Ball Spaulding and Enoch Bagshaw gave their boys some new formations and in the second half the team used Washington plays, but these didn't produce much yardage either, due largely to the strength of the southern line.

DEPLORABLE CONDITIONS

It's too bad the game had to be played under such deplorable conditions. It was interesting, only for a short time though, to see the players skidding along shedding spray like motorboats. Whenever any of the boys wanted a drink they just laid down and gargled a little pure rain water.

Spears was a treat on a few gallops when he gained from ten to twenty yards. He runs just like Johnny Mack Brown, the former Alabama flash. A peculiar motion of the hips, and a long, bounding stride, would distinguish him from any other ball player in the world but Johnny Mack, and you couldn't mistake him for Brown because he's so much smaller than the ex-Alabama speedster.

There was plenty of sparkling play among the linemen. Al Schaving's tackling was deadly, as was that of Heiser, Bonamy and Jim Moser. Heiser ran some spectacular interference. Jones will miss that boy plenty next year. Kitty Creson is one of the best ends that ever appeared in the Coliseum. He was down on ever punt and the opposition generally respected him by refusing to catch the ball or even pick it up. Bowdoin smeared plenty of plays and Barnhill messed the opposition up in a scandalous manner.

Laranets refused to be outrun by Spears as the Vanderbilt will-o'-the-wisp tried to skirt his own right end, and Larry often brought Bounding Bill down for a loss. Gene Cock, the red-headed Washington back, played fine ball until hit on the head in the second half. Merritt's defensive work was splendid and his kicking as good as anybody's during the day. He also made one fine run.

TESREAU KNOCKED OUT

Louis Tesreau, giant Washington star, lasted about three plays, his knee buckling under him. But he came back for the closing stages of the game.

The southerners appeared to be a bit better team than their foes, but there was nothing tangible in the game to bear out that statement, the two scores coming on breaks. The Dixie boys play in rain and mud quite frequestly and as a result experienced less trouble handling the soggy pigskin than their foes. It was the first game ever played in the Coliseum under such conditions.

The line-ups:

Stanford Basketball Squad Tackles Los Angeles Athletic Club Five Here Tonight

CARDINAL TEAM IN LOCAL DEBUT

Hunk Hunt's Red Shirts to Play Mercury Cagers

Hot Contest Expected When Rival Quintets Mix

Hollywood Clubmen Take on Visitors Tomorrow

Hunk Hunt's Stanford cagers make their first appearance in the Southland tonight when they tackle the fast-stepping Los Angeles Athletic Club five on the Mercury Club floor. The Cardinal basketball team is a colorful aggregation and the Mercury officials expect a large gathering on hand tonight when the two squads take the floor. The Mercury boys have been working like beavers for the past week for the game, and they expect to give Stanford outfit a reception that will be warmer than their well-known red shirts.

The Cardinal team will remain in town until Thursday for a tussle with the Hollywood Athletic Club team, coached by Chuck Hunsaker, tomorrow night. These games with the local club should give the fans some idea as to how the Cardinals will stack up in the Pacific Coast title race. Hunt has a new squad this year and from all reports it is one of the best the Palo Alto Institution has turned out in some time.

Thanks to several members of the varsity football squad who kept in shape by playing basketball during the season kept the Cardinals from showing all of their stuff, but Hunt expects his squad to be in shape for tonight's game. This means that the Cardinals will be a tough bunch to lick as far as the fast and experienced teams such as Hollywood at the Los Angeles Athletic clubs boast this season.

Ted Bryant, the only veteran on the red shirt team, is in shape to start the Cardinals will have a forward on the floor who is always dangerous. "Red" Berg, captain and star guard on the freshmen team last year who has been on the injured list will be in the thick of the battle tonight. Billy Simkins, football ace, another boy who will be on deck tonight for the festivities. Simkins is recovering from a dislocated elbow and is eager to get into action. The Cardinals have shown improvement in every game this year and should be about right for the engagements here. Bill Clark will probably do the jumping at center for the Stanford five tonight. Hunt expects to use Biagini and Dobson at guard positions when he trots his starting line-up.

WARNER SYSTEM TO BE PITTED AGAINST ITSELF AT PASADENA

BY HOWARD JONES
(Football Coach University of Southern California)

Football fans of the Pacific Coast are looking forward to the game between Pittsburgh and Stanford January 2 with unusual interest. The New Year's Day classic at Pasadena always attracts a representative throng of fans as the game holds a unique spot in western football history.

HOWARD JONES

This year Stanford did not play in the south so naturally there are thousands of fans who want to see Pop Warner's team in action. There are thousands of others who have heard of Gibby Welch, the Pittsburgh all-American back. And there are still others who will go just because it is the Tournament of Roses game and because they know they will see a great football battle.

Coaches and grid critics of this section are interested in knowing what Pop Warner's team will do when thrown against a foe which employs the veteran mentor's own system as Pittsburgh does. It is my opinion that the' coming together of two teams using the same fundamental system will make for a tighter defensive game than would otherwise be the case. I say this because I believe the respective players should be pretty thoroughly schooled in their own style of attack through constant dummy scrimmage.

GAME OF INDIVIDUALS

It would seem, therefore, that individual brilliancy, rather than offensive strategy, will stand out more prominently on January 2. In this case the game may develop into a duel between Welch and Dick Hyland, Stanford's fleet halfback. I never saw Welch in action but his reputation reached this section long before Pittsburgh was announced as Stanford's foe.

Frank Birch, well-known football official, working in the Pittsburgh-Nebraska game, told me that Welch was responsible for his team's victory, turning in several long runs that left the Cornhuskers paralyzed.

I can't see how either Warner or Jock Sutherland can make any radical changes in their fundamental style of play in preparation for this game. Warner has claimed he doesn't care how much his foes know about his style of attack — that he is willing for them to have his plays ahead of time.

Using the single reverse he shoots his ball carrier inside of tackle. Switching to the double reverse he swings him outside.

When we played Stanford early in October Warner's team did not make much ground against us by use of the reverse. They gained most of their yardage on passes, thrown by Hoffman or Fleishhacker, the two fullbacks, and caught by the ends or halfbacks. In addition Hoffman gained considerable ground on straight bucks through the line. Later in the year Hoffman used the hidden ball trick to good advantage for gains, placing the pigskin on his hip and slipping through the line. Hoffman is a fine football player and Pittsburgh will find him a tough man to deal with.

INTEREST IN DEFENSES

What Pittsburgh will do on defense against Stanford and vice versa will be watched with interest here. No team in the Pacific Coast Conference other than Stanford employs Warner's style of attack.

There is no doubt but that a coach is helped materially in preparation for a tough game by personally scouting his foes. He can be much surer of what he is likely to face. It has been said of Warner that he has never lost an important game to an opponent which he has scouted in preparation for that particular encounter. The veteran Stanford coach scouted Alabama a year ago and although he didn't win, he didn't lose either, the score being 7 to 7.

Inasmuch as Warner saw Pittsburgh beat Penn State, 30 to 0, he at least knows what to expect at Pasadena next week. If the old rule holds true it is hard to see how Pitt can get better than an even break, but the Panthers can find some comfort in the knowledge that rules have to go by the boards sooner or later.

Right now it looks as if Pittsburgh will be favored when the two teams line up at the Rose Bowl. This will be just to Warner's liking as Pop always feels better if his team is rated the under dog. Last year most of the critics said Stanford should beat Alabama by four or five touchdowns at the lowest and the Stanford players got thinking about this so much that they didn't spend as much time crashing into their foes as they might have done had they not been made such overwhelming favorites.

RABBIT PUNCHES

played rain or shine here's hoping the Pitt and Stanford boys don't have a playing field like the one yesterday. What might have been a remarkable game at the Coliseum was spoiled by the lakes which covered the turf and the subsequent treacherous footing, plus a water-logged football which made pass-throwing and receiving and for that matter any kind of handling of the ball uncertain.

Nevertheless the boys of the South and the boys of the West demonstrated wonderful ability under distressing circumstances. Both teams had great lines which with the bad condition of the field made any sustained offense impossible. However, the boys of the South seemed able to hang onto the pill a little better, and their charging line was right on top of the ball whenever it was fumbled by the foe. It was due solely to the retrieving ability of the southern line that the South scored 8 points, a touchdown in the first quarter when a western fumble was recovered inside of the 5-yard line and a safety in the last period when a punt was blocked back of the goal line for two more digits. The southern line seemed to have a slight edge in spite of the great playing of Heiser, Sehoving and others of the western squad, and the fierceness of the charge of the Messrs. Pickhard, Bowdoin, et al., probably had a great deal to do with the many bobbles in the western backfield.

Without a doubt little Bill Spears on a dry field would have been just as great as they say he was all year, and even on a wet field he looked like a million. He runs like Johnny Mack Brown used to, with a high-gaited stride, wiggling his hips as he goes. Little Bill handled the ball better than anybody else, and threw passes that nobody else on the field could get away with.

His quick punt in the first quarter after recovering a bad pass which hit Referee Walter Eckersall was a pip. The immaculate Walter, by the way, wound up with nothing meticulous about his attire except his slick hair. He got soaked and mud begrimed just like the combatants.

This doesn't seem to be a particularly rainy season, so the downpour of the past few days probably insures nice weather for the Pasadena struggle. The rain kings have let the New Year's classic pretty much alone for the past few years, the California-W. and J. game of 1922 having been the last one that was played on a wet field.

That was the game to which the mighty booting of Archie Nisbet saved the day for California. The W. and J. boy found the muddy field much to their liking and it took the powerful toe of Nisbet to get the "Wonder Team" out of many a hole. Spears, by the way, displayed some great booting prowess yesterday, and his kicking was a reminder of Nisbet's great work.

The boys of the Southern California Conference ought to get together and give three cheers for their representatives who played with the western team. These athletes comported themselves in real big-league fashion.

Harold Merritt of Pomona was a riot at backing up the line, and Pendleton was just about as good as Spears at advancing the ball. Too bad these speed merchants did not have a dry field. Kimmell of Whittier and Beck of U. C. L. A. played well at end berths while they were in the game, and Currin of Loyola a nonconference school, distinguished himself by catching one of the few punts of the day. This was the last play of the game, and there was quite a battle when the whistle sounded the end of the fracas to see who should keep the ball. The officials or somebody should have awarded it to Currin because nobody else had caught a punt for a couple of hours. The ordinary procedure was to let the ball hit a puddle of water and stick.

I notice that George Godfrey is knocking himself out of pork and beans day by day. The heavyweights who will tackle the big black fellow are getting scarcer and scarcer, and by flattening Soldier Jones in fifty-five seconds yesterday George just made it a little tougher on himself.

This Jones guy by the way was Gene Tunney's opponent in a preliminary to the Dempsey-Carpentier at Boyle's Thirty Acres in 1921. Gene stopped him, and eventually climbed to the top of the ladder, but apparently the soldier is just one of the boys.

No fights at the Olympic tonight. Jack Doyle is following a custom he inaugurated at Vernon years ago of closing up during the holiday period, and there won't be a bout at the downtown arena until the night of January 3.

PALOS VERDES TOURNEY ON TAP FRIDAY

With the headliners in professional golf performing in a manner that has made their success in the Los Angeles classic a matter of daily discussion, the Palos Verdes $2500 open comes as a welcome opportunity for vindication.

Those familiar with the play of the favorites are confident that the predope will run true to form, basing their contention on the fact that many of the visitors are overgolfed and that the recent enforced layoff, due to weather conditions, will automatically bring back the vital spark of interest that is an essential in competitive action.

At all events, the Palos Verdes play will offer the first authentic line on the relative merits of the entries and their chances in the Wilshire finals.

Much depends, of course, upon the ability of the outsiders to negotiate the tricky hazards that mark the ocean-side layout and it is quite possible that this factor will play a big part in the competition between the home defenders and the visitors.

This semi-wind-up to the Los Angeles open will start this coming Friday with the finals of the Friday and Saturday play scheduled for the first day of the new year.

Practically all of the "big-time" pros have either officially entered or have given their word that they would check in with the starter on Friday. This in itself is assurance that a record turnout in entries and attendance may be expected.

Entries should be made today by those who have failed to send in their blanks to Donald K. Lawyer, chairman of the tournament, at 501 Lane Mortgage Building, Los Angeles, or to James J. Fiske, professional at the Palos Verdes Estates. Pairings and starting times for those who have entered will be published Thursday, and contestants are urged to make entry today before 5 p.m., if possible.

PADDY MULLINS IN OCEAN PARK DEBUT

Wearing the lightweight crown of the United States Navy, Paddy Mullins makes his fistic debut at Ocean Park tomorrow evening. He is carded to do battle in the eight-round main event with Tony Portillo, the toughest and roughest lightweight the bay district can produce. The lads will meet at 135 pounds.

Featherweights will whack and bang each other in the six-round semi-wind-up. They are Pat Sweeney, said to be the hardest-hitting feather on the Coast, and Freddy Albin, ferocious and dangerous Los Angeles lad. The six-round special spot will be staged by a pair of top-notch midgets. Sammy Rothstein and Louis Contreras, clever 114-pounders.

Nation's Fans to Tune in on New Year Tilt

(AP)—A play-by-play account of the football game between Stanford University and the University of Pittsburgh at Pasadena, Cal., January 2, will be broadcast through a nation-wide hook-up of fifty radio stations, the National Broadcasting Company announced today. Broncos Trip Honolulu Grids

HONOLULU, Dec. 26. (AP)—The University of Santa Clara overwhelmed the Honolulu town football team by a score of 26 to 7, here today. Capt. Cummings of the Saints, despite the warm weather, proved a great ground gainer. Cummings made three touchdowns and Terremere of the Saints, one. Falk of the Saints kicked two conversions successfully.

The Townies' only score was in the final period, when they carried the game into the air, forward passes permitting Oana to make a touchdown. Oana converted.

The first period was scoreless, although the Saints threatened the local goal twice, losing the ball on passing attacks. The Saints scored early in the second period when Terremere intercepted Kaakua's pass and made a touchdown. A dozen plays later the Townies fumbled. Koller of the Saints recovered and ran sixty yards before two Townies downed him. All three were exhausted by the run they were hardly able to arise. The period ended without further scoring.

The next Saints' score resulted in the third period from a blocked Townie punt, placing the ball in the Saints' possession on the 5-yard line. Cummings took the ball on a lateral pass and on the third down made a touchdown. The Saints got another break when the Townies fumbled on the 10-yard line. Chisholm of the Saints recovered.

In the fourth period, the Townies receiving the punt fumbled, Kerkhoff of the Saints recovered, permitting another drive toward the goal, Cummings making the touchdown. A Saints' fumble shortly afterward, permitted the Townies to start a passing attack which resulted in the Townies' score. The Townies started another series of passes but the game ended before another score could be made.

The Santa Clara team will play the University of Hawaii January 2.

Hollywooders Trim Richfield Hockeyites, 2-1

The Hollywood Millionaires upset the dope last night at the Palais De Glace by defeating the Richfield Oilers, leaders in the California Hockey League, by a 2-to-1 count. The Oilers scored the first blood in the opening session on a goal made by Coupes, but the Millionaires came back in the second session with two goals that spelled victory for the Hollywood team.

The game was a fast one from the opening whistle with both teams playing exceptionally clean hockey. Tom Carrigan starred for the Millionaires by scoring a point in the second period and by saving the Hollywood goal many times during the evening. Joe Headley scored the winning goal in the second period with a neat shot which he bounced into the Richfield net after skating through the Oiler team.

In the last session both teams displayed a marvelous game of defensive skating with the result that neither side could register a score. The victory last night put Hollywood in second place in the California Hockey League.

WINNIPEG HOCKEY TEAM IN TIE TILT

DULUTH (Minn.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Winnipeg and Duluth fought to a 2-2 tie in their opening game of the series tonight.

NEWSBOY BROWN PREPARES FOR M'COY

Newsboy Brown is back to his old haunts again, training at the Mainstreet gymnasium. He passed up his Christmas in order to accept the match here with Johnny McCoy at the Olympic a week from tonight to try to win the flyweight title.

There will be no show at the Olympic tonight while preparations are going ahead for the title match.

Brown is in splendid shape. He made 119 pounds for Izzy Schwartz a week ago and will make the same poundage for McCoy. Both Brown and McCoy will post forfeits to make the flyweight limit.

"I didn't think Schwarts beat me," says Brown, "but he got the decision and that's what counts. Some of the New York newspapers gave me an edge in eight of the fifteen rounds."

Brown says that New York really thinks that McCoy has the best right to La Barba's title because he won in a real tournament. The Newsboy hopes to do a lot of fighting in California. He wants to get a rematch with Schwartz here.

Fred Winsor had McCoy in the gymnasium both Sunday and yesterday. He knows that Johnny is going to meet a dangerous contender in Brown.

Brown has never made a bad fight in California. He fought La Barba twice and drew both times.

La Barba, who is here for the holidays, may help McCoy train. Besides publicly proclaiming him as his successor, he may work in the gymnasium a few days.

Joe Woods, who had a sore right hand when he beat Duke Horn at Culver City, is all right again. He believes he will score a knockout over Tommy Randolph when they meet in the semifinal to the McCoy-Brown title match.

In the Horn bout Woods showed the fans a great left hand, putting the Duke down three times with short lefts.

SEASONAL QUIET ON METAL MART

Price Situation Reported as Practically Unchanged

Zinc Continues Weakest Spot in Mining Industry

November Dividends Index of Improved Conditions

BY CHARLES F. WILLIS
(Editor, The Mining Journal, Phoenix.)

The usual preholiday quietness is featuring the metal market with copper nominal and bringing 13 7-8 cents to the producer, lead sticking at 6.50 and zinc weakening a little to 5.62—5.65. Sales are maintaining better than is usual at this season.

Mining dividends paid during November certainly show an improved condition of the mining industry, as they totaled $17,846,584 during this month, as against $15,216,322 in November of last year and $16,564,931 paid six months ago by the same companies. No names which have been on previous lists are missing from this month and several names are added.

The advance in the lead price to 6.50 was justified by an active market, which promptly slowed down after the advance. The lead buyers are purchasing much farther ahead than usual as a recent analysis showed about 29 per cent bought for immediate delivery within this month and 71 per cent for January delivery.

Production of crude lead in United States and Mexico during November amounted to 79,448 tons, against 80,065 tons in October and 76,601 tons in September. Production of refined lead amounted to 75,301 tons in November, against 73,695 tons in October and 71,345 tons in September. Stocks of refined lead at the end of November totaled 30,016 tons, against 32,258 tons at the end of October and 37,245 tons at the close of September.

Copper production during November from North and South America totaled 111,152 tons, or a daily rate of 3942 tons, as against a daily rate of 4030 for October and an average daily rate for the year of 4035. Part of the November rate was caused by an increase in scrap copper, which totaled 7117 tons during the month when it has generally been running between 3000 and 4000 tons monthly.

Exports during November totaled 32,013 tons, not quite as high as the three previous months, and domestic shipments totaled 59,264 tons. Thus the total shipments were some 7000 tons less than production and the surplus stocks of copper have increased from 83,883 on November 1 to 90,874 tons on the 1st inst. The refined surplus is about a three weeks' supply.

Surplus stocks of copper in British warehouses took another drop during November and now stand at 883 tons of refined metal and 12,176 tons of rough. In January, 1926, the stocks there totaled 62,773 tons and in the two-year period they have dropped 77 per cent. The reduction of this stock has eliminated the menace to the orderly marketing of copper by the Copper Exporters, Inc.,

KERN ICE PROPOSAL QUESTIONED

Commissioner Orders Hearing on Complaint from Bakersfield

Whether the demand for ice in Kern county is sufficiently large to permit the financing of an additional plant at Bakersfield through the sale of stock to the public, is expected to be determined at a hearing called by J. M. Friedlander, State Corporation Commissioner, for January 4. The hearing will be held in the commissioner's office in the Sun Finance Building, with Deputy Commissioner L. L. Hiler presiding.

Commissioner Friedlander ordered the hearing on a complaint lodged by J. B. Dunbar, president of the Bakersfield Ice and Storage Company, which said that a new company formed under the name of the Kern County Ice Company, misrepresented facts in its application for charter, which stated in part that an additional plant was needed in Kern county, that only two plants were operating and that the proposed plant would earn $30,000 a year.

The new company obtained a permit from the commissioner on the 1st inst. to dispose of $125,000 worth of stock to the general public, the money to be used for the purchase of land and equipment and the building of a plant. It has an authorized capitalization of $250,000 represented by 5000 preferred and 5000 shares of common stock. Officers of the new company are: G. W. Gurtner, president; O. P. Nicholson, secretary; Earl N. Ratley, Oscar C. Nelson and Roy Maggart, directors.

Life Insurance Sales Gain for Eleven Months

November sales of ordinary life insurance in the United States by reporting United States and Canadian companies, amounted to $682,688,000, showing a loss of about $30,000,000 over sales in November, 1926, it was announced yesterday by the Sales Research Bureau of Hartford, Ct.

New business during the first eleven months of this year increased 2 per cent over production of the same period last year. These figures represent the reports of eighty-one companies having in force 90 per cent of the total life insurance outstanding in the United States legal reserve companies and include the production of new paid-for ordinary insurance exclusive of revivals, increases, dividend additions, reinsurance from other companies, and group insurance.

Sales of ordinary life insurance in the Pacific Coast States in November are practically identical with those made in November, 1926. November sales in this section totaled $51,674,000, which is a loss of $208,000 over the sales of November, 1926. This section shows an average year-to-date increase of 4 per cent and a twelve-month gain of 4 per cent. Oregon leads the section with its monthly gain of 3 per cent. California leads with a 5 per cent gain for the eleven months just ended. California, Oregon and Washington, which comprise this section, show gains of 5, 2 and 1 per cent, respectively, for the twelve months ending November 30, over the preceding twelve months.

INSURANCE SHARES CLIMB

Investors Switching to New Group; Yields Low But Other Influences Compensate

BY EARLE E. CROWE

From bank stocks, the investors who persistently comb the field for new opportunities have hit upon the insurance company stocks, heretofore neglected except by the largest of the individual security buyers and the financial institutions. The investments return on these securities is low, but, other factors, as in bank stocks, fully compensate for this sacrifice.

In the New York market recently, particularly in over-the-counter trading, the insurance stocks have been bid up enthusiastically by the new buyers just becoming aware of the attractiveness of the insurance group. Such well-known companies as Aetna Life, Fidelity and Casualty, American Alliance, Springfield Fire and Marine, Hanover and others, have shared in the activity, and most of them registered gains of surprising size.

American Alliance is now selling around 500, Hanover, 380; Home, 668; Franklin, 410; Phoenix, 770, and so on. The level to which prices have ascended, infers, in view of the popularity of $25 par value shares in other forms of corporations, that the insurance companies may also seek to adopt capitalization split-ups.

COAST STOCKS ATTRACTIVE

On the Pacific Coast, the insurance stocks having the greatest attraction for investors are Pacific Mutual, Fireman's Fund and Home Fire and Marine. The first named, which maintains headquarters in Los Angeles, is the subject of rumors intimating that something of interest may develop shortly after the first of the year. Fireman's Fund is the favorite with the San Francisco investors.

The current stories affecting Pacific Mutual mention a possible split-up in the capital stock at the time of the coming annual meeting. The capital, it is reported, will be increased from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, the par value reduced and rights offered to buy new stock.

At the last annual meeting the Pacific Mutual directors increased the capitalization from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 and offered subscription rights for new stock at $200 a share in the ratio of 1 for 3. After the rights were announced, the stock soared to a peak price of 1105.

PAR REDUCED

Fireman's Fund has been liberal with subscription rights, coming in reflection of the growth of the insurance business on the Pacific Coast. In 1925 stockholders were permitted to buy two shares of new $25 par value stock for each three owned, while in 1919 the rights were issued on a share-for-share basis. The capital stock was split up in March, 1925.

Capital of the Home Fire and Marine was increased from $500,000 to $1,000,000 in 1922. The stock has a par value of $10.

Plenty of precedent exists for par value reductions by insurance companies, and it also appears that this class of company has been active in increasing the amount of outstanding shares recently. In the current month, Hanover Fire, Springfield Fire and Marine and Great American Insurance, all eastern companies, have taken action to increase the capitalization and reduce the par value.

To bona fide investors, the appeal in the insurance stocks is the great degree of care exercised in the investment of funds. Insurance company investments are well diversified and appreciate in value with the natural growth of business, which is reflected in the market price of the insurance shares.

Seaboard Head Optimistic on Year's Outlook

Greatly increased prosperity in almost every line of commercial activity for Southern California in 1928 was forecast yesterday by George L. Browning, president of the Seaboard National Bank, who returned from a visit to Oklahoma City, where he was formerly president of the Liberty National Bank, St. Louis and other sections of the Middle West.

"Business men of Southern California may look for a big year in 1928," said Mr. Browning. "In my talks with bankers throughout the Middle West I learned that many men of wealth and their families are planning to come here to establish permanent homes.

"It is also anticipated that because of the restoration of agricultural prosperity that Midwestern States will have the best business of any year in the last five, and this prosperity will bring a substantial contribution of wealth to the Pacific Coast."

Pacific States Elects Officers

A. E. Falch, former California State Building and Loan Commissioner, has been elected secretary of the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, it was announced yesterday by A. L. Schoenborn, vice-president in charge of the Los Angeles office of the company. Mr. Falch is president of the State Guaranty Corporation, which owns the guarantee capital stock of the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, of which he is also a director.

W. S. Pardy, who has been with the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company since its organization in 1889, and who has been secretary, has been elected vice-president, Mr. Schoenborn announced. Mr. Pardy, who is also a director of the Pacific States Savings and Loan Company, is a son of William Pardy, the founder of the company.

CXX.—TRUSTS

"I have just been told that I am a robber and a thief. In fact, I am to understand that I am everything despicable a self-respecting widow and mother can think of with propriety. The reason is that I am selling some land her late husband had in Florida and am most emphatically refusing to put any of the funds, left in trust with me, into more Florida land."

The foregoing was spoken by the trust officer of a large trust company in the summer of 1925, when the Florida gold rush was on and people were going wild in land speculation. The widow's late husband had established a trust by the terms of which the trust company was, upon his death, to take over a large part of his small fortune, including several lots in Florida, and manage it all for ten years. The trust was to pay the income to the widow.

In this instance, as in many others, it was a wise arrangement. The widow had been bitten by the Florida boom and was eager to bet the entire estate. She couldn't get at the money because her husband had left it entirely in care of the trust company. The trust company recognized the land boom as hysteria. Land booms recur periodically. There will be another one along some time in the near future, but exactly when and where it is impossible to foretell. When it comes it will ruin the same old course. Instead of joining the gold rush, the trust officer sold the widow's land at near the peak and put the money into sound securities.

The world knows today how well that judgment was justified. The widow perhaps is now grateful for the trust's increasing, instead of dissipating her inheritance. Perhaps she dislikes the trust officer for showing up her poor judgment. Anyway, this true incident illustrates one of the uses of the modern trust. It has many other applications. Men frequently establish living trusts to maintain an intact fund working for a given purpose and divorced from the risks of their other business activities. Investment trusts are another use, wherein securities are put in the trust for definite income. Almost always these trusts are intrusted to a trust company, which is the department store of finance. The advantage in this is that the corporation can possibly exist forever, while the individual trustee must surely die. Another advantage is that in the reputable trust company there is scarcely a shadow of a chance that dishonesty or incompetence may creep in.

THREE NEW ISSUES DUE ON MARKET

Offering This Week by Power Utility and Two Industrial Concerns

New financing for the Central States Power and Light Corporation and issues of common and preferred stock for Woodworth, Inc., and the Galesburg Coulter-Disc Company are scheduled for the market this week.

As a vehicle for refunding several bonds and preferred stock issues, the Central States Power and Light Corporation has been reorganized, permitting the consolidation of various subsidiary properties into one operating unit. All properties of the new group will be controlled by the Utilities Power and Light Corporation, which now owns and controls other public utility systems operating in thirteen States. After present financing the Central States company will have an authorized capitalization of $8,500,000 5 1-2 first mortgage and first lien gold bonds due 1953, and 30,000 $7 no par cumulative preferred and 30,000 no par common stock.

The offering today by Shields & Co., Inc., of 50,000 shares of convertible preference stock and 50,000 shares of common stock of Woodworth, Inc., calls attention to the remarkable development which has taken place in the cosmetics and perfumery industry during the past few years. The stock will be sold on a unit basis of one share of preferred and one share of common at $60 per unit. The preference stock is entitled to dividends at the rate of $2.50 per annum and is convertible share for share into common stock at any time on or before December 31, 1937.

Financing for the Galesburg Coulter-Disc Company, the largest manufacturer in America of the type of steel used in agricultural implements and automobile clutch discs, is expected to be made later in the week by George H. Burr & Co. The financing, which will take the form of 50,000 shares of common stock, will represent no new financing for the company, the stock having been acquired from private interests.

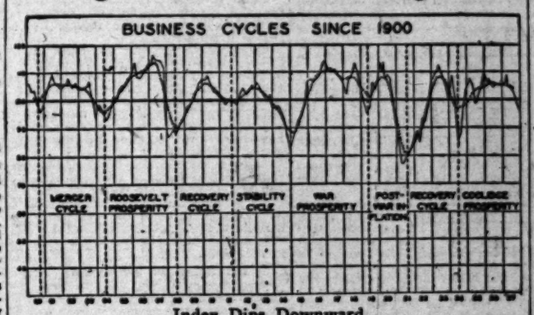
Coolidge Movement in Closing Phase



Index Dips Downward

The Coolidge prosperity cycle began in the summer of 1924, reached its peak late in 1926 and early in 1927, but in the last seven months the trend in business has been persistently downward.

In the chart the heavy line represents the actual flow of business as found by an index and the dotted line shows the general trend with the chart variations ironed out.

In the opinion of Col. Leonard P. Ayres, vice-president of the Cleveland Trust Company, who prepared the chart, we are in the last phase of the Coolidge prosperity cycle. His interpretation of the chart is that the worst has not yet come, but that soon business will be swinging up again.

NOVEMBER REVIEW OF TRADE OUT

Federal Bank Notes Gain in Retail Buying; Drop in Other Lines

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Industrial activity and [illegible] loadings declined further in November, while retail trade showed more than the usual seasonal increase, Federal Reserve Board statements to-day in a summation for the month.

The general level of wholesale commodity prices, after advancing for four months, the board said, remained virtually unchanged in October and November.

"Output of manufactures and minerals in November and the [illegible] index of production, after adjustments for customary seasonal variations," the statement continued, "fell below the 1923-25 average for the first time since 1924. The sharp decline was in the output of automobiles owing largely to preparations for production of new models. Iron and steel production also has declined further and in November to the lowest since 1924.

"In December, however, [illegible] for iron and steel increased. Textile mill activity was curtailed slightly in November, but continued at a higher level than in previous years. There were decreases in the production of coal, building materials, leather and shoes. Building contracts awarded showed seasonal declines in November and the first two weeks of December and were slightly smaller than in the corresponding period of last year."

ORGANIZED INVESTING

A definite service employing group judgment and vigilance as a practical aid to successful investing

NEARLY everyone realizes how difficult it is to give to investments the amount of attention they now require.

But, without constant attention, advantages are overlooked, mistakes often occur . . . results are never quite satisfactory. The investment field now offers so many choices . . . business, under modern conditions, is so complex, evolving so fast . . . that new problems continually arise.

Blair and Company for years has aided many of its clients to more satisfactory investment results. In such cases, the practice was made of furnishing, as events demanded, helpful information respecting all securities held by these clients. Counsel also was made available to assist in the sound balancing of holdings, and for the constant re-checking of the strategic position. The latter service gradually evolved upon that group of executives in the Blair organization who had long engaged in aiding the managements of large estates and institutional funds.

We have recently provided additional facilities for expediting the rendering of this distinctive service to a large number of investors. In Los Angeles, and in thirty other Blair offices, this service is now available, without charge, to security owners of large and small means, alike.

We have prepared an interesting booklet, ORGANIZED INVESTING, which describes, in detail, this definite service. It discusses the fundamentals of sound investment practice and their practical application. Without obligation, we shall be glad to mail a copy to you upon request.

OIL NEWS

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

The Pacific Eastern Production Company, drilling in the Union Avenue district south of Bakersfield, has picked up another good-looking oil zone at approximately 5000 feet, according to field reports. The report indicates that the zone comprises brown shale, with streaks of well-saturated oil sand, and there is a possibility that the drill may be stopped to make a test.

The Union-avenue well has been passing through successive strata of formations of shale and sand, in some of which oil is present in greater or less degree, for the past 700 feet. One or two tests have been made, but without success for various reasons. If the total thickness of the oil formations penetrated could be utilized, it is regarded as practically certain that the Union-avenue well would make a producer, but there have been some more doubtful looking formations mixed in with the favorable showings, which indicate that a considerable portion of the oil formations may have to be cased off.

The present showing is said to be the best that has been found for several hundred feet, and if it continues for any considerable depth, the crew will pull the tools out of the hole, and make a production test.

Gets Good Well

Another shallow producer has been completed in the Huntington Beach town-lot field, by the Western Drilling and Production Company, which has placed its No. 2 well on production. The new well is a typical shallow zone well, completed at about 2100 feet, and making about 150 barrels a day. It is the second well to be completed at Huntington Beach by this company.

Getty in New Field

J. Paul Getty, whose operations in the Alamitos Heights district of the Seal Beach field furnished that area with most of its early excitement, has entered the Signal Hill field, and is going after the deep production, which already has about 100 wells drilled for it, according to field reports.

Getting Oil Sands

The Associated Oil Company is down about 5150 feet in its Lloyd No. 102, the most easterly of its operations in the Ventura-avenue field of Ventura, and is getting good showings, according to field reports. The well has been going through a shale formation, with streaks of oil sand.

Starts Third Well

The Miller Oil Company is spudding in its third well for the shallow zone at Huntington Beach, according to field reports. This company has completed two wells in the 2100-foot zone at Huntington Beach already, and is getting about 250 barrels per day from the two wells.

Down 5100 Feet

Probably the most interesting well in the Huntington Beach area, from the standpoint of exploration is the Standard Oil Company's Thompson No. 8 well in the marshlands, southeast of the city. The well is down about 5125 feet, and is drilling ahead. So far as known, no important showings have been found, but Huntington Beach operators are interested in its progress because of its location, and its depth.

THE INVESTOR

Investment Trust Methods of Handling Income and Profits Shown in Study

BY WILLIAM RUSSELL WHITE

[Copyright, 1927, by New York Evening Post, Inc.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—A study of methods followed by investment trusts in treatment of earnings is interestingly presented in the pamphlet report recently issued by Atty.-Gen. Albert Ottinger. A point he stresses is the advisability of building up reserves.

"Many American investment trusts," he says, "have not given sufficient attention to the advisability of accumulating substantial reserves by the reinvestment of a proportion of their net income. There is no reason that we can see for management investment trusts to follow any different course in this matter of building up reserves and undivided profits than those which are universally followed by banks and trust companies.

"The building up of reserves by appropriations out of current income not only increases the stability of dividends and reduces fluctuations in market prices of issues, but it builds up on a compound interest basis the earning assets of the fund.

"Investment trusts of the 'fixed' type have made few, if any, provisions for building up reserves. Provisions are occasionally found to the effect that proceeds from sale of stock subscription rights, stock distributions and incidental profits from changing investments are to be held in the reserve fund, but provisions of this kind in 'fixed' trusts are the exception rather than the rule."

The Attorney-General's investigation covered methods adopted in treatment of earnings and profits. He discovered that as a rule profits were distributed as dividends more generously than in British trusts.

"With some exceptions," he says, "management investment trusts do not include as income market appreciation of securities held. Only realized profits from sale of securities are included in earnings. In investment trusts of the 'fixed' variety, any market appreciation or depreciation of securities held is immediately reflected in the price of the participating certificates. Book profits, therefore, enter into calculations of earnings.

"Occasional opinion is voiced in this country that realized profits on sale of investment securities by investment trusts ought to be segregated from ordinary income and retained in their entirety as a reserve for writing down value of security holdings, directly or indirectly. To a certain extent this is based upon the practice of managers of trust funds and administrators of estates.

"Management investment trusts, particularly those issuing bonds or debentures or preferred stocks, as well as common stocks, generally confine their earnings statements to the public to cash items from dividends, interest and realized profits on sale of securities. Calculations on any other basis are likely to be misleading because appreciation in market values at one time may be offset by corresponding depreciation at another."

and their work is now functioning well.

The total production of copper from North and South America for 1927 is going to exceed 1926 by probably 40,000 tons based upon the first eleven months' figures. The export shipments are already 53,000 tons in excess of 1926 and will be over 100,000 tons in excess when the December figures are entered. Domestic shipments for 1927 are going to figure about 80,000 tons short of the 1926 figures and about equal to those of 1925.

The copper production of Katanga is alarming some people for there has been a very rapid advance during the present year. During November Katanga produced 11,088 tons of copper, which is far in excess of any previous month and a big jump over February, 1927, when 6216 tons were produced. Katanga has been normally producing about 7500 tons of copper monthly and it is now striding into a great deal larger production at a time when the market cannot afford to have production materially increased.

Katanga is now producing at the rate of 132,000 tons annually, which gives some hint of what may be expected from that property when they complete their new railroad to the Coast and install the improved reduction equipment. Their principal handicap has been their ability to maintain sufficient labor and their present production would indicate that this is being improved.

The copper producers stand in a comfortable position with a good foreign demand, a small surplus and the consumers after the metal and, even though we may have a slack buying period following the weeks of heavy purchases it can have but little effect on the market. Most of the selling agencies are not quoting on metal delivered after February, although the consumers are generally buying metal farther ahead right now than they have done for many months.

Indications point to 14-cent copper throughout 1928 or possibly a better price, provided production for the next year does not exceed the output for 1927, in the belief of Gordon R. Campbell of Calumet, Mich., president of the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company.

While he saw no hope for a marked rise in the price of copper in the near future, Campbell declared the conditions in the red-metal industry were sound, and that Europe is buying American copper in increased quantities, with indications that exports to Europe will show a gradual and constant gain in future years as economic conditions of nations on that continent are restored to normal, following a long period of post-war deflation. Germany, he pointed out, has been the greatest consumer of American copper in the last two years, with England increasing its imports of the red metal as the stock of standard or rough copper has been reduced to normal. The increase in the European consumption of copper has practically offset the decrease in American consumption during the past year, he explained.

NOVEMBER SALES OF GENERAL MOTORS OFF

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Retail sales of motor cars by General Motors dealers in November were 80,539, compared with 153,833 in October and 101,729 in November, 1926. The smaller November figures reflected suspension caused by inventory taking which is usual at this time, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president, explained, as well as by reduced production incident to a change of models in the Chevrolet division. This factor in all probability also will influence December figures.

HARVEST OF RICE CROP NEARING END

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Approximately 8 per cent of the 1927 rice crop still is unharvested, the Rice Growers' Association of California reported today. Thus far the season's production has totaled 3,901,620 bags. It also is estimated that of the rice threshed, 1,000,000 bags will show more or less damage because of weather conditions prevailing at the time of threshing.

EXEMPT FROM ALL STATE AND FEDERAL INCOME TAXES

Character and Purpose of Bonds

THIS bond issue was authorized by the Board of Supervisors of San Diego County under the provisions of the Road District Improvement Act of 1907, to finance the installation of essential improvements — paving, sidewalks, curbs, ornamental lights, water pipes and a sanitary sewer system in that part of the county known as Rolando.

Security

Bonds constitute a blanket lien on all the property and buildings in the assessment district and rank ahead of all other liens including first mortgages — present or future. Subject to general taxes only.
The ratio of security of the bonds to the properties securing them is over three to one.

Location of District

Improvement District is located between East San Diego and La Mesa—just six miles from the metropolitan shopping district of San Diego. The District lies between two major highways—University Avenue and El Cajon Blvd.

Salient Facts

This issue of bonds constitutes the only bonded indebtedness against the property in the improvement district.
Rolando, the improved section, represents one of San Diego's most beautiful suburbs; its homes are the finest; it is less than 20 minutes run from down-town San Diego.

ANGLER TELLS TALE OF SHIRT

Fisherman Saved from Deep by Garment's Tail

Distress Signal Brings Aid to Buffeted Craft

Arrival of Steamer Regulus Ends Long Battle

Sumoning succor with his shirt-tail, J. C. Breneman, young San Francisco fisherman, today is recounting his experiences in the week-end storm at sea. He was picked up from his little fishing boat Saturday by Capt. M. Svenungsen on the Norwegian steamer Regulus and brought to San Pedro yesterday.

Breneman and his partner put out from San Francisco the middle of last week. They were fishing near Santa Cruz island when their gasoline ran shy and his partner went ashore for more. A stiff southwester developed and Breneman took the boat to sea to escape swamping.

For thirty-two hours he struggled with the wheel, holding the little craft to the wind. A lumber schooner passed within 200 yards of him but never offered aid. Capt. Svenungsen saw a shirt flying from the mast of the tossing craft and picked him up. The boat was towed for two hours, when it broke to pieces and tore away. Breneman was given a change of dry clothes and a big turkey dinner, and arrived here little worse for the experience.

LOCAL GLOBE TOUR TRAVEL SHOWS GAIN

Los Angeles's pre-eminence as a source for sea travelers is reaffirmed by the booking of forty-five passengers from here for the special cruise around the world on the big Red Star liner Belgenland, due here from New York the 29th inst. Twenty more will embark at San Francisco.

The vessel will have approximately 300 passengers on arrival that morning, all of whom will be taken on sight-seeing trips to Los Angeles before the ship departs north late in the afternoon. She will dock at berth No. 60, in the outer harbor, where she will take on fuel, water and miscellaneous provisions.

The passengers embarking here, thirty of whom were booked through the D. F. Robertson Travel Bureau, include from Los Angeles: Mrs. Adelaide Davidson, H. W. Dorsett, Miss S. E. Duncan, Mrs. L. E. Endicott, Miss Lydia L. Gates, Miss Kate Hanley, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Hinckley, Mrs. Virginia Hutchasen, Mr. and Mrs. Warren F. McGrath and Misses Margaret, Albertina and Charlotte McGrath; Mrs. Laura Morris, Jack Robinson, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Winnard, Mrs. Marie Ralston Winnard.

Also Vernon Goodwin, Mrs. Gertrude Nellis and Miss Nadine Nellis of Pasadena; Frank A. Woodin of Santa Monica, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil George of Beverly Hills, Miss Lena A. Smith, Mrs. Ward Seitz of Hollywood; Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless and Miss Preble Drake of Santa Monica; Miss B. H. Marrin of Venice and Mr. and Mrs. Everett A. Fyle of Pillmore.

Fish delivered to canners and wholesalers at Los Angeles Harbor during September totaled 12,733,189 pounds, according to figures just compiled by the Fish and Game Commission. This, while it was below the Mexican line led, yellowfin tuna with 2,897,698, skipjack with 7,509,281 and bluefin with 635,868. Sardines, the first of the season, totaled 530,206 pounds, while barracuda led the market fish with 274,357 pounds. Of the thirty varieties recorded, Pompano was last with only thirty-two pounds.

Mrs. P. M. Andreani, son, Mello, and daughter, Edith, arrived on the Italian motorship Leme yesterday from Italy, where they had been a year, in company with her sister, Miss Edith Bocci of San Francisco. They are the family of Attorney Andreani, newest member of the Los Angeles Harbor Commission. Mr. Andreani presented Capt. G. De Ryes with a writing set in appreciation of courtesies accorded his family during their homeward trip. Another passenger among the ten disembarking here is Pierre Picherie, a business broker of Nantes, France, who will study American business methods. He is a nephew of Capt. P. J. Picherie, president of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce.

The Dollar globe-circling liner President Wilson embarked thirty-five passengers and took on 2000 tons of Los Angeles freight before she depart yesterday at 3 p.m., on her next voyage around the world. Passengers included J. J. Black, Pasadena architect, wife and daughter; Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Wilson of Long Beach; Mrs. Lulu Clark of Flintridge; Mrs. A. W. Hendricks, and Miss Suzan Stephens of Los Angeles, and H. Worthington Wilson, en route from London to Shaighai. The cargo is the most ever taken from here on a globe-circling liner. Its comprises chiefly canned sardines, old newspapers and oil-well machinery.

Robert L. Hague, vice-president and general manager of the Standard Shipping Company at New York, is a guest of J. C. MacQuiddy, marine superintendent here for the Standard Oil Company of California. His company is the transporting subsidiuary for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. Hague visited one of his ships, the E. T. Bedford, drydocking for repairs at Bethlehem's local yards yesterday, and will inspect the port two days before continuing to San Francisco.

Ships arriving during the last week totaled 152 compared with 128 for the week previous. Lumber receipts took on a decided spurt, 37,362,000 board feet arriving, compared with 14,716,000 for the previous seven-day period. Oil shipments however, dropped to 1,526,526 barrels, contrasted with 2,189,297 last week. Of the 152 arrivals, passenger carriers numbered 47, cargo carriers, 41, oil tankers, 44, and lumber vessels 30.

Smart navigation prevented a possible crash in the main channel opposite Fifth street, San Pedro, at 3 p.m. yesterday, who two liners, a tanker and a cargo carrier bunched and passed precariously close to each other. The Dollar globe-girdling liner President Wilson was backing out of her berth, crosswise of the channel, en route to sea. Darting around her port went the Norwegian steamer Regulus, only to meet the tanker Washtenaw and the liner Avalon, inbound. Wrigley tugs swung the Dollar liner straight with the stream as the Avalon skirted her searboard side and the Washtenaw dodged the Regulus and passed on the President Wilson's port.

News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Burton Mann, general manager of the Panama Mail Line, returned here recently from a visit to Central America, predicts that 1928 will be one of the biggest years since war-time days in the shipping industry. This prediction, he said, applies particularly to the Central American countries. The steamers Santa Ana and Santa Theresa, which are operating on the Atlantic Coast, will be added to the fleet of the Panama Mail line between San Francisco and New York, he disclosed, giving the line a fleet of five passenger vessels in the intercoastal trade.

The S. Y. K. liner Shinyo Maru, bound from the Orient, and which was scheduled to arrive early today, arrived here late tonight and will not be able to pass quarantine until tomorrow. Heavy weather delayed the vessel. She has 319 passengers in all classes and included in her cargo is 1600 bales of raw Japanese silk, consigned to New York markets.

The liner Katrina Luckenbach of the Luckenbach Steamship Company arrived here today from the east coast, bound for Vancouver to load the first shipment of lumber at the new rate of $6.

SEATTLE, Dec. 26.—The Alaska Steamship Company's freighter Lakina, which stranded in Portier Pass, near Ladysmith, B. C., Saturday, returned to Seattle today to transfer her cargo to the freighter Denali. The transfer, which is to start tomorrow, will take about three days, the time which the Lakina will go into dry dock, and the Denali will complete her unfinished run to San Francisco and Southwestern Alaska. The Lakina's double bottom was damaged, a survey at Seattle showed.

While most of the vessels in the harbor lie today, two Nelson carriers were waiting cargo, the Sacred was loading lumber and general to sail Friday in the coastwise service, and the Yashaco is scheduled to sail for the Atlantic Saturday.

WHY THE DOCTOR CHANGED HIS MIND

As Grant's illness wore its way to the end the national anxiety grew more profound, the pressure upon the corps of reporters more intense; but the physicians simply could not comprehend that the public had any right to know more than their brief bulletins revealed—or concealed—with the result that battle for news developed between the doctors and the newspaper men.

But there came a time when the strife had to culminate. A midnight hurry call for Dr. Henry B. Sands, the surgeon in the case, brought on the climax the crisis.

In time Dr. Sands came out of the house. He undertook to make his way to a waiting hansom cab. The newspaper men formed a "blockading" line in front of him. The situation was too important to permit the ordinary rules to obtain.

"Why do you fellows bother me?" shouted the doctor, quite angrily, when he found his way barred. "I don't know any of you men, and I don't want to. Why do you harass me? Whom do you represent?"

Up spoke "Deacon" Ransome of the New York Tribune—a serious, quiet-mannered, positive character. He would readily have been accepted in clerical circles. This is why we called him "Deacon." The "Deacon" immediately saw his opportunity.

"Dr. Sands," he said, advancing close to the famous surgeon and looking him straight in the eye, "we represent 80,000,000 people, comprising the entire population of these United States, and every man, woman and child of them is deeply interested in this dying man, who saved a nation for them. We are here to get the news and give it to those 80,000,000 people. It is for you to say whether they are to have it."

Dr. Sands seemed stunned. He looked stunned. He looked back into Ransome's strong features, saw how earnest the man was, and then grew completely.

"Perhaps you are right," he said, and a kindlier expression swept over his brown. "Perhaps you are right," he repeated, "but I am not in charge. I'll go back and see Dr. Douglas. Between us we may be able to satisfy you."

Dr. Sands was as good as his word, and the full story of Gen. Grant's terrific struggle for life that April morning (1885) was promptly made known.—"As I Knew Them," by Henry L. Stoddard.

PROFESSORS DROP GAUDY ROBES

The professors at the Sorbonne, France's greatest university, have started the movement to simplify the display of gaudy gowns so common in all such institutions. The red, blue, purple and black gowns with brilliant facings and sometimes gold buttons are being toned down for one reason is an economic one. The new professor cannot keep up with the show. There are some rich professors—rich because they inherited money or married rich wives—but these are taking the lead in simplifying the elaborate costumes worn on state occasions in consideration of their poor brethren.—[Pathfinder.

PRATT SLATED AS COMMANDER

Popular Officer Soon to be Battle Fleet Head

News of Proposed Shift Distinct Surprise

To Steiguer to Have Charge of New York Navy Yard

Rear-Admiral William V. Pratt, now commanding the battleship divisions of the United States battle fleet, will succeed Admiral Louis R. Steiguer as commander-in-chief of the battle fleet, according to authoritative advices in the fleet yesterday. The transfer of the "big flag" will create a general shift in flag commands throughout the entire United States fleet.

Many of the shift in commanders will come as a distinct surprise, as Admiral De Steiguer has had command only since September, last. He will be relieved Admiral Richard H. Leigh.

Admiral De Steiguer, reverting to his permanent rank of rear-admiral, will go ashore to assume command of the New York Navy Yard and the Third Naval District, succeeding Rear-Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, who is retiring for age on February 28, 1928. The shift in commands may also place, therefore, in February or may be deferred until next July, upon the return of the battle fleet to Hawaii.

OTHER CHANGES

It also is expected that Admiral Pratt will be relieved as commander of the cruiser squadron by Rear-Admiral Louis M. Nulton, now superintendent of the United States Naval Academy and well known here as commander of Battleship Division 3 during 1925.

Rear-Admiral Nulton will be succeeded as commander by Rear-Admiral William V. Pratt, now director of fleet training, at Washington, and formerly commanding the battle fleet submarine force of California.

Rear-Admiral Jehu V. Chase, now in command of Battleship Division Four, is slated to assume command of the scouting fleet in the Pacific, with the rank of vice-admiral. He will succeed Vice-Admiral Henry J. Robertson, who will return to San Diego again to be commandant of the Eleventh Naval District, succeeding Rear-Admiral Joseph M. McKean, who retires for age on May 6.

Rear-Admiral Joseph M. Reeves, during his two-year tour as commander of the battle fleet aircraft squadrons this summer, is scheduled to be relieved by Rear-Admiral Frank B. Freyer, now commanding the naval station at Pensacola, Fla., and formerly captain of the U.S.S. Tennessee.

POPULAR OFFICER

It was said that Admiral Pratt is scheduled to become the next commander-in-chief was received yesterday with much satisfaction in battle-fleet circles, for he is one of the most popular of all flag officers in the Navy. Admiral Pratt likewise has an unusually distinguished service record, having had twenty-three years of active service at sea. He was a member of the United States Naval Academy class and served throughout the war with Spain.

During the World War he commanded the U.S.S. New York, flagship of the Sixth Battle Squadron of the British Grand Fleet in the North Sea, for which duty he was awarded the Distinguished Service Medals of the Army and Navy departments. Rear-Admiral Pratt commanded destroyer squadrons of the then Atlantic fleet and later, until 1925, was commander of Battleship Division One of the battle fleet.

Engineer Hunted After Vanishing From Alhambra

Police and deputies of the Sheriff's office last night were searching for Frank E. Boynton, 43 years of age, 512 North Alhambra street, West Alhambra, civil engineer who has not been seen since he left home to go to work in Los Angeles last Tuesday morning. Boynton had complained of severe headaches since being in an automobile accident a year ago, his wife said, and is believed to have fallen a victim to amnesia.

Boynton is described as being five feet ten and a half inches tall, weighing 174 pounds. His hair is listed in color and his hair is graying at the temples. He wore a blue serge suit and a light overcoat at the time of his disappearance. He walked with a cane because of a stiff limp. He carried identification papers and was proficient at drafting, that of a mechanical engineer.

Mrs. Boynton and son, Edward, 14, have had no word from him since his mysterious disappearance.

DR. LOVELL BACK FROM TRIP EAST

Automobile Tour Results in Encouraging Data on Dietetic Progress

Dr. Phillip M. Lovell, in charge of the Care of the Body Department of The Times, returned yesterday on a round-trip tour to New York by automobile.

"Californians forget there is such a thing as freezing weather, and I forgot to take an overcoat," said Dr. Lovell. "We made the journey to New York in five days and twelve hours, but took nine days for the return.

"From statistics gathered I learn that people of the Middle West are eating six times as much lettuce as they were consuming a year ago, and that the dietetic habit is taking a firm hold in the matter of fresh vegetables and dark bread consumption. I found this to be particularly true in smaller towns, where a year ago only white bread was being used.

"But, best of all, I learned that there is only one California, and I still won't have to buy an overcoat. My next round trip to New York by auto will be in July."

Father Dies on Christmas Day

Thomas R. Newton, 80 years of age, father of Representative Walter H. Newton of Minnesota and Willis T. Newton, teacher at Manual Arts High School here, died suddenly at his home in Minneapolis on Christmas Day, it was learned yesterday. He had been ill for several years and had been confined to his room during the last twelve months.

Besides those mentioned, Mr. Newton leaves a sister, Mrs. Belle Myrick, and another son, Hubert T. Newton, both of Minneapolis, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. Jack W. Donoway of Moline, Ill.

Emery Tells of Yosemite Influx

Roy Emery, former superintendent of hotels for Yosemite National Park, is a guest at the Alexandria, where he was for several years assistant manager.

"Heavy bookings have been made for the celebration of New Year's in the park, but the influx of visitors for Christmas was rather disappointing," he said. "The snow setting was wonderful and the fire fall at midnight Christmas Eve was perhaps the most beautiful display of that feature ever given."

FIVE HURT BY BLAST IN STORE HERE

Explosion Believed Due to Defective Gas Heater Also Wrecks Building

Three customers of a grocery store, the proprietor, and the manager of a drug store next door were slightly burned yesterday when an explosion, believed to have been caused by a defective gas heater, completely wrecked a one-story building at 220-22 Sunset Boulevard, scattering timbers and merchandise about in confusion.

The injured are Joe Y. Calderion, 1017 Bartlett street; Anita Lorenzano, 815½ North Bunker Hill avenue, and Victor Fernandez, 748 Cleveland street, the customers; S. Sto, proprietor of the store, and L. Storin, manager of the drug store. Damage is estimated at about $7000.

ACTRESS OF FILMS DIES FROM CRASH

Sister and Physician Injured in Accident as Auto Hits Street Car

Petita Ramirez, 25-year-old motion picture actress of 1251 Beechwood Drive, was fatally injured last night when the automobile in which she was riding collided with a street car on Highland avenue, near Santa Monica Boulevard. She died in the Dickey & Cass Hospital where she was taken after the accident without regaining consciousness.

Maida Ramirez, 30, sister of the dead girl, was painfully cut and bruised, and Dr. James H. Beggs, 56, 3200 West Sixth street, who was driving the machine, sustained a fractured arm, leg and lacerations and contusions. Both are at the Dickey & Cass infirmary, the surgeon not being in a condition to tell details of the mishap. Police believe, however, that the automobile skidded on the wet rails and got out of control. It was completely wrecked.

Apparently the victim of a hit-and-run driver, Murtagah K. Barrett, 72 years of age, of 3121 Hamilton Way, was found in the gutter at Sunset Boulevard and Hill street early yesterday, suffering from injuries for which he is unable to account.

Surgeons at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital found Barrett had sustained concussion of the brain and a possible skull fracture. He was given emergency treatment and removed to the White Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Nettie McDermott, 57 years of age, 1418 North Hudson avenue, died at the Sylvan Lodge Hospital last night as a result of injuries received in a traffic accident Christmas Eve.

Mrs. McDermott was struck down by an automobile driven by L. B. Abbott, 554 North Harvard Boulevard, at the intersection of Sunset Boulevard and North Hudson avenue, according to the Coroner's report.

IOWANS TO GATHER AT REUNION DINNER

AT LEAST THOUSAND EXPECTED AT CHAMBER AFFAIR TOMORROW

Iowans from all sections of Southern California are expected to attend the annual Admission Day reunion dinner which will be held at the Chamber of Commerce, 1159 South Broadway, tomorrow night. The reunion will open at 6 p.m. with a get-together hour in the corridors on the eighth floor of the building and the dinner will start at 7 p.m. President Merriam of the society will deliver the welcome address and Hon. Robert Brennan of the Santa Fe staff, will respond for the Des Moines table. Dr. Thomas P. Byrnes will speak for the Humboldt table and other groups will include the Clinton, Sioux City and Davenport tables.

All Iowans are invited to attend the dinner, reservations for which should be made with the secretary of the Iowa Association, C. H. Parsons, at the Rosslyn Hotel.

PREMIERE SUPERBRILLIANT

United Artists' Theater Opening Most Dazzling Event in Downtown Theatrical History

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Flourishing the standard of "the picture's the thing," the United Artists' Theater flung open its portals for the first time last night. The occasion was one of superbrilliance, with virtually all the first magnitude stars of filmdom present.

It was incidentally the most dazzling event of the type thus far celebrated in downtown Los Angeles, rivaling even the achievements of Hollywood, famous for the pageantry of its first evenings.

The United Artists' Theater is the fulfillment of the ambitions of an organization of the most strongly intrenched stars of the motion-picture business. Mary Pickford spoke of it in her dedication as the "culmination of dreams of years standing." It is to be one of twenty-two built in various cities of the country, among which might be named New York, Chicago, Washington, Detroit, San Francisco and others. It is the first of this chain.

ALMOST AN INNOVATION

The policy is definitely identified with the furthering of film entertainment. It is the plan to present no prologues, but to blend music and the films with stage pictures. In a day and age where pictures are occasionally nothing but an afterthought on a program of vaudeville this is almost an innovation.

The opening program disclosed the strict adherence to this purpose. It was preceded by a dedication ceremony, in which Mayor C. Cryer made the initial remarks, followed by John Barrymore, who then introduced Miss Pickford, who spoke the words of dedication.

Speeches and music for the theater were broadcast, a microphone being placed on the stage. Mr. Barrymore evoked considerable amusement when he referred to this as an "inverted cuspidor" describing it as rather terrifying to the speaker on this account. He referred to the United Artists Theater chain as an "imperial necklace," and paid a tribute to Joseph M. Schenck, president of the organization, and to Miss Pickford, describing her as "that delightful artist and much-beloved person."

Wild Waves Topple Alamitos Bay House Into Sea

Undermined by Waves

How storm's fury wrecked homes along Southland's coast line.

CLEAR SKIES LIKELY TODAY

Forecaster Predicts Rift in Rainstorm That Has Held City in Grip Over Holidays

A rift in the storm that for the past six days had been lashing the Pacific Coast from Alaska to the Mexican border, was seen locally in the weather forecase issued last night by Col. H. B. Hersey, in charge of the United States Weather Bureau.

"Clearing weather tonight with probably fair weather for tomorrow," was the prediction made last night.

Rainfall in Los Angeles for the twenty-four hours up to last night measured .72 of an inch, making a total of 1.11 inches of rain for the storm, and 5.75 inches for the season. At this time last year the season's total was 4.87 inches. Normal total at this time of year is 4.64 inches. Probably cooler weather for today is predicted.

The storm had its origin off the Alaskan coast last Tuesday and as it moved southward instead of drifting inland remained along the coast line and grew in fury. Yesterday high winds at the harbor were dying down.

DAMAGE CAUSED

High seas and high tides had caused damage to shipping and beach property up and down the coast. Even inland districts reported high winds with trees uprooted and signs blown down.

Long Beach received a severe lashing from the storm, high tides and running seas leaving wreckage in their wake. A house in the Alamitos Bay district was undermined by the tide and toppled into the sea. The owner had removed the furniture.

Heavy rainfall was reported from Long Beach, with 1.10 inches of rain since Saturday night, making the season's total 6.26 inches, as against 2.52 inches at this time last year.

Santa Monica Bay district got its share of the wind and rain. The precipitation for the storm in Santa Monica totaled 1.73 inches, 1.30 inches of which fell in the last twenty-four hours. The season's total there is 6.06 inches, with 4.34 inches the total at this time last year.

Foothill towns and communities report heavy rainfall and some wind. In the mountain areas the precipitation also was heavy, with some snowfall. Mt. Wilson reported snow and rain. Opid's Camp reported 2.3 inches of rain and some snow. The Edison intake in San Gabriel Canyon reported .70 of an inch of rain, and a cloudburst in one of the small canyons above the intake. Big Pine county recreation camp reported 4.5 inches of snow yesterday morning.

FISHING BOAT SUNK

From the harbor district come reports of a fishing boat sunk at sea after its lone passenger had been taken off, several yachts and fishing craft torn loose from their moorings and bumped each other or beached, but no serious damage or loss of life late last night.

Cargo and passenger carriers suffered severe disruption of schedules, nearly all of them en route here from the north being from twelve to twenty-four hours late. They include the liners Humboldt, Admiral Peoples, Admiral Sebree and the Yale; the tankers H. M. Storey, Cathwood and the Washtenaw, for which California Petroleum Corporation held some fears until the Marine Exchange was

YES, WEATHER IS UNUSUAL

First Rainy Christmas in Six Years Proof of Tale Told Strangers

Angelenos who felt impelled to tell their eastern friends that "this doesn't happen very often here," when they were forced by the Christmas rain to stay indoors, were perfectly right. It was the first rainy Christmas for Los Angeles in six years.

Rainfall records show that the last Christmas with rain was in 1921, when .49 inch fell here. It was the opening day of a storm, which, coming down from the north, ran the total rainfall for the month of December to 9.43 inches and made it the rainiest on record in Los Angeles, except the freak year of 1889, when a total of 15.80 inches of moisture, nearly half of that for the entire year, fell during the month.

SEA STORM HALTS NAVY YULE FETE

Thousand Youngsters Who Were to Have Visited on Battleships Disappointed

One thousand youngsters of Southern California who had been invited to attend the orphans' Christmas parties on the battleships were sorely disappointed yesterday when the rain forced the postponement of all programmed holiday celebrations of the battle fleet.

Five thousand officers and men of the fleet came ashore on holiday leave yesterday alone, most of them having been kept aboard Christmas Day by the gale and high seas which made traffic with the shore impossible. The seas and swells were so high in the open roadstead Sunday that they swept the quarterdecks of several of the anchored dreadnaughts.

Despite the boisterous weather, however, the fleet came through the gale with only one minor casualty, a motor boat of the U.S.S. West Virginia being stove in against the side of the ship.

The U.S.S. Colorado sailed yesterday morning for the Puget Sound navy yard for annual overhaul.

HAYMAKER TURNS TO PAYTAKER

Judge's Dignity Ruffled to Extent of $50 as Witness for Defendant in $7.50 Action Tries to Poke Clerk in Nose and Hits Own Pocketbook

Appearing as a defense witness for Samuel Tannebaum in a Small Claims Court action, Ernest Bergman found himself in contempt of court and adjudged guilty of disturbing Municipal Judge Bogue's peace of mind to the extent of $50.

Judge Bogue had rendered judgment in favor of the Oriental Rug Cleaning Company, 2552 West Pico street, against Tannebaum when the defendant's chief witness insisted in talking out of turn.

Clerk of the Court Gurhold reprimanded Bergman and sought to have him leave the courtroom when a hefty haymaker narrowly missed his features. His judicial dignity assailed, the clerk promptly seized Bergman by the neck and hurried him before the magistrate for punishment.

"You are fined $50 for contempt of court," Judge Bogue apprised the surprised Bergman.

"But, Your Honor," exclaimed Bergman, "I have only $15 on me. Will you take a check?"

Informed that the court does not accept checks in lieu of cash, Bergman spent a busy thirty-minute session at the telephone and succeeded in raising the necessary $35.

Bergman was a witness for Tannebaum, who had been sued by the rug company for $7.50 on a cleaning bill.

CHANGES URGED FOR RED CARS

Rail Board Engineer Offers Economy Proposals

Plan Submitted Before New Hearing on Rates

Santa Monica and Venice to Be Affected Most

Preparatory to the resumption of the hearing on the application of the Pacific Electric Railway for a readjustment of both local and interurban rates, Assistant Engineer McNaughton of the State Railroad Commission has prepared a report in which he recommends certain economies of operation and abandonment and changes in schedules on the Los Angeles, Venice and Santa Monica lines.

The report, which has just been made public, will be introduced as evidence when the Railroad Commission reopens the hearing here next month.

Due to seasonal travel, the use of separate summer and winter schedules on the Venice Short Line is recommended by the State engineer. Travel is sufficiently heavy during the summer months, according to the report, so that a fifteen-minute service between Los Angeles and Venice can be operated at little or no additional cost if every other train is a limited, stopping only at Culver City.

OTHER PROPOSALS

The winter travel, however, according to McNaughton's study, is not sufficiently heavy to support such a service and the present schedule is satisfactory except that an additional commuter train should be added during the late afternoon period.

The report recommends that trains on the Los Angeles-Sawtelle line be turned back at Broadway, Santa Monica, except during days of heavy travel in the summer. If adopted, this recommendation, according to McNaughton, will eliminate wasteful duplication of service along the beach between Venice and Santa Monica. He also recommends that additional trains be added for commuter travel during the morning and evening hours.

Improved service can be rendered if the cars on the Venice via Hollywood line be operated out of the Subway Terminal Building, instead of on the surface tracks as at present, according to the report, which states that this chance also would result in economies of operation.

ABANDONMENT URGED

Abondonment of service on the Santa Monica Air Line and the Venice-Santa Monica local lines is recommended in the report on the ground that these lines are operated at an annual loss of $13,000, and there seems to be no other remedy than discontinuance.

Travel on the Wilshire-Sunset motor coach line and the Pico Boulevard motor coach line has shown a heavy growth in the last year, and both these lines, the report states, are now paying their out-of-pocket cost of operation, although they are by no means as yet earning a return on the investment.

The new Beverly Boulevard-Castellamare motor coach line has not yet been in operation for a sufficient period to come to a conclusion as to whether the operation of the line is justified, according to McNaughton's summary.

COUPLE TO CELEBRATE

Sixty-second Wedding Anniversary of Angelenos to Be Observed

Friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Douglas, 1800 South Harvard Boulevard, will gather tomorrow at the home of the couple to congratulate them upon their sixty-second wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas were married in Galt, Ont., Can., December 28, 1865, and have been residents of Los Angeles since 1923. They have seven living children and twelve grandchildren. With the exception of one child and two grandchildren who live in Canada, all are expected to be present tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas are each 84 years of age.

'MERRY WIDOW' COMES BACK

Large Audience Gives Twenty-Year-Old Operetta Warm Welcome at Shrine Auditorium

BY MARQUIS BUSBY

Like an old and treasured friend, absent for many years, "The Merry Widow," Franz Lehar's loveliest operetta, came back to Los Angeles last night.

Frequently reunions with old friends are disappointing, but the big audience that came near packing the Shrine Auditorium to the roof greeted "The Merry Widow" warmly and enthusiastically. The reception last night augurs favorably for the coming ten weeks' season of light opera presented under the auspices of the Al Malaikah Temple. There was a trace of grand-opera brilliance to the premiere last night.

BEATING BACK TWENTY YEARS

Naturally the presentation of the Lehar work cannot help but evoke a train of reminiscences. It is nearly twenty years since "The Merry Widow" first was produced in this country, and in a sense it has had a vogue enjoyed by no other operetta. Doubtlessly there were many last night who saw instead of Charlot Woodruff and Louis Templeman as the present Sonia and Prince Danilo, the pair who originated the roles at the New Amsterdam Theater in 1908—Ethel Jackson, the first "merry widow," and Donald Brian.

Perhaps, as the years have rolled by, some of the situations and many of the lines of "The Merry Widow" have become outmoded. In fact, jokes that caused audiences to roar in the past do not seem so funny now. The music, however, is still fresh and bright. "The Merry Widow" is the glorification of the waltz, and Lehar's music is rhythmical, warm and glowing.

Of his many operas, Lehar has found far-reaching favor but twice. First with "The Merry Widow" and later with "The Count of Luxembourg." "Paganini," produced in New York two years ago, the latest work of the composer, was an all-starred venture. But "The Merry Widow" has carried his name through

Search Renewed for Young Girl

Police last night renewed their search for Frances Kaen, 12 years of age, who disappeared from her home, 3842 Woodlawn avenue, on the afternoon of Thursday, the 22nd inst., when neighbors notified Detective-Lieutenants Powell and Harrat that they had seen a girl answering the child's description getting into a green roadster.

Neighbors caught the last five numbers of the license plate, which they declared were 41,283, and police started an immediate check on license numbers in an effort to find the car. The girl left a note when she disappeared, saying that she couldn't get along with her stepfather, Max Kauffman, and that she was going to go live with her "husband."

JEWISH FUND COUNCIL HOLDS ENTERTAINMENT

Members of the Jewish National Fund Council assembled in Sinai Temple, Fourth street and New Hampshire avenue, last night for a banquet and program of entertainment lasting from 7 to 11 o'clock. G. J. Saylin, president of the council, presided. A number of speakers discussed the campaign to raise funds for the redemption of Palestine. Money raised by the council is used to buy ground there and prepare it for cultivation.

The Lancer

by Harry Carr

I DON'T see why anybody should have been surprised at the collapse of Hickman.

Why be surprised to find that the lion-hearted courage that enabled him to poke an automatic into the ribs of scared and unarmed drug clerks in outlying districts deserted him when he had to look into the business end of an automatic himself?

BOLD BAD MEN

You hear a great deal about desperate gun men who are going to "shoot it out" with the police, but usually they dislocate their shoulders in their hurry to stick their hands up the first time they look into the muzzle of a police gun.

There are very few cases on record where a gunman has had the courage to fight alone. Nearly all the policemen who have been killed have never had a fighting chance. They have fallen before the bullets of gangs of crooks who were shooting as they ran away.

GANG FIGHTS

Even in their own gang fights they are cowardly.

The killings of ill-smelling Cicero, Ill., are done by men who fire with machine guns as they go whirling by in automobiles.

KILLERS

This caste of young criminals who have grown up since the war are not fighters; they are killers.

All their crimes are committed against unarmed men.

CROOKS AS HEROES

Great harm has been done by young authors and dramatists who found a trill in trying to show the heroism of gangsters in the war.

The real heroes of the war were quite another type. Long experience with troops has shown that "bad men" soldiers have not shown a high type of courage. They are just as likely to show rotten cowardice as courage. You never can tell in which direction they will run.

REAL FIGHTING HEARTS

Civil War records show that one of the yellowest regiments in the Union army was made up of toughs from the Bowery. One of the best came from Harvard University.

One of the real heroes of the World War was Capt. Campbell—the great Canadian ace. He was simply shot to pieces; then was fastened together again to take his plane back to another fight.

Campbell now lives in Hollywood. He is gentle, shy and self-effacing.

Any gangster—looking at him—would think he was a safe victim.

LINDY

I don't believe that human ingenuity could manufacture any sort of peril that this amiable, shy young boy, Lindbergh, wouldn't face with a smile.

YELLOW

Boys like Hickman are rats—otherwise they wouldn't draw a loaded gun on unarmed men. To say nothing of cutting little children into pieces.

EXTERMINATE THEM

If the public would support the police in all criminal matters as they have supported them in the hunt for Hickman, there wouldn't be any crime left in six months.

TRAVELER BACK FROM PARADISE

Harvey Bissell and Party at Home Once More

Millionaire Laughs at Tale of Hardships Met

Plans Laid for Early Return to Eden of Pacific

Laughing at reports that he and his party had been wrecked at sea in his yacht, H. S. Bissell, wealthy resident of La Crescenta, returned with his family yesterday from a five months' cruise to the South Sea Islands.

"For a paradise on earth give me the islands in the South Seas—Tahiti and so on," said Mr. Bissell yesterday, speaking with unbounded enthusiasm of his experiences. "A trip down there is the most wonderful thing that I ever dreamed of and I'm going to go back down there and resume the cruise in a few months."

Mr. Bissell and his party, including his wife, his young daughter Dorothy and baby Ann, 7 months of age, together with Harold Ryereon and his bride, constituted the cruising party, besides the crew. They sailed from San Pedro on August 3, last, in Bissell's eighty-five-foot two-masted sailing yacht, the Wanderlust, formerly the Edris.

EXPLAINS RUMORS

Failure to receive word from the party for months after their departure gave hise to reports that the boat had been wrecked. These reports gave way later to other reports that although heavily damaged the Wanderlust had made Tahiti.

Bissell said that failure to get through two cables which he filed on one of the islands about a month after leaving here probably gave rise to reports that his party had been lost.

His boat, he said, proved to be fast and seaworthy. Just below the equator a heavy gust of wind came up suddenly one day and carried away the jib. The blow lasted only ten minutes or so and the jib was recovered, the rest of the journey to their first stopping place, Nukuhiva, an island which was reached twenty-eight days out of San Pedro, was without incident. In that long run south not a boat or a sail was seen.

RIDES OUT TYPHOON

The second bit of bad weather was encountered just as the yacht was nearing Tahiti, when a veritable cyclone blew up. The seas ran high, a heavy fog hung over the ocean and it rained so hard he could not see his hand before his face, Bissell said. The boat hove to and for five days and nights rode the storm.

"She certainly proved to be a seaworthy craft," Bissell said, "and we are proud of her. She was bouyant and rode giant waves like a cork. Time and again we felt that, with great mountains of water towering over us, the end had come. But our yacht just climbed up and over and rode right along."

The baby proved to be the best sailor aboard, Bissell said. Most of the time she slept in a square hammock which swung with the rolling of the ship—and the first peep heard out of her was when the boat made its first stop and the hammock stopped swinging.

EARTHLY PARADISE

Bissell could not give praise enough to the people of the islands—natives and white people alike.

"They simply overwhelm you with hospitality," he said. "When we got to Papeete, the Paris of the South Seas, the pilot came aboard in response to our signal and shook hands with us, told me I was H. S. Bissell, said he knew all about us and our party and proceeded to do everything in the world to make us comfortable and at home. Residents offered their homes for us to use if we wished, gave us dinners, entertained us—why, you never heard anything like the hospitality they showered us with.

"Even the natives—when we were cruising around the islands our boat would head into a bay and immediately the natives would be seen hurrying down to the beach with fruits and other food for us. A wonderful people, these natives, to behold and to listen to. You must approach them right and talk to them and they will do anything for you, even to singing and dancing their native dances. Their physique is remarkable."

PLANS TO RETURN

As for scenery—beautiful islands, volcanic or coral in structure, shooting up out of the sea thousands of feet in instances, with shelf-like shores, crystal-clear waters, now blue of the deepest hue, now green, inhabited by fish of shapes and colors that made the whole thing seem like a beautiful dream. Water so clear that Bissell counted every link on the anchor chain dropped in forty feet of water.

"It was so wonderful I left the boat down there and we will resume the cruise next summer and return here next Christmas," Bissell said.

There are 150 acres of forest to every 100 inhabitants in the Kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and slovenes, according to a recent estimate.

TROPIC HEAR ARCTIC APPEAL

Byrd's Message Sent to Eskimo of Frozen North Enjoyed By Indians of Peru

LIMA (Peru) Dec. 26. (AP)—A Christmas message to Eskimos in the frozen north was heard by radio listeners in this tropical land under the equator.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, through Station KDKA at Pittsburgh, had broadcast on a short wave an appeal for men skilled in driving sledge dogs and women who can sew fur garments.

The lightly clad Peruvian Indians use the llamas as their beast of burden, but there was no evidence that the special Arctic program was not equally enjoyed here.

Man Held for Robbery Now Faces Second Charge

Asserted Chicago Gunman in Expert Barlow's Net

Growing out of the complaint of a woman who charged him with stealing her purse containing $450 during a party, Nicholas Francisco, alias Richard La Salle, asserted Chicago gunman, was held for trial by Municipal Judge Baird on two felony charges.

Through finger-prints found on a safe stolen from the Josmo Theater in Glendale on the night of July 4, last, Francisco was identified as the man who burglarized the showhouse and later stole an automobile belonging to Ralph Elliott, an instructor at the Pacific Military Academy.

Questioned by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Holland, Elliott testified he was summoned by a citizen to go to Woodland avenue and Thirty-eighth street, where he found the automobile. The missing safe was concealed in the rear of the car.

Finger-print Expert Barlow, true to form, procured a copy of the fingerprints and saved them for future reference, being unable to identify them at the time because Francisco had no local police record.

Checking over the finger-prints of a suspect arrested on the 12th inst., charged with robbing Mrs. Barbara Dodge of $450 during a party at 1826 South Hope street, Barlow identified Francisco as the theater burglar.

On motion of Prosecutor Holland, Judge Baird ordered Francisco held on two charges, one of burglary and the other of grand theft, and fixed bail at $6000.

SOCIALIST ADDRESSES FILIPINOS

Speaker at Federation Banquet Raps Opponents of Island Independence

"You must disregard the doctrine that the Filipinos must be led up from some asserted infantile state to a glorified ability for self-government," Charles Edward Russell, Socialist, told the Filipino Federation of America last night at its banquet at the Biltmore. "You can learn self-government better from your own history and from your own selves than from any other people on earth.

"The Anglo-Saxons have no right to assume superiority over you. In fact, although I regret to admit it since I am an Anglo-Saxon myself, there are some points where they can learn from the Filipinos."

Clyde Tavenner, editor of the Philippine Republic, told the diners that although there is little chance for Filipino independence now, the Philippines should keep striving for it and not lose hope, as they are certain to gain independence eventually.

Tonight the federation will celebrate its second anniversary with a meeting of its national convention, which now is in session here at the Philharmonic Auditorium. Hilario C. Moncado, president of the organization, will make the opening address.

DEAD MAN SAID TO BE VICTIM OF MOONSHINE

Dan J. O'Connor, 50 years of age, was found dead in his home, 1339 East Fifty-first street, last night, apparently the victim of poisonous alcoholic beverages. His hand still clutched a jug containing about a pint of liquor when the body was discovered, police report. S. R. Adams, 1469 East Fifty-seventh street, and R. J. Brocknell, 2183 Paris Road, Long Beach, told Detective Lieutenants Hamilton and Duncan, who investigated, that they saw O'Connor Sunday and that he was intoxicated. He has two sisters who live in San Francisco and police are attempting to communicate with them. The body is at the County Morgue.

AMERICAN CIGARETTES BARRED

The new tariff law of Cuba has the effect of barring United States cigarettes from that country. It is provided in the law that cigarettes containing any substances or extracts besides tobacco may not be admitted. It was held that all United States cigarettes came under the ban, and many shipments accumulated at the custom houses.

enabled to obtain her position by radio. The Washtenaw was twenty-two hours late, en route from Seattle, making only six and seven knots hourly for two days. Practically all lumber schooners were listed as a full day late.

SEA RUNNING HIGH

The sea still was running to such an extent that communication between shore and the battle fleet practically was cut off yesterday morning, and the Italian motor liner Lama was instructed not to anchor in quarantine, but to come to her dock for boarding by the health and other Federal officials.

A dozen fishing boats in Fish Harbor tore loose from their moorings yesterday morning and jostled each other with only minor damage. So far, no fishing craft is unaccounted for, although many put back to port after extremely rough going.

The storm, however, has paralyzed sardine fishing for two or three days, just when the big runs were getting under way. Since Wednesday of last week more than 2000 tons daily had been brought to local canneries, practically the capacity of the latter.

From Bakersfield came reports of high wind blowing over Kern county for thirty-six hours without cessation, uprooting trees and not abating until an early hour yesterday morning. The Ridge Route in places was covered with snow.

San Diego reported 1.37 inches of rain, with the storm continuing. Imperial Valley also reported 1.36 inches of rain in the last twenty-four hours, with danger of damage to the lettuce crop.

Rainfall figures from mountain districts reported to the county flood control offices include Wildwood, in the Big Tujunga, 1.58; Switzer's Camp, 2.24 inches; Oakwilde, 1.43; Mt. Wilson, 12 inches of snow; Valley Forge, 2.26 inches with snow; Loomis ranch, 1.57; Robert's Camp, 1.52, and Coldbrook, .78 of an inch.

OCEAN GALE SENDS SEA WOLF TO DOOM

SANTA BARBARA, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—With clearing skies and a calming sea, Santa Barbara today surveyed damage estimated at more than $125,000 along its water front, resulting from a southeast wind which at times reached sixty miles an hour on Christmas Day.

In addition to a seventy-five-foot section of Stearns wharf, the only access to coastwise boats which tour this port, which was carried out when a huge barge crashed through the structure, the city enumerated the following craft among the storm victims:

The launch Sea Wolf, owned by Capt. Ira Eaton, which figured in a case in Federal court recently, when sixty-five cases of liquor were seized aboard the craft. Capt. Eaton was acquitted of a charge of conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act and his boat was released. The Sea Wolf was driven against the wharf at the height of the storm, and broke up and sank within ten minutes. Capt. Eaton attempted to get to the craft but the entrance to the wharf was carried out before he could reach the landing stages. The boat was valued at $15,000 and was insured.

CHINESE TRAIN CRICKETS

The sporting element in China has been training fighting crickets for hundreds of years. Huge sums are still bet on cricket fights and the owners of champion crickets are nationally known. In his booklet, "Cricket Champions of China," Dr. Berthold Laufer, famous sinologist of the Field Museum of Natural History, discloses the interesting methods used by the Chinese in training these scrapping insects. Even in ancient times the trainers prescribed strict diets for their battlers. The usual diet consists of a dish of rice mixed with fresh cucumbers, boiled chestnuts, lotus seeds and mosquitoes. Some of the owners and fanciers allow themselves to be bitten by mosquitoes, and when the mosquitoes are full of blood they are given to their favorite crickets.

The fighting crickets are kept in specially devised jars, which are made to serve as both summer and winter homes. The jars are furnished with tiny beds and water jars. The champion crickets are transported in finely wrought cages, some of which are filigree gold.—[Pathfinder.

NOISY NIGHTINGALE

The poets have the nightingale all wrong. He is the noisiest, most inconsiderate, most obstreperous and jaunty bird in the whole kingdom of birds. How John Keats managed to begin his "Ode to a Nightingale" with: "My heart aches, and a drowsy numbness pains my senses," is a mystery to anybody acquainted with the actual song. You hear the nightingale shouting: "What What? What, John? Heartaches and a drowsy numbness pains? tra-lala, tri-li-lily-lily-lily."

And why the Greeks said he, or she, was sobbing in a bush for a lost lover, again I don't know.

Because, in sober fact, the nightingale sings with a ringing, pinching vividness and a pristine assertiveness that makes a mere man stand still.

The nightingale is the most unsad thing in the world; even more unsad than the peacock full of gleam. He has nothing to be sad about. He feels perfect with life.—[H. D. Lawrence in Forum.

EX-GOVERNOR'S SON LOSES

Arthur G. Gage Faces Judgment of Court in Suit to Collect on $3277 Note

Arthur G. Gage, son of the late Gov. Gage of California, lost in a suit brought against him by Thomas F. Cantwell on a promissory note for $3277.50, under a judgment entered in Superior Judge Wilson's court.

The note, according to the testimony in the case, was given as security for the payment of the premium on $100,000 of life insurance taken out by Gage. Cantwell was agent for the company issuing the insurance and the payment of the premium depended on the result of drilling for oil by Gage in the Santa Fe Springs field.

If the first well drilled brought in less than 1000 barrels a day, according to the testimony, Gage was to be allowed to reduce the insurance to $50,000 and was to get a rebate on the premium. It was brought out that the well came in with less than 1000 barrels a day, but that Gage never sought a reduction of the insurance.

HOME ATTACHED

Cantwell obtained an attachment on the old Gage home place near Downey and brought suit to recover on the note. Mrs. Marie B. Gage, wife of the defendant, intervened in the suit to have the attachment released on the ground the premises composed her separate property. She said Gage deeded it to her in 1918. There was a defect in the deed and another was made in 1923. There was no evidence of consideration for the deed.

Testimony was that the assets were in her name and Gage's liabilities in his own name. Bank statements were produced to show that loans were obtained on the Gage home as their joint property. Gage admitted that he signed both his own and his wife's names to the statements.

HUSBAND SIGNED

Judge Wilson asked Mrs. Gage if her husband signed her name with her permission. If he didn't, the court held, it must be considered a forgery.

Counsel for Mrs. Gage stepped in and admitted that the signature of Mrs. Gage was signed by her husband with her consent.

The defense of Gage in the suit was that the agreement for reduction of the insurance was on the first well to come in with oil, which proved to be the third well drilled.

ACTOR TOSSES HOT DOGS

Young Film Artist Believes in Having Two Irons in Fire in Case of Ill Luck

Frank Marion, young motion picture actor, evidently has a great deal of faith in the hamburger and hot dog market. In addition to carrying on a successful film career the actor is going to open a string of hot dog stands, he announced yesterday.

And his hot-dog business is as much a hobby as it is a business, Marion admits. Like many other successful business men, Marion started figuratively on a shoestring. It was a hobby at first, and his hobby cost him $500 when he purchased a stand 'way out on Whittier Boulevard.

Business was good, so good, in fact, that he is going to expand with the opening of two more stands, one in Hollywood and a second in Culver City, making three in all, he said.

Incidentally, the young actor says there is an art to frying hot dogs and hamburgers, an art which he has not yet mastered. But he can, and does, wash dishes and perform odds and ends around his stand.

THAT RAINY DAY

"I wanted something to do between pictures, and there was nothing more enticing than being the owner of a successful hot-dog business," he said, smilingly. "So I bought out a place that was on the rocks and put it on its feet. Now I'm going to expand.

"In the film business one never knows what the future holds in store or when an accident or something unforeseen may deprive one of his screen ability. I heard that several people were cleaning up thousands of dollars selling hot dogs.

"I decided there was nothing to keep me from doing the same thing. I'm going to call my stands the 'Hi-Hat.' Much to my joy I have discovered that the hot-dog business is an interesting one. It will, at least, keep me out of mischief when I am idle, and keep bringing in a few dollars a day to feather my nest a little."

HE HAS PARTNER

Marion is not going into a bigger business with his eyes closed. He has associated with him Floyd Wise of Philadelphia, who was successful in such enterprises in that city. What's more, Marion doesn't connect his name with his stands to stir up business, so many Angelenos will be surprised to learn that he admittedly is a good dish washer, a good waiter, and can mix up a wicked cup of coffee.

The young actor graduated only a year ago from Loyola College, and is now taking a post-graduate course there. He was well known in school activities. During his younger years he played in many big productions in juvenile roles, and when a screen career loomed for him his mother insisted that he complete his college course first.

When he did Cecil B. De Mille, the producers, signed him for featured roles, and in the short period of his return to pictures he has appeared in two important De Mille productions.

IMMORTALS GET A "RISE"

France's forty immortals of the Academie Francaise are going to get a rise. Their income will be tripled. They have been getting 100 francs or about $4 a month for many years. They also had bonuses for attending sessions, which added, usually, another 50 francs to their salaries. Once upon a time when the franc was worth 20 cents the immortals made about $1 a day from their membership, but now it's just over 20 cents. As many of the scholarly old gentlemen are really poor, most of the academicians some time ago the reduced their own salaries to 83.33 francs a month and had the balance added to the allowances of their less fortunate fellows.—[Indianapolis News.

Passengers on seven liners leaving Southampton, Liverpool and Glasgow for America in one day recently numbered 7000, and their fares totaled nearly $1,250,000.

THE FOLK SCHOOL IN NORTH CAROLINA

Whether the folk schools of Denmark which have been attended at one time or another by a third of the adult rural population, offer a type of education well adapted to rural America and especially to the southern Appalachian Mountain region of Tennessee, is a question which an experiment started at Brasstown, N. C., may do much to answer.

The late John C. Campbell, who each year presided over the Southern Mountain Workers' Conference in Knoxville, had, after a quarter of a century of study and service in the southern mountains, reached the belief Danish ideas were applicable. His widow has established the John C. Campbell Folk School at Brasstown. Mrs. Campbell has been active in mountain work for years. She made a study of folk schools on a tour of Denmark.

The school which she has established is intended for young people from 18 to 30 years of age who are interested in continuing their education with only a brief interruption of their farm work. The aim is to help them preserve what is best in highland culture, develop their own native powers, and make country life better, more efficient and more interesting.

Three guests from across the sea were present when "the first mountain folk school" had its opening. They were Principal and Mrs. Jakob E. Lange of the Smallholders' school at Odense, and Holger Bennike of the Vestbirk Folk School.

One of the events at the school was the old folks' dinner. It was given by the Women's Community Club at Brasstown.

The old folks went over the mountains and were especially interested in the log-house museum. They examined puncheon floors, corded bells, reels and spinning wheels of olden days. After dinner cooked over the open fire, they sang old hymns and recalled the life of bygone years.

The school farm of some 180 acres is in charge of a young Danish farmer. It is a frank recognition of the economic problem of the southern mountain region, demonstration of new methods and which Mrs. Campbell hopes, will be a means of partial self-support for the school.

The Folk school's first session covers the months of December, January and February. There are no stated requirements "beyond a serious desire to learn and grow."—[Christian Science Monitor.

CARD PLAYING FOR PINS ONLY

The very early history of playing cards is lost in the remote antiquity, but it is certain that they were in use at Brefeld, in Switzerland, in 1377, and an equally authentic reference shows them to have been known at Viterbo in 1379. The treatise of Johannes Teutonicus dates 1377, speaks of cards as newly introduced and of unknown origin, and describes a pack of four suits of the familiar German pattern—king upper knave, lower knave, and ten to ace.

A few years later, however, cards and gambling became associated, so much so that the Synod of Langres in 1404 forbade their use. By 1423 the passion for card playing had become so great that St. Barnardine of Siena undertook a crusade against them with such effect that whole heaps of playing cards were brought out and publicly destroyed, as in Florence later under the preaching of Savonarola. Amadeus of Savoy in 1430 forbade card playing in any part of his dominions except by ladies for pins, and subsequently the prohibition became general.

HE'S FED UP ON JAIL, ANYWAY

Trusty Forgot His Breakfast When He Walked Out but He'll Get 110 in Cell Now

Forgetting his breakfast early on the morning of September 12, last, Arthur Nichols, 62-year-old farmer, forsook his duties as a trusty at the Wilshire station and hied to liberty, unmindful of a fifty-day sentence hanging over him for being a vagrant.

"Judge, I must have been in a terrible mental state to forget my breakfast, because I have never before let such an important event slip my mind," Nichols explained beamingly to Municipal Judge Wilson.

"You see, when I recalled that you had sentenced me to the City Jail for sixty days, and instead I was out perambulating around the country a free man, I felt a trifle ashamed, but still I was afraid to return to the station."

Judge Wilson pondered over the sad plight of the defendant. He sentenced Nichols to sixty days in the City Jail.

"Really, I should send you to San Quentin penitentiary for escaping from a penal institution, but I won't this time. By the time you have completed the present sixty-day sentence, together with fifty days held over from the first sentence, you will have a pretty fair fill of confinement," the magistrate said.

Nichols was arrested by Policeman Hays of the Wilshire station at Second and Main streets on the 19th inst., when he recognized him as the long-lost trusty.

LEADERS IN ART OPEN CAMPAIGN

Project Launched Here Has Nation-wide Scope

Best Works in Various Lines Will be Selected

Questionnaires to be Sent for Vote on Entries

Inauguration of a campaign to select America's foremost examples of art conducted under the auspices of the art jury of Palos Verdes Estates, assisted by a national advisory committee, is announced in the December issue of the American Magazine of Art.

Out of the art works recommended by means of questionnaires which will be sent out to experts and connoisseurs, ten will be selected from each of the fields of painting, sculpture, architecture and landscape architecture and named by the art jury as soon as possible after April 15, 1928, after members of the national advisory committee will have passed on the nominations.

The principal object of the inquiry is to provoke interest and discussion as to the relative merit of various objects of art and further the progress of art education authorized for the Palos Verdes art jury under the terms of its endowment.

STANDARDS SOUGHT

While no attempt will be made to set up a final exact word as to the greatest examples of art, the inquiry will seek to establish standards of value as evidenced by the vote received.

Only in the fields of portable paintings and portable sculpture will the art works be judged as wholly distinct and separate from their surroundings. Murals and fixed works of sculpture will be judged as a part of architecture or landscape design where they are a part of a larger composition. Here the arbitrary classifications will not be used as mutually exclusive. The supreme beauty of any work of art is the first consideration, whether it is the product exclusively of one branch of art or of two or more. In the latter case the classification would depend upon which branch of art appeared to have contributed most notably to its outstanding beauty. In distinguishing works of landscape art from works primarily of architecture or sculpture, the latter will be taken to mean a work of art where architectural and sculptural objects are felt to be parts of a larger composition which has outstanding beauty as a whole.

IDENTITY OF JUDGES

In considering architecture, sublimity, beauty, fitness and logic will be the dominant characteristics.

Members of the art jury are Myron Hunt, architect, president; David C. Allison, architect, vice-president; James F. Dawson, landscape architect; Robert D. Farquhar, architect; Jay Lawler, banker and executive, and Charles H. Cheney, city planner, secretary.

Associate members of the art jury are Frederick Law Olmsted, landscape architect; Ralph Holmes, painter; Clarence R. Howard, architect and city planner.

Members of the National Advisory Committee are Robert W. De Forest, New York City, president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art and president of the American Federation of Arts; Miss Leila Mechlin, Washington, D. C., editor, American Magazine of Art, and secretary of the American Federation of Arts; Dr. Edward Jackson Holes, Boston, Mass., director Museum of Fine Arts; Lorado Taft, sculptor, Chicago; Andrew Wright Crawford, secretary of the Philadelphia art jury and secretary of the City Parks Association and Fairmont Park Art Association; Frank A. Vanderlip, New York City, art patron, formerly president National City Bank; Irving K. Pond, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, New York University and Carnegie Foundation; Bernard Hoffman, Santa Barbara, president, Community Arts Association, and member Montecito Art Jury.

Although in his eighty-second year, Prof. James Bisckie has just climbed Mount Goble (9680 feet) and Snowell Peak (9210 feet.) the highest summit in England.

RALPH INCE LOSES AND WINS SUIT

Promissory Note Action Dismissed but Claim for Publicity Fee Upheld

Ralph Ince, motion-picture man and brother of the late Tom Ince, motion-picture producer, won on one cause of action and lost on another in the suit brought against him by Wid Gunning and Sig Schlager, publicity men.

In a judgment by Superior Judge Ambrose, who heard the case, Gunning lost the suit to recover on a note which promised the payment of $1000. Ince testified that Gunning promised to get him a job as director with a big studio when he first came to Hollywood, but Gunning testified that the money was in the same nature as a retainer received by a lawyer.

Gunning explained that he was an expert and adviser to studio directors, but Judge Ambrose failed to see in this any reason why Ince should give him $1000.

The second cause of action was on a publicity contract for six months at $500 a month, on which Ince had paid $700. The suit asked for the remainder. Ince asserted he got some publicity but that it had no value. The court held it was a contract for something, however, and gave judgment to Schlager and Gunning for $2300.

Another suit on a publicity contract at $150 a month by Gunning and Schlager against Ince, on which $750 is said to be due, is to be heard before Judge Ambrose today.

CHRISTMAS BANDIT ROBS TWO SAFES

Auto Dealers Lose Total of $1200 to Burglar Who Leaves Fingerprint Trail

Safes in the offices of two automobile dealers were cracked open Christmas night, apparently by the same burglar, and a total of approximately $1200 stolen, it was reported to police yesterday. In each case the intruder entered the offices by climbing to the roof and smashing through skylights, leaving numerous finger-prints, which detectives are using in an endeavor to identify him. Cold chisels and crowbars were used in breaking open the strong boxes.

W. R. Felix, Chevrolet dealer of 1057 South Olive street, lost a diamond ring valued at $800 and between $200 and $300 in cash.

C. B. Kerr, president of the Master Service Company, 811 South Whittier street, found that about $800 in bills had been removed from his safe.

Both losses are reported as covered by insurance.

WILD DOGS OF INDIA

The collection of the American Museum of Natural History of New York has just been augmented by the addition of three specimens of the wild dogs of the jungles of Northern India. These dogs are held in terror by the natives and it is said that their number is constantly increasing owing to the difficulty of hunting them. The wild dog is not, as a rule, much larger than an ordinary collie, but in his small body there is prodigious strength. In the chase he is untiring and when he himself is chased he finds his way through the jungle fastnesses where no human or other animal can follow. Of itself it would not be so terrible, but they never venture forth singly. They travel in large packs, often as many as forty, and even the terrible tiger is helpless when attacked by them. They get on the trail of some animal which means a meal to them and they will trail it for days until the hunted one is exhausted and then the wild dogs will make an attack from all sides. No animal, no matter how powerful, can withstand this mass attack. The museum's three specimens are considered a prize on account of the great difficulty of securing them.

DAD "GOAT" OF GIFT DELUGE

Christmas Swapping Will Start Today

YESTERDAY was the year's greatest get-acquainted day, with everyone getting acquainted with gifts from Santa Claus and dad trying to get acquainted with the keeper of the poorhouse, where he figures he must go, sooner or later, as a result of Christmas.

After all is said and done, however, it was a wonderful Christmas—owing to the fact that folks had all day yesterday in which to plan some sort of salvage out of useless gifts and to put in a full day undisturbed admiring gifts received that were really wanted.

Despite the long siege holiday, however, some knotty problems still remained unsolved—such as, what to do with that frightfully gaudy floor lamp and shade that Aunt Whosis sent from Muscaloosa and bearing a greeting card saying she would be here shortly to see how pretty it looks in the parlor? Or what to do with that colored portrait of Uncle Jake, made twenty years ago, which he himself brought over Christmas Eve and sweepingly told you he hated to part with, but thought it would hang fine on the wall in the "setting-room?"

Well, the Christmas shopping season being over, the old slogan of "do your Christmas swapping early" is now heard on every side. It is a practical suggestion and the big rush will be on in shops and stores today.

Twelve Hollywood children will appear at the film church fiesta to be given Friday night at the Tiffany-Stahl studios by St. Mary of the Angels Church as a benefit affair, according to the program just approved by Rev. Neal Dodd.

To take part in a revue during interludes between dances of the ball the little artists include Phil Cooper, Virginia Wiseman, Olga La Marr, Ella La Marr, Glenn Dennison Smith, Lurline Uller, Joy Garland, Aimes Menard, Donald Heyl, Myrtle Martin, Charlotte Shoupe and Delores Corrigan.

Included in the program are character readings, songs, instrumental specialties and an array of dances. Celebrities of the film colony are cooperating.

Eighty-odd contestants in the kiddies' screen opportunity competition are making the final drive in efforts to win the awards, which include studio work.

The purpose of the fiesta is to raise funds to pay off the mostgage on the church, known as "The Little Church Around the Corner in Hollywood."

SAYS WOMEN THINK MORE THAN MEN

Are men faster mentally than women? Yes. I don't think I ever met a man who didn't confess that he would not do a single stroke of work if circumstances were kind enough to let him idle.

The sex-emancipation of women began to climb toward its full strength twenty years ago. If mental laziness were the characteristic of the sex, that movement, even if begun by a few superwomen, never would have been carried to a triumphant conclusion.

In fact, not only the leaders, but the rank and file of this most portentous movement of modern times were so excessively active both mentally and physically that they made the men appear like plodding cart horses dazedly striving to keep up with thoroughbreds.

One of the chief accusations hurled at American women is their very restlessness. Quite aside from the millions who are out in the world supporting themselves and others, sharpening their brains daily on the whetstone of male opposition and jealousy, the average American woman is always after something she hasn't got, and if it is supposed that restlessness is caused by mental laziness, there is, in the vernacular of the day, "another guess coming."

One argument for the superior mental activity of women is that they know every weakness that men possess, while most of theirs go unsuspected. Now that women are beginning to disdain subterfuge and the subtle managing of men, the latter have little chance.

Men are the slaves of traditions—mental laziness again—and more conservative than women ever were during their long period of suppression. —[Gertrude Atherton in Harper's Bazaar.

HUGHES CHOOSES TO RUN

Charles Evans Hughes, former associate justice of the United States Supreme Court, is a grave man on nearly all occasions. But recently while in Washington he chose to ignore a traffic signal. He was nearly across the street when the full tide of capital traffic swept down on him and he ran for his life. As he sprinted, Hughes said: "I still can run!"—[Forbes Magazine.

PLANE GROOMED TO SEEK RECORD

Huge Monoplane Near Time for Endurance Test

Zenith Ship Held Largest of Its Kind Built

Flying Range Declared to Be 7000 Miles

Three former navy pilots will attempt to break the existing world record for sustained flight within the next few weeks after a final test has been made on their ship, the Zenith Albatross, largest parasol monoplane ever constructed. The plane now is in the process of being made ready for the test flight at the Zenith Corporation airfield, located near Midway City, west of Santa Ana.

The huge bird will try its new wings at the airport and then will be taken to North Island, San Diego, for final load tests before the projected flight is made.

DESIGNS HUGE PLANE

Charles F. Rocheville and Alvin M. Peterson, former airplane designers for the naval base at North Island, designed the Zenith Albatross. They, with W. L. Shields, also an ex-navy flyer, will pilot the ship on the attempt to shatter the endurance flight record. Several attempts are being made over the United States by aviators to remain in the air long enough to break the record now held by the German aviators Edzard and Risticz.

For four months the Zenith designers, with a crew of workmen, have been building the ship, for which a flying range of 7000 miles is claimed. Depending on the success of their sustained flight venture, the aviators may attempt to span the Pacific Ocean in one hop, they admitted. A flying range of 7000 miles is deemed sufficient to cross the Pacific.

PLENTY OF STORAGE

Tanks on the airplane have a capacity for 1300 gallons of gasoline, 400 of which are stored in the wings. The ship is equipped with three Fleeman Halake 140 horsepower engines. The wing spread is ninety feet, and the total wing surface is 1083 square feet. A special wing curve is designed especially for high lift. Conveniences in the way of radio equipment, sleeping bunks and other details have been incorporated in the construction.

NEW YORK JAG DEATHS NOW TOTAL THIRTEEN

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Nine deaths from alcoholism were reported today, making a total of thirteen deaths in New York City from that cause since last Friday. The quantity rather than the quality of the liquor imbibed by the victims is said to have caused their deaths. Hospitals reported no particular difference between these cases and those of others who died from alcoholism in former years at Christmas time.

Exports Trees to the World

In a very remote corner of Holland there is a section of the country that is given exclusively to the growing of trees and shrubs which are shipped to many parts of the world, the greater part coming to the United States. The land is especially adapted for this character of nursery work and the rhododendrons grown here are notably fine specimens. In one field alone there were 10,000 of these plants which were being grown especially for dealers in the United States. There are many other such fields, some being given over to the cultivation of ornamental trees.

After all this is a progressive age. Five telephone girls recently were received by the President, and not one of them was chewing gum.

A WISE CRACK

"The best way to disarm," said Lord Dewar in a recent speech, "is to build battleships by popular subscription." You said a big mouthful then, me lud.

AN ADDENDA

A well-known eastern educator told a local meeting the other day that pessimists do not make good teachers. And he might have added, "or good anything."

NO PARTY

"Are you giving a party?" asked Thompson.

"No," said Brown, as he stood quite aloof.

"Then why all those autos in front of your house?

I took them as pretty good proof."

"Oh, those cars—they belong to the tinners Who are up there repairing the roof."

LEGISLATORS IN ERROR

Innocent legislators down at Manila passed a bill they had intended to defeat. Just how this happened nobody knows, but in order to kill the measure the enlightened delegates asked acting Gov. Gilmore to veto it. The request, however, was refused. But the Governor was liberal enough with other vetoes. He refused his sanction to twenty-six out of 110 bills presented for his signature.

HAPPY HOSPITALS

Bright colors and cheerful decorative effects are prescribed for modern hospitals. The bleak, dreary and unbroken walls are no longer to be endured. Give the patient a pleasant pattern of wall paper to study and his progress toward health may be speeded. Hospitals do not have to be drab and oppressive temples of gloom. The atmosphere of anguish may be lifted to some degree. After all the hospital is an agency of comfort and cheer.

SMART WOMEN

A Boston fashion expert says that no smart woman can possibly get along with one cloak. They must have a fur for every occasion. Does he mean that the lady golfer should go forth in lynx or that sables are to be worn at night? In this connection it might be mentioned that the smart woman can wrap men about her dainty finger and give herself half a dozen changes. Wild animals hardly enjoy being skinned for the purpose of adorning beauty. Man is the exception.

HOSE AND THE GIRL

Less than one-half of 1 per cent of the working girls of New York whose earnings are $780 to $1600 a year wear cotton or wool hose. All the rest wear silk. This fact was determined by a recent survey conducted by the department of textiles and clothing of the New York University. And it wasn't more than a hundred years ago that silk stockings were the exclusive footwear of the social elite. Who says we are not legging it along on the pathway of progress?

RADIO ON TRIAL

Independent manufacturers have entered the Federal courts asking an injunction to end certain operations of the Radio Corporation of America, which, they charge, is violating sections of the Clayton and Sherman antitrust laws in its methods of tube distribution. The case as it unfolds before United States District Judge Morris in the Federal court at Wilmington, Del., will be followed closely by radio interests.

Without prejudice on the case in point, the radio fans of the country are certain to insist that there be nothing of trust control and domination in the American radio field. A real radio trust, if such a thing were possible, could wield a tremendous influence and though it is generally understood that the case at trial concerns trade conditions the abuse of a great radio monopoly could be most damaging.

On the other hand, the country has learned the undeniable value of strong corporations in extending development along given lines, among which the Radio Corporation of America must be highly rated. The old-time cry against a corporation based on opposition to power and energetic progress falls on deaf ears now. It takes great strength to carry big burdens. The country needs effective leading in the radio field, but, sanely and firmly, will object to abusive trust monopoly if ever and whenever it is found to threaten the public interest.

THE LOGICAL PLACE

Of all the cities contending for the Democratic national convention, expected to begin June 26, San Francisco has the most arguments in its favor, and California generally should get behind the Bay City and aid its efforts. San Francisco might have had the Republican national convention, but for the fact that President Coolidge's withdrawal made it desirable to place the convention near enough to Washington so that members of Congress and political leaders could reach the spot quickly. The Democratic convention is dated far enough after the expected adjournment of Congress to make distance no factor.

If climate alone were to be considered, California would win all the conventions, since it has the most comfortable summer weather of any spot in the United States. The Atlantic Seaboard and the Mid-West cities are all intolerably hot for such protracted gatherings as Democratic national conventions usually manage to be, and while there are comfortable localities they are unprovided with convention halls, and lack hotel accommodations.

But the meeting places of the national parties are not picked with comfort in mind alone. Campaign funds have to be considered, especially by the Bourbons, and if San Francisco stands ready, as reported, to bid $250,000 for the Democratic national convention, the offer seems as attractive as any the Democratic National Committee is likely to receive.

Only two other serious competitors of the coast city are likely to appear, it is indicated—Cleveland and Miami, Fla. Cleveland was in the market for the Republican convention, but is not especially enthusiastic, it is understood, for the Democratic, and probably would find difficulty in matching the San Francisco cash offer. Miami is also reported as being somewhat short of cash, is too far away from the center of population, too close to the booze supply in Cuba, and blasing hot at that time of year.

The eastern newspaper publishers who objected to San Francisco for the Republican convention will have their political staffs already half way across the continent at the close of the Kansas City gathering and will have little difficulty in sending them the rest of the way.

Clem Shaver, Democratic national chairman, sees the force of these arguments and is inclined to favor the Bay City. San Francisco, therefore, has an excellent chance of winning, and any aid she needs from this section of the State will be extended if called for.

VOICE OF PROPHECY

Every now and then some self-conscious prophet stands out of the herd and predicts the end of Fascism and Mussolini. There will be great changes in Italy and amid them all the domination of the present chief will disappear. A son of Nitti, the former Premier, has expressed himself along these lines—especially to Americans. But in the meantime the rule of Mussolini is becoming more fixed and arbitrary.

The Fascists say that they are developing a government in which quality is the striking note. They say that the French and American revolutions brought out the foolish and romantic notion that all men are free and equal and that they have a common right in representative government. They also inspired the clamor for free speech and equal suffrage—which have proved delusions to the public peace. The Fascists assert with apparent pride that they have fostered the most enlightened revolution of all time. They are going to give the vote only to those who have earned it and are worthy of it. They are going to have a legislature in which the candidates are picked by the grand council and who will virtually have no opposition. The press is subject to rigid regulation. Citizens are expected to work and not loaf. The men of value to the nation are those who produce and who serve their country with honor and zeal. Citizenship will be awarded for service and is not a common birthright.

These are some of the ideas advanced for outside consumption. Inside everybody must knuckle to Mussolini. There are critics, however, who say that the financial foundation of Fascism must collapse. The money of the country is in a bad way and underneath there is a great deal of suffering and discontent. There would probably be a dozen revolutions if Mussolini should chance to pass out of the picture. The Italians are volatile and temperamental.

BETTER REPRESENTATION

California will gain six Congressmen if the Fenn bill, which calls for the reapportionment of House members every ten years, is passed at this session. Hope for this is seen in the bill's strong backing. Incidentally Los Angeles will gain, along with several other cities, as it is calculated that the shift of rural population to urban centers since the 1910 census, upon which the present apportionment is based, will result, after redistricting, in an increase of more than fifty members by the cities at the expense of rural territory. Congress should have reapportioned representatives immediately after the 1920 census, but it failed to do so.

Southern California cities as well as other rapidly growing centers have been kept from substantial rights because the membership of the House did not truly reflect the distribution of population. This state of affairs cannot continue indefinitely if we are to preserve popular government in the United States.

As Republican House Leader Tilson says, if this problem of apportionment is not promptly and properly met we shall have in this country conditions akin to the "rotten borough" system which at one time prevailed in England. This comparison might almost be applied to California even now, while in Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, New Jersey and Washington it is as bad, according to statements made by the Representatives who are backing the bill.

FAIR PLAY

"Hey there!" an angry golfer yelled
To a tyro on the course,
"Your ball just struck my wife and felled
Her with its cursed force!"
"Too bad!" cried back the clumsy spert;
"But your wife stood right in line.
Still I'm not of the piker sort—
You can take a shot at mine."

MADE IN U.S.A.

Ninety per cent of the $300,000,000 worth of toys made for American children this year were manufactured in this country. Twenty years ago about the same percentage of them was made abroad. And we've only begun toying with the trade.

THE LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

YESTERDAY we established a record. We discovered the city jail without the aid of either a bootlegger or a traffic cop.

Housewives who complain that trusty cooks are rare should visit the jail. With the exception of the chef, all the cooks there are trusties.

It may not be the best hostelry in town, but it never lacks customers. It can accommodate 750 guests and generally has several hundred.

Leisure Class

If you imagine we have no leisure class in this country, visit the jail and learn. Last year nearly 10,000 of the great American leisure class were entertained there.

There were so many, in fact, that the booking sergeant didn't have time to write "gentleman of leisure" after the name of each, and so just put down the quaint abbreviation, "vag."

The leisure class and the alcoholically inspired are far ahead, in numbers, of all other classes of guests.

Made Men

Since visiting the jail we have ceased to yearn to be a "made man." In police parlance, a made man is one whose record is established. Through the efforts of Police Commissioner Thorpe, Los Angeles puts every arrested man suspected of real crime on the stage. As soon as the detectives report each morning, they assemble in a room before a stage, the house is darkened, the footlights flash up, the curtains are drawn, and the actors step forth. The records, pictures and fingerprints of every man who is "made" are sent to the Bureau of Criminal Records in Washington and the State bureau in Stockton. Once a man is "made" here he had better be good, or he will be remade and remade faster than a second-hand Ford, no matter where he goes.

Explained at Last

Jails are much easier to break into than to break out of, yet some funny things happen. Back in 1925 Bert Rider, a blind man, groped his way out of the Lincoln Heights jail and nobody discovered his absence until the next day. How this was possible never has been explained, but it is believed those who saw Rider groping mistook him for a new member of the detective force.

On the Other Hand

The Los Angeles police department claims a better record, per man, for arresting criminals than any other city in the country.

Experience Breeds Recklessness

Familiarity breeds contempt with motor cars as well as with that sort of people. Police department records for the last fiscal year show that only thirty-six of the 13,856 persons arrested in connection with traffic accidents had been driving less than six months, while 254 had been driving a year, 517 two years, 1828 from three to five years, and 3737 nine years or more. The longer they drive the faster they go. Maybe we'll have to revoke licenses as soon as the licensee has driven six months.

On the Whole

Some very pleasant men are connected with our city jail, but after a thorough inspection of it we couldn't even wait for New Year's to make some good resolutions.

Not a S-S-Sailor

Sir: Just to show you we Scotch can take a joke. Friend of mine took his typist out to lunch and chose a place where they serve a nice 35-cent plate special. Now she accuses him of spending money like a drunken S-S-S-Scotchman.—Angus MacKenna.

A FLIPFLOP

The head of the American Legion declared not long ago that he would conduct a referendum on prohibition among his comrades. He seemed to be of the opinion that the thing was put over while the boys were away from home on the battlefields of Europe.

So he started off with a roar from the East; but by the time he had passed through Ohio into Indiana, his enthusiasm for referendums petered out and he said he would leave it to the executive committee. He admitted that it was beyond his power to conduct such a test.

He turned a complete flipflop. The privates of the American Expeditionary Force must have gotten busy and he may have felt he had leaned against a buzz saw. Or he may have struck a stone wall in the sentiment he encountered; for the soldier boys are not all wet. Whatever else they are, they are tremendously patriotic and they stand for the Constitution. They evidently feel that private referendums are not the legal way to change the Constitution. The country can generally conclude that the referendum has already been taken in the complete backdown of the commander.

The Eighteenth Amendment did not go into effect until January 16, 1920. A considerable stretch of the imagination is required to have the world believe that any advantage was taken of the heroes of the big war. They helped to sober up the country.

When in New York or Boston, it is easy to think all the country is wet. Those little patches of Europe do not appreciate the psychology of America. The big pulse of the country beats in the center and great West.

The Central, Southern and Western States drained the alcohol off from the nation and they are still interested in maintaining the arid atmosphere. There is no great demand among real Americans to reclaim this Sahara Desert. The country went dry because the majority wanted it. It will take more than puny self-appointed referendums to change it.

RAILWAY VALUATIONS

The decision of the special Federal court in the celebrated St. Louis and O'Fallon Railway case has by no means finally settled the important question of railway valuation. It had been supposed prior to judgment in the suit, regarded as a test case in the valuation problem, that the decision would fix definitely a basis for the evaluation of railway properties under the Transportation Act. The three judges declared expressly, however, that the merits of evaluation plans are not passed upon in their decision. The subject was discussed by only one member of the court. He recorded the opinion that the court, in deciding a question touching upon "recaptured earnings," had reached its valuation in "the only way possible in a situation so difficult." He eliminated both "cost when constructed," and "present cost of reproduction new, less depreciation," and suggested that appraisers ought to consider "the average of known prices for both labor and materials over a fair term of years preceding and following the date of valuation."

The court declared that the rate-making basis was not considered in the court's deliberations. Thus the test case was not a test case at all as far as the great railway system of the country is concerned with a basis for rate-making under the Transportation Act. The railroads, allowed 5½ per cent on their valuation as a fair annual return, have contended that the valuation should be made on the basis of the cost of reproduction under existing conditions. The Interstate Commerce Commission has adopted the plan of evaluating on the basis of 1914 reproduction prices, qualified by subsequent property changes. The suit in point had to do with the one-half of earnings over 6 per cent which, under the recapture clause in the law, belong to the government. The court did not contribute in its judgment any precedent of definite value outside the issue of the suit.

Thus even if the Supreme Court affirms the decision of the lower court in this case, the affirmation will not suffice to settle the basis of valuation for rate-making purposes. Further action at law will be necessary to settle the problem, involving billions in valuations, and the final decision of the Supreme Court will be necessary to establish positively the gauge to be used in measuring the whole value of the railroads from year to year.

A GOVERNOR'S TROUBLES

Oklahoma's Governor is in a peck of trouble. He is charged "with being run by a woman." Plenty of precedents for such a condition might be pointed out by the asserted delinquent. But as to the other counts against him, among them incompetency and stuffing of pay rolls, one can offer no relevant suggestion, though perhaps the lady can do so.

THE QUEST OF FAME

By James J. Montague

In G. B. Shaw's far distant youth
He sought to earn renown
By searching out the naked truth
To scandalize the town.
He dealt with matters in the raw,
But failed to startle men,
For adolescent Mr. Shaw
Was clumsy with his pen.

But though his early work was spurned,
He did not pine the while,
But pegged away until he learned
A stark, dynamic style—
And then his work was widely read,
His plays began to draw,
While everywhere the people said:
"He's good, this fellow Shaw."

But still to his profound regret
The verbal bombs he hurled
At human foibles were as yet
Not heard around the world.
So, having an unflagging will
And being shrewdly wise,
He labored many years until
He'd learned to advertise.

If now he pens a single line
A billion people say,
"By golly, but that stuff was fine
That Shaw pulled yesterday."
And he is coining money in
A thousand different ways—
And doubtless mutters, with a grin,
That advertising pays!

The Weary and Heavy Laden

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I would like to interest your readers in the Midnight Mission at Second and Los Angeles streets. It is a real, live institution where they administer to the needs of both body and soul of the unfortunate, many of whom are victims of circumstances over which they had no control.

Feeding and caring for the needy is a great preventive of crime, and I question if there is another mission in the United States which is doing such a grand work as the Midnight Mission. I am not "throwing bouquets" at the leader, Brother Tom, but write this to interest and enthuse citizens in a good cause.

The past record of the Midnight Mission is worthy of the sympathy, prayers and financial support of every good citizen of this city. It is strictly nonsectarian.

Well Remembered

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 16.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I wish to mention an incident connected with Lindy's flight to Mexico that I consider very sweet and touching.

A little girl who always says her prayers every night is accustomed to end them, "And bless papa and mama and grandpa and auntie." On the night that Lindy was flying southward in the darkness, she added, "Please, God, bless Lindy and make him happy when he gets there. Amen."

(MRS.) ETTA BELL.

Nip It in the Bud

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Motorists are commencing to disregard the automatic stop signals in outlying districts. I have noted at least a dozen cases lately where drivers have failed to wait for the "Go" semaphore and bell.

For instance, the other day at Hollywood Junction a driver arrived at the corner just as the stop bell rang. He looked up at the red semaphore, glanced hastily around, watching for an officer, then seeing the coast clear, drove on. A half dozen cars behind him immediately followed like sheep, the last one disregarding a "No Left Turn" standard at that corner. Again at Western and Sunset I saw a similar violation, and a few minutes later another at Vermont and Sunset. These were not accidental cases, but deliberate in every instance.

Unless the police nip such poor sportsmanship in the bud instantly, the whole automatic signal system, which has been working so splendidly, will be in jeopardy!

Only careful watching will curb these poor sports and so I would like to make the following suggestion to the police: Give a motorcycle officer in plain clothes a roving commission. Let him watch at a different corner each morning and each afternoon, tagging all those who run under a stop signal. Violators will then never know whether they are being watched by an officer or not, and under the circumstances, you may be sure the signals will be obeyed.

JOHN C. RINEHART.

Cut Out the Repeater

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Parole and probation have failed. It has been glaringly proven, he who would forge a note, steal an automobile, hold up a cash register, would repeat these crimes times without number. Eighteen thousand murders is our country's quota, as against sixty-three in England in the same period, and I am an American since 1631. The great majority of our murderers and criminals are aged between 18 and 25 years. Shall we continue to excuse them because they are too young to know right from wrong? Are they insane or just mentally deranged? A thousand times NO. By those who have lived in most intimate contact with them, they are admittedly strikingly alert, keen, resourceful. When moral caliber is weak or lacking, education must needs give cunning to their heinous crimes. Our worst criminals have keenest minds. The dull, stupid and feeble-minded are not connected with our blood-curdling atrocities committed against life and liberty.

Failure in several occupations, lacking in thoroughness, industry and ambition of the right sort, the parasite must live by the sweat of somebody's brow. He scoffs at officers, laughs at the law, defies man; he has seen the same vile thing done, and the perpetrators live. Why should we not keep a record, complete, of every first crime from youth? Let us demand of our judges that the limit of the law be given instead of the minimum. With the proper course pursued in this and all following cases, our epidemic of thievery, thugging, murder, can be ended as quickly as it came. Thousands of cutthroats, crooks from the underworld are awaiting with keen interest the outcome of this disgraceful affair, while their natural activities are abated. Would it be any wonder if honest, hard-working citizens felt a burning desire to take the law in their own hands?

BURGLARY AIDS

Samuel Warner Hudson, 28 years of age, a negro, arrested by the Newark (N. J.) police as a burglar, gave away some of his trade secrets. He said the easiest man to rob is the man who snores. "I time my footsteps with his snores, so they cannot be heard, even if I step on a squeaky board." And Hudson said he avoided detection on one occasion, when a woman walked past him in her darkened home, by closing his eyes to conceal the whites, thus "harmonizing with the dark background."

SNAILS A LA CARTE

BY EVELYN McDOWELL

There was no question about it. The matter must be attended to at once. Here we had been in Paris for months without eating a snail; without even seeing one. We couldn't go back to America and confess our failure to make the acquaintance of such a highly esteemed member of the Gallic aristocracy.

Young Leslie, who had read in a French cook-book the manner of preparing snails for the table, enlightened our minds on the subject.

"They catch them in the vineyards," he said, "so they'll know they're clean. They dump them into boiling water and cook 'em till they're good and dead. Then they dig the snail out of the shell and remove certain parts of the carcass. After that they season them, stuff them back into the shells, and fry 'em."

It seemed that they might be safe for American consumption, and so next day we sallied over to the Boul' Miche', where Bernice had spotted a not-too-dear restaurant. We looked over the menu card. It quoted the price of snails "le 6." Apparently that was the regulation number to be eaten at a meal.

The waiter took our order for "escargots" without blinking. "Will you have a dozen for each person?" he asked.

"But, no. A half-dozen will be enough." We felt sure of this, though we were quite ignorant as to the dimensions of this delicacy so dear to the French palate.

The waiter laid at each place a wee two-tined fork and a peculiar species of slender-armed curved tongs. Time was allowed us to conjecture on the manner of using the latter. Then the waiter, returning, set before each of us a silver platter. In the surface of the platter were six hollows, and in each of these little nests cuddled a brown snail shell. Perhaps they were no larger than is considered good form for snails to grow, but to us they seemed huge. We eyed them speculatively, not to say apprehensively.

"I wish I had taken some lessons in the etiquette of eating snails," I murmured.

Occupants of adjacent tables began to watch us with interest. We were the only Americans in the room, and it was perfectly obvious that this was our very first introduction to the esculent shell-dwellers.

Bernice ended the period of suspense by bravely grasping a snail between the prongs of her tongs. It deftly skidded out from under and took a hop, skip and jump across the table, leaving a wake of brown spots on the cloth. The man at the next table added a loud guffaw to our more discreet laughter.

Embarrassed, but game, Bernice tried again, though somewhat less confidently. The contrary little creature turned over, as if to hide the entrance to its domicile.

"I'm going to throw etiquette to the winds and hold the thing with my fingers," announced Bernice decisively.

It was more amenable that way, and she thrust her tiny fork into the opening of the spiral and brought forth a dark-gray curled-up morsel just the size for a small mouthful. Leslie and I held our breath as she inserted it between her lips, and then we waited for the verdict.

After an interval of solemn deliberation, "It isn't very bad," she said.

This encouraged the other two of us to follow her heroic example. A few cautious clutches at a snail with my tongs produced threatening results, and finally I, too, ventured to hold the slippery object with my fingers while I jabbed a fork into its vitals.

I scrutinized the outcome carefully. Could even its most ardent lover claim for it an alluring appearance? I took a long breath and squared my shoulders, then popped the tidbit into my mouth.

It wasn't quite like anything else I had ever tasted on land or sea, and—well, the seasoning helped. I managed to do my duty by the six specimens before me.

This occupation engaged my attention so completely that I failed to observe how Leslie handled his implements of demolition. Two empty shells on his plate recorded the extent of his achievement. He could not be induced to further exploits.

"Nope," he said, closing his lips firmly. "I can tell the fellows I've eaten snails, not just a snail, and that's enough."

Then we all settled down to enjoy the other dishes of our repast, with a sigh of relief and the feeling of satisfaction that comes from the consciousness of a duty performed.

PAYING BIRDS

Pigeons were welcome visitors at the window of the Cincinnati (O.) apartment of Mrs. Amoretta Pitch, always receiving a few morsels of food until their hostess discovered they had begun to eat her cherished window plants. Then she put up a screen to shut out her feathered callers. A few mornings later a single pigeon came to the window and hovered about on the sill as if to attract her attention. She shooed it away, but it came right back and dropped a shiny, new dime on the sill and flew away, not to return.

DANCING THEIR WAY

Dancing is the unusual means by which Dave Hilgers and Fred Wilcox, Wisconsin University students, are getting an education. Knowing how to dance well, they advertised they were available as dance partners and escorts at so much an evening. And enough women and girls have hired the young men that they are able to meet their college expenses.

HELMETS USEFUL IN PEACE

Steel helmets, introduced in the World War for the protection of soldiers, are saving the lives of miners in the zinc and lead district of Oklahoma. Mines in this district first made use of the helmets to safeguard miners from falling stones. The helmets have since been adopted in many other mining fields.

RIPPLING RHYMES

THE SUFFERING TAIL

There always is some statesman wise, heroic ardor in his eyes, who twists the British lion's tail, and he makes said lion quail, and there are always voters 'round to greet the stunt with joyous sound of revelry and wild applause, with upflung hats and clapping paws. Some poltroons say, "Let us bury the grudges of the days of yore, oh, let us cease to dig and delve among the bones of ancient twelve, and cultivate a friendship fine with relatives across the brine. Let us talk friendship day by day, and shoo all thoughts of hate away. If there's a lion anywhere, let us approach and comb his hair, and feed him pap from a sack, nor contemplate rude attack. A lion's better as a friend than as a foe, you may depend." Such talk as this you don't admire, but, with true patriotic fire, we do applaud the statesman hale who twists the British lion's tail. Sometimes the statesman finds it tough as he topic strong enough to hold crowds and win their praise by their apathy moves him as a He talks of taxes for a while lines the other party's gizzard views with anger and abuse perils that enshroud the And still his hearers do not with wild enthusiastic cries, can he do to stir the blood flows as sluggishly as ever knows one trick that doesn't be twists the British lion's

RADIO ACTIVITIES

From Broadcasting Stations to Receiving Sets

COMMISSION TO CLEAR CHANNEL

Radio Authority Developing New Wave Band

Assignment Given Stations to Use Lower End

All Program to be Strong in Popular Appeal

BY DR. RALPH L. POWER

The developing of clear channels between 1400 and 1500 kilocycles (214.3 to 199.9 meters) is now engaging the attention of the Radio Commission in an effort to popularize the entire broadcast range and make the lower end of the receiving dials more popular with radiofans as the mid-upper end.

The given ten wave lengths and eight high-power stations will be allowed to use these. Several have already signified their desire to get on the end of the spectrum if it carries with it permission to increase their power allowance.

The only local stations in this band are KHJ, Los Angeles, and KFVD, both of which divide time on the same outlet wave length. It is said that these stations prefer a higher wave length because of the congestion on the lower end of the dial.

ASK LOWER WAVES

Unofficial reports are reaching Washington every day of stations asking for the lower wave lengths. Among these are KOSH, Portland, Ore., which now uses 365.6 meters on 500 watts power. If it goes to 214.2 meters the commission will authorize it to increase to 5000-watt power. Station WOR of Buffalo now is on 217.3 meters with 5000 watts, but it can slide down to 214.2 meters and boost to 5000 watts on a low wave frequency.

Gainesville, Fla., WHBN has received a construction permit for 5000 watts on 202.6 meters, while WJBF, Mt. Vernon, Va., also has a construction permit. This, also, is to increase power to 10,000 watts on a low frequency and it is reported is actually building a 50,000-watt station for eventualities.

POWERFUL STATIONS

The radio group lets it go on record that the Mt. Vernon outfit will be one of the most powerful in the country. The only other 50,000-watt stations now are WGY, Schenectady, and WEAF. There was a 50,000-watt transmitter at Whiffany, N. J., for experimental purposes, but its license expired last February and no renewal was asked for.

KHJ's aerial offering for tonight includes the studio concert orchestra assisted by Earl Coatsworth, dramatic tenor, at 7 o'clock; the Cavaliers, a dance orchestra, on the 8 p.m. broadcast, with their numbers interspersed with saxophone solos by Clarence Hill and songs by Bob and Buster.

The concert hour at nine will include as soloists Erma Lucas, contralto, and Gladys Blackwell Pickering, soprano. The evening program will conclude with the 10 to 11 o'clock hour of dance music by the Californians and June Parker, blues singer.

"CATHEDRAL ECHOES"

"Cathedral Echoes" is slated for final presentation by KGO at 8 o'clock tonight. Musical selections drawn from great cathedrals of the world will be found in this offering, which has won universal praise from the radio audience during the past month.

"Cathedral Echoes" will probably be heard again over KGO around Eastertide.

KGO plans to further diversify its programs by concentrating on special features for short periods and withdrawing them temporarily at the height of their popularity. In this way there is no end to the possibilities of a feature, for after several months on the shelf it can be presented again from a new angle.

HOME ANNOYERS

Robert J. Casey of Chicago in his manual on interference prepared for popular distribution by the Radio Manufacturers' Association declares that the real offenders in the making of "parasitical noises" are the handy electrical devices widely used in office and home. Not all are static makers but all have power to be if not properly safeguarded, he points out, in listing these as among such offenders.

Are lights, heaters, irons, pads, automatic railway signals, curlers, marcelling outfits, soldering irons, waffle irons, shaving mug heaters, percolators, vibratory rectifiers, mercury arc rectifiers, flash signs, elevator controls, small motors, violet ray machines, X-ray machines, vibrators, meters, telephone dialers, telephone magnetos, leaky transformers, doorbells and buzzers, annunciators, dishwashers, dough mixers, soda mixers, addressing machines, phonographs, dictating machines, computators, printing presses, dust precipitators, hair clippers, automatic towels, oil-burning devices, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners, motor brushes, starting commutators, leaky cables, farm lighting systems, cigar lighters, street-car switches, breaks in third rails, defective light sockets and bad connections in home lighting systems.

BOOTLEGGER TRIPS UP ON FIRST SALE

Needed $35 to Bring Wife to California, Now He's Out $500 and Liberty

H. R. Griffith needed but $35 for a railroad ticket to bring his wife from England, Ark., to spend the Christmas holidays here. But that was before he appeared in Municipal Judge Turney's court. Now he is short $535 and it will be twenty-five days before he completes a sentence for bootlegging.

"My wife was back in Arkansas and I wanted to bring her to Los Angeles, but I didn't have the money so I started bootlegging," Griffith confided to the magistrate. "Things might have gone all right if it hadn't been for my rotten luck, as I was picked up on the first deal."

Policemen Leslie and Ellery testified on questioning of Deputy City Prosecutor Higgins that they purchased a quantity of liquor from Griffith at Echo Park avenue and Sunset Boulevard for $8.50 on November 23, last.

"You were short $35 on the railroad ticket before, so I might as well increase the deficit," Judge Turney agreed. "Your fine will be $350 each on charges of possession and transportation of liquor, and twenty-five days in the City Jail for sale."

The Story of the "Cow Country"—Conclusion. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

THE GIVING AWAY OF NATIONAL DOMAIN ON THE WESTERN PLAINS SOUNDED THE KNELL OF THE "OPEN RANGE" OF THE CATTLEMAN. UNDER THE TERMS OF GALUSHA GROW'S "HOMESTEAD ACT" (1862), THE GOVERNMENT OFFERED A FREE FARM IN THE WEST TO EVERY MAN WHO WOULD GUARANTEE TO CULTIVATE HIS ACRES AND LIVE ON THEM FOR THREE YEARS.

AFTER THE CIVIL WAR, A STEADY STREAM OF FARMER EMIGRANTS FLOWED INTO THE "COW COUNTRY", AND MOVED TOWARD THE ROCKY MOUNTAINS. ON EVERY HAND AROSE THE SOD CABINS OF THE "HOMESTEADERS" AND OX-DRAWN PLOWS BROKE THE VIRGIN SOIL OF THE PRAIRIES.

FARMING COMMUNITIES CUT DEEP WEDGES IN THE GRASSLANDS, AND THE CATTLEMEN, EMBITTERED BY THE LOSS OF THEIR FREE GRAZING-GROUNDS, TRIED IN EVERY WAY TO DRIVE OUT THE NEWCOMERS. AT TIMES THERE WAS OPEN WARFARE, BUT IN THE END THE SMALL FARMERS, WHO HAD THE LAW ON THEIR SIDE, TRIUMPHED.

BROAD FIELDS OF WHEAT NOW FLOURISH WHERE BUT A SHORT TIME BEFORE VAST HERDS OF LONG-HORNED CATTLE HAD BROWSED. THE CATTLEMEN YIELDED TO THE INEVITABLE, AND RAISED THEIR STOCK WITHIN THE FENCES OF THEIR OWN RANCHES.

PRACTICAL RECIPES

BY WINMAN'S ANSWERS

PORK PIE PASTRY

A. Baldwin Park, Cal.: Place four ounces of finely chopped suet, two level teaspoonfuls of butter, a small pinch of salt in a cupful and two tablespoonfuls of boiling water; stir and when the suet is dissolved and the fat has run into six cupfuls of flour and knead until a stiff paste is formed; roll out to half an inch in thickness, cut a piece to fit the bottom of the mold, cut another piece to fit the sides; wet the edges of the pastry with egg whites and press together tightly. Fill with pork and trim top edge with egg white, cover with pastry cover, press edges together with a fork; for a pie containing two pounds of pork, two hours in the oven.

PORK PIE FILLING

Two pounds of lean pork in small inch cubes and season with two teaspoonfuls of salt, two and a half teaspoonfuls of black pepper, one teaspoonful of ground sage and a few grains of cayenne pepper. Cut one pound of fresh pork fat in one-inch dice and fill the pastry lined mold with alternate layers of lean and fat pork, press down tightly and bake.

Add a bay water or bones in the water baking the pie, cover with two pounds of pork bones and water, add half a bay leaf, one onion stuck with three whole cloves, one stalk of celery, two sprigs of parsley and one blade of mace; bring to a boil and simmer for three hours; strain, cool, remove fat and when the pie is baked reheat the jelly and pour into a hole made in the top of the pie.

You did not state in your letter what kind of a potato pie you wished, sweet or white potatoes—if you wish to use it as a dessert or a vegetable dish. If you write to me again I will be glad to answer your question.

CANDIED ORANGE PEEL

Mrs. A. University of Redlands, Redlands, Cal.: Remove the peel from navel oranges that have a thick skin, cut the peel one inch wide and one quarter of an inch wide. Place in a saucepan, cover with water and bring almost to the boiling point and drain. Repeat this process three times, drain well, weigh the peel and place in a saucepan with an equal weight of sugar. Just cover with water and boil until no syrup is left in the pan. Spread on buttered paper and when partly cool roll in granulated sugar. Allow to thoroughly dry.

DATE BARS

Cook over a slow fire two cupfuls of sugar and one cupful of water, until it will form a hard ball when a little is dropped in cold water. Add half a teaspoonful of vinegar and stir twice. Cover a shallow pan with a little olive oil and place over the bottom a layer of halved and stoned dates. Pour over the dates the hot syrup and let stand until cool. Cut in squares and wrap in waxed paper.

Note: I am sorry I was unable through limited space and many questions before the Christmas season to print your request before this.

ITALIAN VINEGAR

M. P., Van Nuys, Cal.: Italian vinegar was originally red wine vinegar, but will give you a vinegar or sauce to be used in its place

Peel a quarter of a pound of fresh sound garlic, bruise lightly, place in a jar, add two level teaspoonfuls of salt, twelve whole cloves, half an ounce of whole dried ginger, and one quart of good vinegar. Cover tight and let stand two weeks, strain, bottle and cork tight. Two or three drops of this vinegar will flavor a salad or a sauce.

GINGER SYRUP

The ginger syrup you ask for can be procured at the grocers, and you will find it just as good and much cheaper than making it yourself.

FUDGE CAKE

Mrs. P., Los Angeles, Cal.: Beat to a cream three-quarters of a cupful of butter, and one and a quarter cupfuls of sugar; beat in two well beaten eggs, and when smooth and light add four tablespoonfuls of ground chocolate, three cupfuls of flour, sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, half a cupful of chopped pecan nuts, one cupful of milk, and one teaspoonful of vanilla extract; bake in three layers and when cool put together with a fudge filling.

FUDGE CAKE FILLING

Place in a saucepan two cupfuls of sugar, four tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate, one tablespoonful of butter, and two-thirds of a cupful of milk, boil over hot water for six minutes, remove from the fire; add one teaspoonful of vanilla extract, beat until it starts to thicken, spread quickly between the layers and cover the cake with a white icing. Place halves of pecan nuts on top.

FRENCH OR DUTCH APPLE CAKE

A. Y., Pasadena, Cal.: The apple cake you ask for is really the old Dutch apple cake with a new name.

Beat the yolks of three eggs until light, beat in two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, add half a cupful of sugar, and beat smooth, sift two cupfuls of flour with four level teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and a pinch of salt, add to the yolk mixture with one cupful of milk; beat smooth, add one teaspoonful of lemon extract, and the stiffly beaten whites of the three eggs. Pour into a shallow baking pan and cover the top with peeled, cored and sliced apples. Sprinkle over the apple, two tablespoonfuls of sugar mixed with one teaspoonful of ground cinnamon. Bake a half hour in a hot oven.

DATE BALLS

T. J. P., Reseda, Cal.: For the date balls run through the fine knife of the meat chopper three cupfuls of stoned dates; one cupful of broken walnut meats, the grated rind of one orange, one cupful of seeded raisins, and two tablespoonfuls of preserved ginger. Work to a smooth paste with two tablespoonfuls of the preserved ginger syrup, and roll into even-sized balls. Roll in shredded cocoanut and wrap in waxed paper.

CARAMEL CUSTARD

G. W., Los Angeles, Cal.: Place in a saucepan four tablespoonfuls of granulated sugar and two tablespoonfuls of cold water; bring to a quick boil, and cook until a dark golden color. Pour into dry molds and run it around the molds until the sides and bottom are thoroughly coated.

Note: If you caramelize your sugar set your pan into a pan of cold water and gradually pour in a little warm water, just a few drops at a time and then you will not have the rocks form.

FISH IN PAPER BAG

Mrs. B., Pasadena, Cal.: The fish is cooked in the paper bags and parsley butter spread over the top of the fish. For the parsley butter mix two tablespoonfuls of fresh unsalted butter with a teaspoonful of chopped parsley, a teaspoonful of chopped mixed tarragon and Cherbil leaves, a teaspoonful of lemon juice and a little salt and pepper. Spread on a plate, put on the ice and shape into pats when quite firm and lay one pat or two according to the size of the fish before placing the fish in the paper bag.

RADIO TALK

E. K. S., Los Angeles, Cal.: Thanks very much for the good wishes for the holidays; but you have made a mistake in the one giving the radio talks, as I never have as yet talked give you the recipe you ask for. over the radio, so I am unable to

DEAD SEA MINERAL WEALTH

The Dead Sea is a veritable mine of mineral wealth. As long as the country was held by the Turks nothing could be done. Now numerous companies are applying for franchises to recover the chemicals of the Dead Sea. A system of grants is being prepared which will provide for the payment of surplus profits to the Palestine government and public ownership of the chemical plants at the end of a certain term of years. It is expected that ground will be broken for the first enterprise of the sort within a few months.

The Dead Sea contains several hundred cubic miles of concentrated brine. It is so salty that fish cannot live in it, so heavy that the human body will not sink in it. Salt is only one of the chemicals it contains. There are billions of tons of other substances: potash, bromin, gypsum and a form of magnesium. All this is located in a desert, where the sun shines nearly every day in the year to evaporate this brine and render the solids available, and within a little over thirty miles of the Mediterranean.

ELIMINATING EXPENSE

Mother: Now that you are married, I hope that you are learning something about household expenses.

Daughter: Oh, but mother, we never have any. You see, we use the budget system.—[Life.

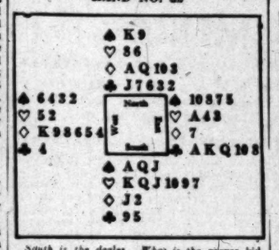
HAND NO. 32



South is the dealer. What is the proper bidding and play?

Each day we shall publish a complete hand presented by Mr. Whitehead, together with a chart upon which the bidding and play may be noted. These hands may be played with cards by one, two, three or four players, before filling in the chart.

Tomorrow we shall publish Mr. Whitehead's explanation of today's hand, with the important features emphasized.

Fill out your own chart and compare it tomorrow with Mr. Whitehead's method. Do this each day and carefully read Mr. Whitehead's explanation, and you will find that your knowledge of the game will progress rapidly. Compare your bidding and play with that of your friends—the comparison may be illuminating.

Record the bids that each player should make, assuming that he does not see any of the other hands.

THE BIDDING

South Bids	West Bids	North Bids	East Bids
1 C	1 S	1 NT	Pass

Final Bid 3 C— Played by South

Salient Points of the Bidding

Following West's Spade bid, North, though reasonably sure that game should be made with Clubs as trumps, bids No Trump rather than two Clubs, to show his partner a certain amount of distributed strength and at least one stopper in Spades. Although South also holds a sure stopper in Spades, his hand otherwise is so weak except in Clubs as not to warrant a bid of three No Trumps over his partner's assisting bid of three Clubs.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 3. As the trumps fail to break, an easy game by merely leading top cards cannot be made. A trump trick has to be conceded, and the Ace of Hearts. The loss also of a Diamond trick would stop game. Therefore, toward the prevention of such loss, the Declarer bends his subsequent efforts.

Trick 6. West has the choice here of two leads, a Diamond or a Heart. With nothing apparently to be gained by either lead, he continues with the Heart. At this point, South sees clearly that if East holds the Queen of Diamonds, a Diamond loss can be avoided by strip and end play, by eliminating the remaining Hearts from his own hand and Dummy, and throwing East in with a Club.

Trick 9. On East's Diamond lead, South plays the Jack, as his only chance for game lies in the possibility that East was compelled to lead away from the Queen of Diamonds or else to lead a suit that would permit of the Declarer's discarding a losing Diamond from one hand and trumping with the other. The Jack winning, the Declarer's strategy was rewarded by game.

HISTORICAL BUNK

Long List of Legends That Have no Foundation in History

Much of the historic record that was accepted by our forebears modern historic investigation has proved to be false, and as one looks back, what does one find? That there is no evidence that Romulus ever lived; none that Tarquin ever outraged Lucretia, and, notwithstanding Macauley's stirring "Lay," none that Horatius ever defended a bridge against an army. Who shall tell us that Xerxes's army was stopped at Thermopylae by 300 Spartans, when some historians claim 7000, and others set the number at 12,000? According to Homer's story, the siege of Troy is little less than a legend, and he makes Helen 60 years old when Paris fell in love with her. Skeptics have denied Diogenes his tub, Rhodes its Colossus, and Sappho her sweetheart. Caesar never crossed the Rubicon, nor did he cry, "Et tu Brute!" as he fell stabbed at the base of Pompey's statue. The question of what became of Pharaoh when the Israelites crossed the Red Sea is still unsettled. Was he drowned, or what became of him? All we know is that, according to the Book of Psalms, Pharaoh perished with his army, for we are taught in Psalm 136 that Pharaoh and his host were "overthrown" in the Red Sea.

The history of Europe is full of fabrications. King Arthur and the knights of the Round Table are legendary characters. The story of Charlemagne and his times is so befogged that it is difficult to distinguish the truth from the false. His paladins were as mythical as Arthur's knights, and although King Alfred never had any cakes to burn, nor did he venture into the Danish camp disguised as a minstrel, yet every English history tells the same old stupid story. The death of William Rufus was not caused by an arrow shot in mistake by Tyrrel. Queen Eleanor did not suck poison from her husband Edward I's wound. Richard III was not a wicked and brutal hunchback, and according to the historian Froude, Henry VIII was a saintly personage rather than a libertine who, by destiny rather than by choice, became a professional widower. Lucrezia Borgia was not as infamous as she has been described, and Sappho did not lead a lewd life, but lived respectably and respected. Queen Eleanor was not poisoned by fair Rosamond, for she died in the odor of sanctity in the convent at Godstow. Blondel, the harper, did not find the prison in which Richard I was detained, and Charles IX did not fire upon the Huguenots during the massacre of St. Bartholomew.

Some of the bons mots attributed to great men and women were never spoken by their lips. For instance, Francis I did not write nor did he say, "Everything is lost save honor," after his defeat at the battle of Pavia, but a Spanish historian mistranslated the words. Wellington never uttered the command, "Up, guards, and at them!" Cambronne did not declare, "The guard dies but does not surrender," and it was as well that he did not, for the guard did not die and did surrender. If we had evidence that William Tell ever existed, we might well believe that he had shot the apple off his son's head, for this same feat had been repeatedly performed by other archers before his time. Columbus was not the first to teach courtiers how to make an egg stand on end, for Brunelleschi embarrassed those who would confute his method for building the dome in Florence by showing them how to make an egg stand up.—[Frauis Vizetelly.

TAUGHT AMERICANS THE GERM THEORY

The part Americans have played in the great achievements of medical science in the last half-century forms one of the most creditable chapter in the history of this country.

One of the major figures in that accomplishment is Dr. William H. Welch, for thirty years professor of pathology in the Johns Hopkins University, a man the influence of whose mind has been felt on the continents of Asia, Europe and American and whose work has been of incalculable benefit to the human race, especially to that part of it dwelling in the United States.

To those who are familiar with the manner in which the discoveries of Louis Pasteur, the French chemist, and Dr. Robert Koch, the German physician and teacher, led to the adoption of the germ theory of disease and later to the birth of the science of bacteriology, it is sufficient to say that Dr. Welch was one of the first, if not the very first, to bring the results of the labors of these men to America, to kindle the enthusiasms of students of medicine and practitioners in this country about them, and to start the process of transforming the practice of medicine.

The work was begun almost fifty years ago. Throughout all that long period Dr. Welch has remained the master and the counsellor of men who have constantly increased the area in which the new and cleansing sciences have operated to free men from the handicaps of disease and to make Sherwood in Scribner's Magazine.

CANADA SEEKS NATIONAL BIRD

A merry contest is going on in Canada over the choice of the national bird. Four birds are in the running—the osprey, the grouse, the white-throated sparrow and the Canada goose. At present the white-throated sparrow, loved for its sweet song, is in the lead; but the goose, "the honest bird," is running a close second.—[Pathfinder.

SAFEWAY STORES

DISTRIBUTION WITHOUT WASTE

"Goodbye, 1927! You have been generous to us. We have grown larger and, we hope, better, while you were with us."

During the year our operations were extended to include two more states—Kansas and New Mexico. Approximately 200 new units were opened, bringing the total to almost eleven hundred.

Sales increased from about 54 million dollars in 1926 to more than 75 million dollars in 1927—almost 40 per cent—with a correspondingly increased number of families served.

Facilities for efficient and economical food distribution were greatly enlarged by the erection of new buildings and manufacturing plants and the addition of new equipment.

Our organization has been further perfected by the addition and intensive training of hundreds of earnest, ambitious men and women, and the development and promotion of those already with us.

In spirit and ideals of service we have been strengthened and encouraged by evident public appreciation of our efforts to serve economically and efficiently, and we enter the portals of 1928 with full confidence that this will be another year of satisfying achievement.

SOCIETY

BY JUANA NEAL LEVY

Depleted during war days, the American colony in Berlin is regaining strength and vivacity at a rate that bids fair to place it alongside of its sister colonies in Paris and London before many years have passed. The Berlin American colony in 1912 numbered about 2500 permanent inhabitants; this year's total will equal if not surpass that. The gathering of Americans for the traditional Thanksgiving Day dinner last month was the largest ever held in the German capital.

Many prewar Berlin Americans are returning to their apartments and villas, and their number greatly is increased by the resumption of cordial relations between the educational, artistic and cinematographic circles of the two countries. Close affiliations in this latter industry have sent scores of American motion-picture actors and actresses to Berlin, where the First National has a large studio in a former Zeppelin shed, and where a half-dozen German companies are making films which are adjudged by experts to be among the best in Europe.

Berlin, as seen through the eyes of one of these actresses, Mrs. Mary Carr, the "grand old lady" of American filmdom, "is such a gay city that it is hard to believe Germany lost the greatest war in all history. Really they are showing a stiff upper lip.

Another well-known film representative recently in Berlin was Andreas Dippel of New York, general musical director of De Forest Phonofilms, Inc.

Frank Harris, the author, has been giving a series of three lectures in Berlin, treating, respectively, with Shakespeare, Bernard Shaw and Frank Harris. Mr. Harris, who was born in Ireland but later immigrated to Kansas, admits that Shakespeare and Shaw were included by request.

Miss Martha Baird, young California pianist, who made her debut in Berlin in October, later going to London to fill engagements there, is expected back in the German capital this winter.

Miss Clara Rabinovitch, American pianist, who had been held in pleasant memory in Berlin since her last concert there five years ago, pleased a large audience with her recital in the Bechsteinsaal last week. Miss Rabinovitch, who has appeared extensively in concerts in America, among others with the Philadelphia and Boston symphony orchestras, is leaving for engagements in Vienna, Budapest and Paris.

Mrs. Henry Wood of Potsdam, widow of Prof. Wood, for many years on the Johns Hopkins University faculty, together with Prince August Wilhelm of Prussia, arranged a very clever and interesting social affair last week at the Konzerthaus.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thomas and Joseph Y. Baruch have been visiting in Genoa, Italy, as guests of the Grand Hotel Miramare for the past few days.

Miss Margaret Huntington of Pasadena is in Venice, Italy, for the early winter season, stopping at the Grand Hotel, where other California visitors include William Ellington and George McGibbon of Beverly Hills.

The Riviera rainy season seems to have come to an end and at present visitors are enjoying a spring-like atmosphere. Californians noticed in Mentone include Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rae Callender and Miss Virginia Callender, who have taken up quarters at the Westminster Hotel.

C. Alfred Kingsbaker, who has been traveling on the island of Sicily, was a recent visitor to Taormina, where he registered at the San Domenico Palace Hotel.

Lord and Lady Brownlow, who are in Paris on their honeymoon, were guests of Senor Aldoa in a party at the Blue Room last week. Senor Aldoa's other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Erskine Gwynne, formerly of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Mixsell of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Gertrude Ruppel of Pasadena, has been visiting in Berlin as a guest of the Hotel Adlon.

W. M. Van Dyke and Miss Lilian Van Dyke, who have been touring the Mediterranean islands and Italy this winter, were recent arrivals in Palermo, where they registered at the Villa Igiea Grand Hotel.

Mrs. Anna Jacobs of Larchmont Harry Borren, traveling in Austria, days recently in Taormina on the Island of Sicily, where she is a guest of the San Domenico Palace Hotel.

John Lowelen has arrived in the French capital from New York.

R. J. Schiffman, who has been touring the Central European countries, traveling lately in Germany, was a recent visitor to Berlin, where he registered at the Hotel Bristol for a brief sojourn.

Following a luncheon recently given at the Old Colony Club of Berlin, Siegfried Goetze, who represents the Foreign Trade Club of Southern California, gave a talk on the development of Los Angeles, describing particularly the way in which that city had handled the housing problem after the war. He also invited his hearers to visit the international city planning conference to be held in Los Angeles on the occasion of that city's sesquicentennial celebration in 1931.

Harry Borren, traveling in Austria, was a recent arrival in Vienna, where he registered at the Hotel Bristol for a short stay.

T. D. Walsh has arrived in Paris during the course of a winter's visit to the Continent and is stopping at the Hotel de Crillon.

Mrs. Esther Dennis of Pasadena, who crossed last month from New York, has left Paris and is now en route to Bombay, India. She is accompanied by her sister, Miss Helen Lyman.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirk B. John- Naples, Italy, recently after crossing aboard the Italian liner Conte Biancamano, have gone to Egypt for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Pedro de Larrolde have arrived at the Hotel Saint-James et d'Albany on the rue du Faubourg Saint-Honore in Paris.

The winter season is commencing auspiciously in Tunis. Arrivals there from California include Mrs. Cora Creswell and her son, Jean Creswell of Los Angeles, who are stopping at the Hotel Transatlantique.

Mrs. George F. Foster has crossed to Italy aboard the Lloyd Saubado liner Conte Biancamano from New York.

Joseph Neu has been stopping in Paris as a guest of the Hotel Palais d'Orsay.

Harry E. Brown of Los Angeles is visiting in Vienna where he is registered at the Grand Hotel.

CHOOSING NAMES SHOULD BE A PARENT'S JOY

Mrs. E. J. J.: There is hardly a day passes but some one asks me to help her choose a name for her child. I steer clear of this responsibility for two reasons. The names I like would hardly be the ones the mother would like, and because it seems to me that every parent has some name which is particularly dear or pleasing to her for some reason and that is the name she should use.

Simple names, family names and names of euphonious proportions are always safe. Made up names, or names which no one can decide whether they belong to a girl or a boy, are fine names to stay away from. Some of the names mothers tell me they have bestowed on their poor helpless infants are terrible. No one ever heard them on land or sea and such names are bound to be mortifying to the children their whole lives long. It is usually a "her" that gets such concoctions.

The back of a Webster's unabridged dictionary contains lists of names of all kinds. It is a good idea to run through them, as a sort of inspiration. Now for your questions: Mrs. E. J. J., I'm going to stretch a point and tell you that I think Jean and Jan, or Jane and John, or James and Janet would be hopeful combinations for your boy and girl twins. My youthful idea of absolutely perfect names for twins was Donald and Dorothy. (Now what book had those twins?) The twins are marvelous, from your description.

SLOW TEETH

Mrs. B. K. N. writes: "My boy of 15 months has only six teeth. Isn't this unusual? Is there something lacking in his diet? Your column is a boon to mothers of young children."

ANSWER

Six teeth are correct for one year and twelve teeth for eighteen months. No reason to worry yet, they may pop in within the next three months. I am hoping this column is a boon to mothers with older children, too. Thank you for telling me so.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Easier on the Carpenter

If screws are soaped with ordinary kitchen soap before they are forced into hard wood they will enter quite easily and will be just as readily removed.

Dirt Remover

Moisten a clean cloth with turpentine and use this to remove spots and dirt from the enameled bed. They will come off immediately and leave a nice glossy finish.

Justice All Around

It is only fair to the storekeeper with whom you deal to return any cans of vegetables, soups, etc., whose contents are spoiled. It not only saves pennies for the housewife, but shows the storekeeper what brands and makes of foods to rely on.

Fat on the Soup

Leave all the fat in the soup stock until it is cool. It will harden on top and then can be removed very easily. If you desire to use the soup immediately without cooling, the fat can be wiped off the top with the aid of clean tissue paper. But under no consideration serve the soup with a heavy greasy layer of fat on top. It is worth the trouble of removing it.

An Electric Waffle Iron

Use ordinary baking soda to keep the electric waffle iron bright and clean. Apply the soda dry with a dry brush and all grease and discoloration will disappear.

A Help With the Laundry List

A 10-cent blank book for laundry records is unvaluable. A list of customary laundry can be written therein and each week just the number of articles need be entered. It saves time writing out the articles each time and you always know where the list is, what was sent, besides having a neat alibi should a complaint arise.

NANCY PAGE

Earrings Have Their Day and Their Inning

By Florence La Ganke

It was two days after Christmas and the club named after Nancy Page was meeting. Naturally the talk turned on Christmas gifts. A number of girls had received earrings And those who hadn't made up their minds that afternoon to invest their Christmas checks in these baubles.

One girl, Ann Corson, had let her bobbed hair grow until she could wear it in a knot placed low in the neck. Her pearl rings looked particularly effective, better than they would had she kept her hair bobbed. With the earrings she wore a single strand of pearl beads.

Julie came forth with some heirlooms. They were to be worn in pierced ears, as all old-time rings were worn. The gold circlets were flat and delicately chased. They matched an old gold necklace made from an old time watch chain. These flat-worked gold chains which used to encircle the neck and reach to the watch pocket in the waist are being made into effective necklaces. Sometimes one strand only is used. Sometimes three strands of graduated length are combined.

BOBTEE

One pint of cold cooked meat chopped fine, one-half of a small onion, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one cupful of milk, two ounces of bread, eight sweet almonds, three eggs, a dash of salt, and one teaspoonful of curry powder.

Put the butter in a frying pan and slice in the onion. Fry a nice brown. Add the milk and bread. Take from the fire and let stand ten minutes. Blanch and chop almonds and add them, the meat, the curry powder and the eggs well beaten to the ingredients in the frying pan. Rub a baking dish with butter and the juice of a lemon. Put the mixture in this and bake in the oven for twenty minutes.

SPANISH SOUP

Chop three tablespoonfuls of red and green peppers and cook in two tablespoonfuls of flour and butter for five minutes. Add three cupfuls of stock, two cupfuls of a can of tomatoes. Cover this and allow it to simmer for twenty minutes; then strain and add one-half of a cupful of plain boiled macaroni.

SPINACH SALAD

Wash thoroughly and boil five bunches of spinach. If it is young and tender cook in its own juice, heating it in a saucepan, very gradually to prevent burning. Cook twenty-five minutes or until tender. Old spinach is better cooked in boiling salted water. When tender drain the spinach and chop it with six hard-boiled eggs. Add one cupful of toasted bread crumbs and one-half cupful of minced boiled ham. Pack in small cups or molds. Chill on ice and when ready to serve surround each mold on the serving plate with olives and dress with mayonnaise.

MINT BISCUIT MOUSSE

Rub off the yellow rind of three lemons on six lumps of loaf sugar, then crush the sugar to a powder, adding four tablespoonfuls of mint extract made from steeping in boiling water, a handful of grated macaroon crumbs, the yolk of one well beaten egg, and a pint of stiffly whipped cream. Beat steadily for five minutes, and turn into small tin molds or forms having watertight covers. Bury this in chopped ice and rock salt for three hours before serving.

BROWNED SWEET POTATOES

Select potatoes of uniform size, and pare; place in a frying pan and add water to a depth of about one-half inch. Add one tablespoonful of butter or other shortening and one tablespoonful of brown or white sugar. Cover and let boil furiously. The water will soon disappear as steam, and the potatoes will brown in the syrup that remains, which forms a delicious crust, keeping in the steam and flavor.

HAMBURG SPONGE

Place in the upper part of the double boiler one pint of milk, adding two well beaten eggs and a heaping tablespoonful of sugar. Cook only until well thickened, and then remove from the fire, stirring in half a package of gelatine, dissolved in a little hot water. Flavor with the juice and grated rind of an orange, and when the cream begins to cool and stiffen beat to a foam with an egg beater, folding in one tablespoonful of powdered sugar and a half pint of cream beaten solid; turn into wide rimmed glasses that have been lined with macaroons and place directly on the ice to chill.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By Dr Frank McCoy

author of "The Four Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy will answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Los Angeles Times. Inclose stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

ANEMIA NOT CAUSED BY LACK OF SPINACH

Pernicious, or primary anemia, is really quite rare, but so many people have a fear of this disease that it is well to make a study of it, and understand the cause and the possibilities of a cure.

As I so often tell you in this column, the primary source of most diseases lies in a polluted blood stream which is full of toxins developed through wrong habits of living. One with rheumatism is he who has developed the rheumatic toxemia; one with diabetes is suffering from faulty metabolism caused by the diabetic toxemia, and so on.

In spite of all the nonsense written about anemia, and the claims made that the cause is unknown, I can assure you that this disease is not so mysterious. And, although we have not isolated and named the poison which produces it, we nevertheless know that anemia is due to a definite toxicosis, and that most patients can be cured through the simple plan of entirely eliminating all disease toxins from the body. This gets rid of the anemia toxins, even though we do not know them by any other name.

In the first place, pernicious anemia is not produced because the one who is ill has not eaten enough of the iron-bearing foods. Before developing anemia the patient has probably eaten much the same foods as other members of the family, and after he is told that he is anemic he has doubtless consumed large quantities of spinach, steak and even liver, to try to supply organic iron which his blood seems to need.

The fault with the anemic patient is that no matter how much iron or other mineral-carrying food he uses, it is either destroyed before it reaches the red corpuscles, or the red cells are themselves destroyed by the systemic toxicosis which exists in his body, and which is not caused by a lack of mineral elements. It seems that the more food he feeds into his body the more red cells are destroyed. It does not take a sage to understand that something in the body is destroying these cells, and all the investigation of our physiologists has failed to disclose any special place in the body where these cells are killed off. Some scientists have tried to pin the trouble on the spleen, and others to the marrow of the bones, in which place it is thought the red cells are formed. Many positive statements have been made, but each one has been refuted by some other investigator.

No better explanation will ever be offered than the one I am giving you, and that is, there are some people who have the tendency to the anemic toxemia just the same as others are inclined toward rheumatism, and anemia, the same as rheumatism or any other disorder caused by toxemia, can be cured by a thorough bodily housecleaning, and afterward prevented by the patient using more care in regard to his eating, exercising, breathing and thinking.

The one with anemia is concerned first with a cure, and after this has been effected he does not have to be very strongly encouraged to live with good habits.

Tomorrow I will explain more about the cure of pernicious anemia.

TO BE RELEASED WITH ARTICLE "ANEMIA NOT CAUSED BY LACK OF SPINACH" TUESDAY DEC. 27, 1927

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: J. J. J. writes: "For some time I have been troubled with a swelling at the corner of my left eye. When I press at the side or under it there is a discharge which seems to come from a pinpoint of an opening in my lower lid just as though there was a hair out. I have very little pain from it, but I would like to know if you could tell me what to do, as I am afraid it might cause some disease of the bone of my cheek or nose."

Answer: It would be wise for you to consult an oculist and have him give his opinion about the cause of your trouble. If the treatment which he suggests does not help, write me again, giving me his diagnosis, and I will make whatever suggestions I think best.

Q.: Mrs. R. D. W. writes: "Have been reading your articles and am very much interested in them. I would like a list of nonstarchy vegetables printed."

A.: Practically all vegetables are nonstarchy except potatoes and Hubbard squash. Here is a list of those I consider best to use both raw and cooked: Celery, spinach, small string beans, asparagus, summer squash, cucumber, egg plant, beet tops, turnip tops, small beets, small carrots, small parsnips, pumpkin, lettuce, okra, chayotes, oyster plant, mallow, kale, zucchini, parsley, endive, alligator pear and ripe olives.

Q.: Mrs. F. A. S. writes: "Please advise me what to do with a child that holds its breath till it is black in the face and lifeless. What causes this condition?"

A.: When a child cries so hard that it holds its breath for a long time it is usually because it suffers from periodic attacks of indigestion due to wrong feeding. He is frantic to tell you about it, and probably loses his temper because he cannot properly express himself. The shock from the application of a cold towel over the body is a good cure for this habit.

THEATER OPENS AMID SPLENDOR

Mary Pickford Dedicates Superb Edifice

Artists Applauded as They Appear in Film

was quiet. There was an ovation for Miss Pickford, and applause for the various members of the United Artists organization as they were introduced in a film, each identified with some city in this screen novelty, and also for Miss Pickford's feature "My Best Girl," as the primary event of the evening.

There was much glamour to the arrival of the stars. The theater affords a most satisfying opportunity to observe their entry. Not only is there a large lobby, but a highly ornate foyer, which doubtless will prove a source of satisfaction to those who desire to view at close advantage the first-night procession.

Actually the playhouse seems designed for the social show, as well as the cinema, and gives new pre-eminence therefore to attending the picture theater from that standpoint—one has amply prevailed in the grand operahouse and the spoken-drama theater, but not in so elaborate a degree heretofore in the film theater.

Thus is a new graduation from the good old nickelodeon days accomplished.

One can speak well of the interest vouchsafed by the premiere program. Miss Pickford's film, "My Best Girl," is the most enjoyable and apt that she has appeared in for several seasons. It is very cheerful, and rather ideal in comedy attractions for the holiday season. It will serve to popularize several people who act in support of the star, notably Charles Rogers as the juvenile lead, and Lucien Littlefield in comedy. It will, additionally, attract some special attention to Sunshine Hart as the shop girl heroine's mother.

ROLE WELL ADAPTED

Miss Pickford's role is very well adapted to her requirements, being a nice compromise between the youngster roles she previously has played and grown-up-ness. There are several scenes, principally the one where she discovers the social differences between herself and the young boy with whom she is in love when she is intrigued into his home, that evidence rather striking her ability in acting. In fact, few Pickford films have furnished the equal of these particular episodes.

Littlefield is amazingly funny as the easy-come-easy-go father of the girl, whose main difficulty consists in providing smelling salts whenever his portly wife shows signs of being about to faint. Littlefield will gain considerable attention by virtue of this performance.

Young Rogers has real appeal. His talent seems very clean-cut, and his personality remarkably sympathetic. He appears destined for considerable development.

Miss Hart has much to offer of genuineness in her interpretation. Despite a certain obviousness in the character itself it is in some ways, the most real portrayal. Carmelita Geraghty does capably the heroine's ne'er-do-well sister, and there is a girl of rather attractive presence, Avonne Taylor, as the fiancee of the hero. Hobart Bosworth, Mack Swain, Evelyn Hall and John Junior are others. Bosworth having the most prominence among these.

Sam Taylor has done an unquestionably workmanlike job in the direction. The film was adapted by Hope Loring from the story by Kathleen Norris, with the screen play by Allen McNeil and Tim Whelan. Charles Roaher was responsible for the photography.

Among the added features is an excellent scenic of New York which is exceptionally fine in the general impression it gives of the metropolis. This won much approval. Interesting is the fact that it relates the original purchase of the island for $24, which should prove an inspiration even to an abuilient Southern California real-estate man. I understand that this is the New York picture made by Robert Flaherty, who produced "Nanook of the North," although this fact was not noted on the screen. There is a color film called "Comrades," that is well done, but lacks vitality in its subject.

Carli Elinor directed the unusual opening program, the orchestra being supplemented with a chorus singing back stage. A very beautiful setting of the Maxfield Parrish type is used as a tableau during the overture.

Drama Affords Peep Backstage

More than just a peep into the restricted "backstage" is afforded in "The Jazz Singer," which opens tomorrow evening at the Criterion Theater, with Al Jolson attending in person. In this picture the spectator is literally transplanted to a vantage point in the wings. Both the lobby entrance view and reverse angle inside the stage door panorama are screened.

The story is said to have an appealing theme in which a "backstage" romance is intertwined with a second and related plot in which filial love is pre-eminent. It tells of the struggles of a "jazz singer" to elevate his name in brilliant letters on Broadway, of his heartbreak, of the romance which bursts into flame when success is within grasp, and of the great sacrifice which climaxes his career.

Japan Acclaims Fairbanks Film

Duplicating the success of the presentation now nearing the end of its run in Grauman's Chinese Theater, the Japanese premiere of "Douglas Fairbanks as the Gaucho," was accorded wide acclaim, it is stated in a cable just received by Sid Grauman, in part, which reads as follows:

"The East acclaims her own. No star, story or personality is so bound up and interwoven with the spirit of the East as Douglas Fairbanks. The Imperial Theater of Tokio resounded with salvos of applaure acclaiming the inauguration of the first Fairbanks 'Gaucho' showing. Critics and pubic alike make their nightly bow, acclaiming this greatest Fairbanks triumph."

BIDS FOR PLAY RIGHTS

Oliver Morosco, producer staging his new musical comedy, "The Morning After," at the Hollywood Play House, allegedly received a wire from John Cort asking that he reserve the New York rights to his new play for the Cort Theater it was announced yesterday.

"Undertow" New Drama, Opens

Has a featured role in the play by Zelda Sears and Garnett Weston which is to have its premiere at the Egan Theater tonight.

PEARL REGAY IS ON HOLIDAY BILL

There are a one-ring miniature circus with performing dogs, a pony and a black and white-striped cat, a troupe of nimble-muscled acrobats, some soft-shoe specialty dancers, two singers, a comedian and Pearl Regay, danseuse of "Rose-Marie" and the eastern "Desert Song."

That is the vaudeville bill of fare at the Pantages this week, excellently adapted to the holiday season, for the kiddies will enjoy much of it and adults probably all.

There are more genuine fun and amusement to be derived from watching members of the Thaleros Circus go through their tricks, possibly, than any other item of the bill. Who is there who does not admit to enjoyment of the antics of a circus sawdust troupe, particularly when there are performing animals, including barking dogs, monkeys and a pony?

Pearl Regay enjoys first honors of the bill and justly so. With Lester Sheehan as a dancing partner, and Wilder Chase at the piano she is seen in several novelty dance interpretations. Miss Regay is a marvelous dancer, although her chosen vehicles of expression, particularly the leopard number, are not particularly liked. There seems to be little reason for the peasant-woman skit, as well, and it is regretted that she could not be seen in episodes more suitable to her ability.

Ray Hughes, comedian, acts a general master of ceremonies during the program, keeping everyone in good humor. Teddy Marcell and Peggy La Source, two Los Angeles girls, are heard in song while Bert Collins and Company stage a clever soft-shoe dance presentation which has spirit and color. The Nelson family are seen in a series of acrobatic feats.

The screen feature is "The Wizard," a Fox production starring Edmund Lowe, the story dealing with the adventures of a newspaper reporter in solving a crime mystery. Leila Hyams is the feminine star.

FRIENDS GREET 'MERRY WIDOW'

two generations, and doubtlessly will last for two more to come.

MANY BEAUTIFUL SONGS

I can recall no musical play with as many beautiful songs as are found in "The Merry Widow" score. Several years ago a traveling company presented the work in Los Angeles, but other than that the music has been heard only piecemeal on theatrical programs. It is enthralling to hear it sung brilliantly by this light opera company.

It is interesting to note that among the songs the septet, "Oh, the Women" and "Love in My Heart," seemed to have precedence with the audience last night over the more familiar "Villia" and even the famous waltz song, "I Love You So."

Very likely it is absurd to relate any of the plot of the play, so well known it is. It is typically light and Viennese, a romance between a royal prince of one of those mythical Balkan kingdoms and a girl whom his family had forced him to jilt because she was poor. The girl marries an aged millionaire, who quite obligingly dies. Then it is that those in control of the little kingdom decide that the prince must marry the girl for her money. All three acts take place in Paris.

Not so long ago a much-garbled version of the original story was adapted to the screen.

PRINCIPALS OF CAST

Among the principals in the cast, Chariot Woodruff is a fascinating widow, and Louis Templeman, a romantic Prince Danilo. Miss Woodruff's voice is of pleasing caliber, but a trifle light for the big Shrine Auditorium. This is particularly noticeable in the "Villia" number, but it was effective withal.

Templeman's voice is of good baritone quality, and he is an excellent actor. He is fully in character as the gay and romantic prince, except when he dances.

The waltz of Sonia and Danilo, perhaps the high point of the play, is faintly disappointing. Neither Miss Woodruff nor Mr. Templeman is a skilled dancer, and a stumbling "Merry Widow Waltz" is unforgivable.

Ralph Errolle scored the individual hit of the evening as De Jolidon. Errolle possesses a pure tenor voice of loveliness. It is he who accounted for the enthusiastic reception given the song "Love In My Heart."

Popoff, the leading comedy character, was well done by Richard Powell. An able second in the mere amusing moments is John Cherry, the clerk, Nish.

OTHERS IN CAST

Marie Wells, who took the role of Natalie just three hours before curtain time last night, looked charming and acquitted herself amazingly well under these trying circumstances. Miss Wells is the only familiar face in the cast, having appeared locally in "No, No, Nanette" and "Castles in the Air."

Others in the cast deserving mention are George Kunkel, William Hargrave, Roland Woodruff and Alexander Gill. The dance divertissement of Beth Laemmle scores, too.

The performance of "The Merry Widow" was not without blunders last night, but they were natural errors resulting from nervousness. Subsequent performances should better the production.

Staging of the play is adequate, the garden scene is pleasing, as the glimpse of Maxim's Cafe in Paris. Costumes are fresh looking, although they do not always fit in the case of the supernumeraries.

Frank M. Darling conducts with skill the big orchestra. The entire production was staged by Frank M. Rainger.

BALANCED MUSIC BILL EXPLOITED

Metropolitan to Feature Both Classics and Jazz on Future Programs

Frank L. Newman, managing director of the Metropolitan Theater, announces that, starting Thursday, a new and important unit will be added to the Metropolitan program. This unit will provide classical and grand-opera selections, and constitutes a large orchestra in the pit, with singers on the stage.

Adolphe Dumont, one of the musical directors for the Publix Theaters, is in the city arranging for the initial presentations. The first of these will be Gounod's "Melodies."

The regular stage presentations at the Metropolitan Theater will continue as usual under the Fanchon and Marco banner, with jazz and popular melodies and spectacular scenic offerings. Thus the bill will be balanced between classical and jazz music. An interesting feature of the classical presentation will be that before the musical part of this unit starts, there will be flashed on the screen a description of the airs to be played, together with something about the composer.

PICTURE VIVIFIES ROBINSON CRUSOE

After stalking about these many years on the pages of Daniel Defoe's book, Robinson Crusoe has gone into motion pictures.

Those who attended the special morning matinee at the Metropolitan Theater yesterday might have seen this legendary figure, with his man, Friday; his dog, Ben, and a pet marmoset, in his adventures on the lonely island where he was shipwrecked.

Any boy or girl who has read the story will find the picture, shown but once a day at 10 o'clock in the morning at the Metropolitan this week, most interesting. Scenes were screened on the Island of Tobago in the West Indies and cannibals, where natives were pressed into acting service as "cannibals," British planters as "pirates," and actual monkeys, parrots and wild animals of the tropics were filmed.

Isabel Withers Cast in Comedy

Fred J. Butler, stage director of the Belasco Theater, has added the name of Isabel Withers to the cast of "Saturday's Children." Maxwell Anderson's comedy, which will open at the Belasco on January 8, with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in the leading male role.

Miss Withers will be recalled for her characterization in the Belasco production of "The Barker" a few months ago. In "Saturday's Children" she is the scheming older sister of the ingenue lead, and is the ringleader of the relatives in offering advice to the newlyweds.

LARGE ATTENDANCES RULE AT "BROADWAY"

"Broadway," one of the outstanding hits in Los Angeles, continues to attract large and enthusiastic audiences to the Mason at every performance of the present limited engagement. No American play has so restfully caught the glamour, the ruthlessness, the argot, the humor, the lawlessness of the night life on New York's "Main street" as has this melodrama, a reigning success in New York and London.

FLASHES

FLAHERTY TOURING

FOR SOUTH SEA LOCATIONS; JANE WINTON SIGNS

By Grace Kingsley

His preliminary work at Papeete successfully completed, Robert Flaherty, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer director, who is in the South Sea Islands filming his "Southern Skies," has left Tahiti on a tour of the archipelago, he reported by cable yesterday to Irving G. Thalberg. Flaherty sailed with W. S. Van Dyke from San Francisco last month.

The cast, including Monte Blue, who plays the lead, and Robert Anderson, will follow the two directors Friday, arriving at the islands about January 14, when production work proper will start.

Flaherty also reported that he has engaged several hundred natives who will work in "Southern Skies" and that, while he is making the tour of the islands, W. S. Van Dyke will start filming the underwater sequences of the production.

"Southern Skies" is an epic drama of the coming of the white men to the southern seas and will be many months in the making. It constitutes the reason for Flaherty's second visit to the Tahitian Islands, he having gone there several years ago to film "Moana of the South Seas." His earlier picture, "Nanook of the North," made, oddly enough, as an advertising picture for a fur company, but one which the public devoured avidly as entertainment, first won Flaherty attention as a screen producer.

Jane Winton Signs

Jane Winton hardly had time to do her Christmas shopping and put in an appearance at all the Christmas parties she was invited to, so busy was she with her film work.

JANE WINTON

And her New Year's holiday is going to be all equally cluttered up with work for she has just signed a contract to play a featured role with Milton Sills in "The Virgin," to be directed by Charles Brabin for First National. Work on it will begin this week.

The period of the story is 1900 and Miss Winton is busy getting together her Gibson-girl costumes.

Greta Nissen to Travel

The beautiful Greta Nissen is again homesick for her native Norway, but she longs even more for another peep at Paris.

GRETA NISSEN

She tells me that she means to take a trip home the latter part of February, following a trip to New York to see the shows. She will remain abroad for several weeks, but will not, she promises, desert Hollywood and pictures.

Miss Nissen has been working in a picture for United Artists. Her future picture plans are indefinite.

Jaime Del Rio, Author

We are likely ere long, unless fate double-crosses us, to have a chance to see a play written by the beauteous Dolores Del Rio's husband, Jaime.

JOSEPH SCHILDKRAUT

The play is called by the intriguing title, "From Hell Comes a Lady," and it is understood that the two Schildkrauts, Joseph and Rudolph, will co-star in the male roles when it is produced in the West.

Del Rio at present is in New York negotiating for the production of another of his plays.

Al Jolson Guest of Honor

If you've never seen Al Jolson without his make-up, you may now have the chance. He is to appear as guest of honor and master of ceremonies tonight at the Montmartre.

Naturally a lot of Jolson's friends in the professional world will want to uphold his dignity as master of ceremonies, and so many of them are making reservations for the evening, including Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mix, Billie Dove, Claire Windsor, Shirley Dorman, Anna Q. Nilsson, Betty Blythe, Lois Wilson, Vera Reynolds, Danny O'Shea, Dick Jones and others.

Robert N. Lee Wrote It

Conrad Veidt's next starring vehicle for Universal is being rapidly put into shape by Robert N. Lee. The story is called "The Charlatan," and the picture will go into production the first of the New Year. "The Charlatan" is a mystery play.

Clever Del Rio Clan

Another of the Latin sheiks seems destined for high success in pictures. This time it is Carlos Amor, cousin of Dolores Del Rio, who, we hear, is to have a nice part with Douglas Fairbanks when Fairbanks begins the filming of "Twenty Years After" as his next United Artists release.

Amor has been in pictures less than a year. He has been doing atmosphere and bits, and had a small part in Edwin Carewe's "Ramona," recently completed, in which he is said to have shown great promise.

LOEW'S PREPARES FETE

The stage is being set and big plans are rapidly materializing for the debut of the New Year at Loew's State Theater, where a special midnight matinee will be held. Fanchon and Marco are devoting themselves to special stage acts and novelties. Amateurs will appear in special presentations.

HILLSTREET FROLICS

Three frolics have been arranged for New Year's Eve by the Hillstreet Theater management. These promise a variety of surprises to be put on by those on the current bill. The final frolic is at 10:30 that will run well into the New Year, which it will usher in in a noisy fashion.

MIDNIGHT SHOW SLATED

A New Year's midnight show with all the trimmings will be given Saturday at Pantages Theater. All actors on the vaudeville bill this week will participate, with Ray Hughes as master of ceremonies. Pearl Regay, a late star of "Rose Marie," "The Desert Song" and many other recent hits, will offer an entirely new act.

TOO MANY CREEDS IN SMALL TOWNS

The newcomer to the small town, if he is an observing individual, decides immediately that the church holds a dominant place. There is physical evidence of that fact.

Like as not, if the town be one of about 2000 population, he will find a half-dozen creeds actively present in all affairs. At least four of these creeds, the principal ones, possibly three Protestant and one Roman Catholic, have established themselves in temples representing valuations ranging from $75,000 to more than double that amount at the present worth of money, and located on the four finest residential lots.

This is an accurate portrayal of the situation in one town of that population where the assessed valuation of all taxable property is right around a million. A little further digging reveals school property of not more than $200,000, adequate but not even wisely generous; lodge holdings of approximate $40,000; one home reaching $30,000; one factory worth $100,000, a business property representing possibly $30,000.

But no amount of digging reveals a community club, or a woman's club or even a gymnasium for growing youngsters. Proportions seem to be in out of line with those existent in cities. And since a community's interests may be found in its pocketbook, natural deductions show promise of divulging great truths.—[Will Rose in Scribner's Magazine.

SHORT HUNTING TRIP

Charles Beuttner of Livingston, Mont., prepared for several days to go on a hunting trip in the mountains and then got his deer before he could get started. He had stopped at a filling station at the edge of town and while waiting saw a buck deer a short distance down the road. He jumped into his automobile and drove to the spot, shot the deer and was back home in less than thirty minutes.

INFORMATION FOR TOURISTS

The modern tourist is coming to demand from the scientists an explanation of the things he sees, and the Smithsonian is fitted in many respects to supply this demand. Recently on a motor car expedition visiting all the Rocky Mountain areas from the central Washatch north through Utah, Idaho, Montana and Wyoming to British Columbia and Alberta, opportunity was taken to make notes and observations on areas of interest for nature study and for tourists in general, since so many inquiries are coming to the Smithsonian Institution along these lines.

Rats are said to have consumed $350,000,000 in food in Great Britain in the past twelve months.

Chinese Visitor Adopts American Ways

Princess Der Ling

A MANCHU princess, daughter of Lord Yu Keng, former Chinese Ambassador to France, and a member of the famous Manchu White Banner Corps, is in the United States with her plans to erect somewhere in this country a replica of the famous Forbidden City of Peking.

Princess Der Ling, formerly lady-in-waiting to the late Dowager Empress of China, Tzu Hsi, is accompanied by her American husband, Thaddeus C. White, a former member of the American Consular Corps at Peking and their 15-year-old son, Thaddeus Raymond White. The visitor and her party are stopping at the new Langham Apartment Hotel at Seventh street and Normandie avenue.

Since coming here the Princess has become imbued with the democratic spirit and has announced that she has dismissed her retinue of servants and from now on expects to do her own cooking and light housework.

Regarding her proposed plan to build in this country a duplicate of the Forbidden City, the Princess realizes the vastness of the project, and is said to be devoting all her resources to furthering the plan. She holds the belief that the completion of this project will tend to cement relationship between the United States and China. She is the author of a book which chronicles the experiences of life in this Chinese court, which had been the seat of Manchu rulers for centuries.

A DELICATE WORD

When Sir Austen Chamberlain was reading over the stenographic report of his recent speech before the League Assembly and comparing it with the text of the French translation, he found that, according to the latter, he had mentioned the "fameux protocole de Geneve," and the word "fameux" (famous) aroused the statesman's conscientious scruples.

He reminded the French delegation that the English word "famous" did not have the ironical and sarcastic meaning of the corresponding French word. (The French say "un fameux voleur," a notorious thief, or "un fameux imbecile," (a perfect fool.)

The small matter simply illustrates the traps set for English orators by the millingual regime of the League of Nations, many apparently similar terms possessing a wholly different sense in each tongue. However, for once Sir Austen was needlessly alarmed, for "fameux" is also used in the English sense. He need only have read the first lined of "Athalie:"

I come, according to the ancient and solemn custom,
To celebrate with you the famous day
Whereon upon Mount Sinai, the law was given unto us.

Wherefore it would appear that Racine understood French better than Sir Austen.—[L'Europe Nouvelle, Paris.

SIDE-SPLITTERS

These are said to be genuine answers taken from school examination papers:

"The Duke of Marlborough was a great general. He always fought with the fixed determination to win or lose."

"To keep milk from turning sour you should keep it in the cow."

"One side of a penny is the king's head, on the other a young lady riding a bicycle; they call her Ruby Tanyer."

"Contralto is a low sort of music which only ladies sing."

"Simon de Montfort formed what was known as the Mad Parliament. It was something the same as it is at the present day."

"The name of Caesar's wife was Caesarea; she was above superstition."

"Socrates died from an overdose of wedlock."—[Exchange.

AMBULANCE IN THE AIR

A new idea in ambulance service has been put into active operation at Berlin. A two-motor airplane with a large carrying deck receives and transports a lightly built ambulance, which obviates the necessity of transferring the wounded and sick.

The pilot of the plane lands as near as possible to the scene of the accident. He then takes his seat in the ambulance and, assuming the role of chauffeur, backs the ambulance out of the plane. The patient is placed in the ambulance and the latter is driven on the carrying deck of the plane and securely blocked. The pilot resumes his seat in the plane and departs. As the ambulance is carefully located with reference to the center of gravity of the plane, it is possible to make a flight without the ambulance.

"IN AND OUT OF LOVE" BY GIBBON

I hesitate, from the apprehension of ridicule, when I approach the delicate subject of my early love. By this word I do not mean the polite attention, the gallantry, without hope or design, which has originated in the spirit of chivalry, and is interwoven with the texture of French manners. I understand by this passion the union of desire, friendship, and tenderness, which is inflamed by a single female, which prefers her to the rest of her sex, and which seeks her possession as the supreme or the sole happiness of our being.

I need not blush at recollecting the object of my choice; and though my love was disappointed of success, I am rather proud that I was once capable of feeling such a pure and exalted sentiment. The personal attractions of Mademoiselle Susan Curchod were embellished by the virtues and talents of the mind. Her fortune was humble, but her family was respectable. Her mother, a native of France, had preferred her religion to her country. The profession of her father did not extinguish the moderation and philosophy of his temper, and he lived content with a small salary and laborious duty in the obscure lot of minister of Crassy, in the mountains that separate the Pays de Vaud from the county of Burgundy.

In the solitude of a sequestered village he bestowed a liberal, and even learned, education on his only daughter. She surpassed his hopes by her proficiency in the sciences and languages; and in her short visits to some relations at Lausanne, the wit, the beauty, the erudition of Mademoiselle Curchod were the theme of universal applause. The report of such a prodigy awakened my curiosity; I saw and loved. I found her learned without pedantry, lively in conversation, pure in sentiment, and elegant in manners; and the first sudden emotion was fortified by the habits and knowledge of a more familiar acquaintance.

She permitted me to make her two or three visits at her father's house. I passed some happy days there, in the mountains of Burgundy, and her parents honorably encouraged the connection. In a calm retirement the gay vanity of youth no longer fluttered in her bosom; she listened to the voice of truth and passion, and I might presume to hope that I had made some impression on a virtuous heart.

At Crassy and Lausanne I indulged my dream of felicity; but on my return to England, I soon discovered that my father would not hear to that strange alliance, and that, without his consent, I was myself destitute and helpless. After a patient struggle I yielded to my fate; I sighed as a lover, I obeyed as a son; my wound was insensibly healed by time, absence, and the habits of a new life. My cure was accelerated by a faithful report of the tranquility and cheerfulness of the lady herself, and my love subsided in friendship and esteem.—[Autobiography of Edward Gibbon.

OUR SMALL STANDING ARMY

"Suppose the national wealth of each of the five leading nations—the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan—to be represented by a single building constructed upon a plot of ground of the same dimensions," writes Capt. Elbridge Colby in Current History. "Figuring the dollars of wealth to each soldier, we then represent by a tall solid column the building each uniformed watchman would have to guard. Japan has a uniformed soldier for each $90,000 worth of property, Italy one for every $120,000, France one for every $133,000, Great Britain one for every $345,000 and in the United States one lone soldier is considered sufficient for each $2,560,000 . . . In man-power the United States leads the world, but in standing and organized citizen forces, this nation ranks with Germany, a nation rendered impotent by treaty."

SUMMER OYSTERS

There are two reasons why oysters are not generally eaten during the months having no R in the name. Although oysters are edible at all times of the year, immediately after spawning they are poor in quality, flavor and actual physical condition. But the main reason for the absence of oysters on the market during the summer is the fact that most States protect these mollusks during the spawning season.—[Pathfinder.
